succeeded in routing them through different streets. Between 2,000 and 3,000 workmen tramped solidly through the streets, four abreast, wearing red carnations.
The regular and special policemen were heavily armed. At the park where the wobblies were meeting the men were warned not to shoot unless driven to it.

CROWDS SMALLER

at the Rickard arena after having stood in line before the booth since 4:30, tranquilly left the booth and went for a walk. When he reached for his ticket a few minutes later it was gone, the property of some pick-pocket. The unfortunate man, Harold Carlsson, a grocer of Montpelier Vt., did not call the police and set up wild howls; he just fell into line again to buy another ticket.
Riverside park was filled all night with transients who declined to pay the high prices charged for beds.

The First Bout.

The first bout of the day started at 11:02 when Tommy O'Boyle of Toledo and Solly Epstein of Indianapolis, met in a six-round event. By this time the arena was beginning to fill in some parts. The $10 seats were completely covered. There was a sprinkling of women in the audience.

Last Prelim Starts.

Malone and Ralston, welters, started what was announced as the last preliminary a little before 2 o'clock. The bout was the most entertaining scrap of the program. Malone's cleverness kept the crowd in an uproar. Before going to the center of the ring Malone tied a tiny figure of a monkey to the rope in his corner and it swung there throughout the mill. Malone easily won the decision in 10 rounds. He had Ralston almost out several times.
The south side of the arena is almost full. The north side is jammed. The women's section is practically full.

REFUSE TO WORK UNDER NEGRO FOREMAN

(Special United Press Wire.)
Sacramento, July 4.—More than 600 employes of the Western Railroad shops here, threaten to strike unless car repairer Chamberlain, who was discharged for insubordination, when he refused to work under a negro foreman, was reinstated or the negro was removed.

FOR PEACE STRENGTH BY SEPTEMBER 30

(Special United Press Wire.)
Washington, July 4.—Chief of Staff March ordered that the commissioned personnel of the army must be reduced to peace strength by September 30. As the commissioned personnel of the army is always in ratio of the enlisted men, it is believed that September 30 will see the enlisted strength of the army also practically reduced to a peace footing.

ROBBERS GET $3,000 IN LIBERTY BONDS

(Special United Press Wire.)
Sacramento, July 4.—Two daylight burglars, one unmasked, robbed Lillian Berkeley, of the Valley Bond company of about $3,000 worth of Liberty bonds. The men followed her up a stairway of the building where the bond company has its offices, threw a sack over her head, bound and gagged her and threw her in a closet.

MAKING GOOD TIME.

(Special United Press Wire.)
London, July 4.—The British dirigible R-34 was about 250 miles off the coast of Newfoundland at 3 o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, the air ministry announced. The report in announcing the position of the craft indicated it had veered to the southward and would probably skirt the eastern coast of Newfoundland.
At 7 o'clock, Greenwich time, the R-34 was reported about 200 miles off Newfoundland coast and 325 miles northeast of St. Johns, indicating it was still bearing southward.

A WISH.

I'd like to travel back again To times of forty years ago When people acted rather nice And had a little better show To live.
Of course they led a simpler life With Daily routine somewhat slow But kinder deeds, it seems, were rife And folks had love in overflow To give.

Our collars then were always full Of goodies, for the winter's cold And woolen duds were made of wool While friendship then was seldom sold To us.
The neighbors too were plentiful Who had some kindness to unfold; Life wasn't such a heavy pull And folks had not such merchants bold To cuss.

Progress didn't move so fast But oftener we wore a smile For love had gold and greed out-classed And in the world it seemed worth while To stay.
So even though I wish in vain For days like those we used to know, I'd like to travel back again To times of forty years ago, Today.

HUSKY MEMBER OF CONGRESS

Representative Lucien W. Parrish of Henrietta, Tex., is a fellow townsman of "Tex" Rickard, promoter of the Willard-Dempsey match. If Parrish had decided to enter the fighting game instead of law, agriculture and oil, "Tex" might have made a fortune out of managing him. Parrish is younger than Jess Willard and just as husky. He stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 240 pounds. He played football in Texas university for four years without missing a game and hung up a new southern record for shot-putting. He has made a fortune out of petroleum since his college days.

SPENDS HOURS IN BASE OF HIGH CHIMNEY

Man Believed Insane Is Pulled From Bottom of Leonard Hotel Stack by Firemen.

After being imprisoned in the bottom of the four-story chimney in the Leonard hotel for 15 hours, Oswald W. Choquette, said to be a returned soldier, was extricated from his precarious position late yesterday by firemen after two hours' work. Choquette was immediately placed under arrest and will probably be tried for insanity.

Choquette's presence in the chimney was discovered by a group of the hotel laundry maids who heard a voice issuing from a flue opening in the chimney. Frightened almost out of their wits the girls fled from the hotel basement and reported the occurrence of the landlady, who, braver than the rest, investigated with the result that Choquette's predicament was discovered.

The police were notified and the firemen called upon. Fire Chief Martin and Truck Driver Kelly of the