GERMAN DELEGATES EXPECT TO WRECK PEACE MACHINE

BIG FOUR DISCUSSES ITALY'S TERRITORIAL CLAIMS

President Wilson Withdraws From Meeting. Is Opposed to Giving Seaport of Fiume to Italians. Both Sides Stand Pat

(Special United Press Wire.)

Berlin, April 21.—The German peace delegation going to Paris is confidently expecting to wreck the allied peace meeting. This is purely bluff, because the foreign office has nothing to do with bolshevism in Germany.

Most German people say the present government will not last any longer, hence, if it threatens to quit if peace is not made in accordance with German ideas, it will be an excuse and nothing more.

The president was scheduled to meet the other members of the "big four" at the conclusion of their morning session.

The radicals are demanding the acceptance of any terms the allies submit, but the cabinet now declares the final decision rests with the nation.

MINERS OF COLORADO STRIKE

Well Attended Meeting of Miners Decide to Protest Against Wage Reduction. Sliding Scale Rejected.

Leadville, Colo., April 20.—Leadville mine employees went on strike today as a "protest" against the proposed 81 cent in wages at various mining properties.

A meeting of 1,000 or more of the mine workers at the Elks' opera house voted for this action last week without a dissenting vote.

Employees of the Yak Mining, Milling and Tunnel company, which had posted notice making the wage cut effective last Wednesday, voted immediately afterward to "sleep in" and call for their time.

The meeting, which packed the theater from top to bottom, took this action after waiting 30 minutes for a member to locate a lawyer, and then getting an offhand opinion from Attorney W. J. Meehan on the state industrial law provisions regarding quitting work without giving 30 days' notice.

He was on the stage only a minute or two after perusing a copy of the industrial law which a mine worker had been asked on motion to go home and get.

The vote which followed was unanimous in favor of a "protest."

"Shut 'em down!" was the response from all over the house.

In language frequently more plain than polite, speakers told just how they stood on the wage cut question and showed that they are opposed to the 81 reduction.

OVER 3,000 IN EASTER PARADE

Mass Meeting in Evening Well Attended. Many Were Unable to Obtain Seats.

Beginning with a monster parade headed by the Pearse-Connelly life and drum band in uniform of the Irish Volunteers, followed by a delegation from the Army and Navy association in uniform, and 3,000 workmen-lovers of freedom, the memorial ceremonies commemorating the sacrifices of Padriac Pearse and James Connelly and the other martyrs of Easter week in Dublin, 1916, were concluded by a mass-meeting in the High school auditorium.

So large was the attendance that dozens were unable to find seats and dozens were unable to get into the hall, in spite of the fact that the doors, for some unexplainable reason, were not opened until after eight o'clock.

The Pearse-Connelly life and drum band occupied seats on the stage and listened to the proceedings with renditions of stirring martial airs played as only an Irish life and drum band can play them under the influence of an inspiring occasion.

And the occasion and the setting as well, was inspiring, with the enthusiasm of the gigantic gathering tempered by sorrow for the brave spirits who had fought and died for Irish freedom and the freedom of the human race.

Michael Feniter, brother of the lately deceased James Feniter—loved and mourned by all who know his sterling qualities—presided over the meeting, introducing the speakers in a few well-chosen words.

Seated with the band on the stage were James Coffey of the Pearse-Connelly club, James H. Fisher, Jack Carney and W. E. Dunn.

After a selection by the band, Chairman Feniter introduced James Coffey who, in an earnest, eloquent speech, in a clear and concise manner, outlined the principles of the Pearse-Connelly club, its attitude toward the Irish question and the purposes of the meeting.

He paid tribute to James Fisher, outlined his efforts in behalf of the workers, and scathingly rebuked the daily press and those who had attempted to create the impression that Fisher was an enemy of Ireland.

Outlining the history of the "Irish question," the efforts of the Irish people to free themselves from the domination of an alien race and stating that the issue was no longer national but economic, W. E. Dunn spoke for over an hour and quarter.

Denouncing the attitude of men of Irish blood, who, while intensifying in favor of Irish freedom, have bent their every effort to depriving both Irish and Americans of their liberties, Dunn started to the cheering audience that "the aims of the English government against the Irish people are as scathful, but compared with the aims of a certain class of Irishmen against Ireland, they are as white as snow."

Concluding he predicted that Ireland would gain her freedom when the English workers gained their industrial freedom and that Ireland would gain independence as America did, "by wresting it by force of arms from an unwilling monarchy."

When James Fisher rose to speak he was given an ovation. He spoke of the similarity of the method of oppression of the English and the Irish workers, stating that they were

VIENNA IN HANDS OF SOLDIERS' COUNCIL

Joseph Pogany, Ruling Chief of the Hungarian Communists Declared the Americans Favor the Bolsheviks. Sebastopol Is in the Hands of Revolutionists

Vienna, April 21.—Control of Vienna has been taken over by the soldiers' council. Quiet prevails, but communizing of the property of those unable to resist has been begun.

It is significant that the outbreak happened at the time of the visit of Joseph Pogany, reported to be the ruling chief of the Hungarian communist government and other Hungarian officials, who are said to realize it would be impossible for their plan to succeed unless with Austrian aid.

Pogany in an interview which was printed locally, declared that the Americans favored the bolsheviks. He pointed out the fact that Americans already had furnished food to Budapest.

Basle, April 21.—Dispatches received here from Vienna say the capital was quiet. M. A. L. French minister, visited the foreign minister with a note setting forth the plans of the allied and associated powers for provisioning the population by way of Switzerland and pointing out that their efforts would be futile if by reason of disturbances the allies were not assured of proper conditions for the distribution of food relief.

London, April 21.—Sebastopol has been evacuated by the Crimean government, which has fled to Constantinople. The government of Sebastopol is now in the hands of the revolutionary committee.

Early in April the allied troops were driven back in Crimea when the bolshevik forces captured Perekop. The isthmus of Perekop had been fortified for protection of the naval base at Sebastopol, but the allies were outnumbered greatly, and have been pressed back continuously.

Russian wireless advices April 17 reported the soviet forces advancing in the direction of Simferopol, capital of Crimea.

MRS. MAY IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Seven-Weeks-Old Grandson Also Dies When Autos Collide. Occupants of Malloy Car Escape Injury.

Mrs. L. A. May, wife of one of the proprietors of the Butte Business college, and her grandson, William Pierce, aged 7 weeks, were killed at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another car on the flat and turned over. The baby was instantly killed. Mrs. May died on the way to Murray's hospital.

Mrs. George A. Pierce, mother of the baby, and her husband, who is a son of Mrs. May, and Anne Kirkpatrick, Mrs. May's sister, who were also occupants of the car, were only slightly hurt.

The colliding car was driven by Attorney Dan T. Malloy, who had Otis Lee, clerk of courts of Silver Bow county, as his companion. It was while the Malloy car was passing another car, bound in the same direction that the accident occurred. The two cars met in the center of the road.

May Will Arrive Tomorrow. Mr. May, who is now in Minnesota, on a business trip, has been notified and has wired that he will arrive tomorrow night.

Mr. M. E. Kirkpatrick, a traveling man running out of Chicago, is the only brother of Mrs. May. He will arrive Wednesday morning. The bodies lie at Richards' undertaking parlors. Funeral arrangements will not be announced until after Mr. May's arrival from the east.

NOW UP TO LOCAL COMMITTEES

Treasury Department Declines Controversy Over "Flying Circus" Should Be Handled Locally.

(Special United Press Wire.)

Washington, April 21.—The treasury department has pulled itself out of the fight over the observance of Sunday in staging the demonstrations in the Victory loan campaign.

The objection of the Butte Ministerial association to the Sunday exhibition of the allied airplanes versus over whether flying circuses shall be permitted or whether motion pictures promoting bond sales shall be shown will be left entirely with the local loan committees.

Secretary Glass' office has received a veritable deluge of telegrams, some protesting against any kind of demonstrations on Sundays, but more demanding that there shall be no cancellations of flights, exhibits, parades, etc., so the treasury department withdrew all objections.

The objection of the Butte Ministerial association to the Sunday exhibition of the allied airplanes brought an emphatic move from the union labor contingent. Leaders of the Butte Miners' union announced that if the flying circus was not permitted to show there on Sunday they would refuse to subscribe to the loan.

BRAY CASE WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Doctors continued to testify in the Bray murder trial all this forenoon. The evidence is now all in. The case will probably go to the jury this afternoon. Bray is showing more agitation today than hitherto.

It looks as though he is becoming aware that something is going on that may affect his future. The look of insanity, however, is even more manifest in his eyes today than it was last week.
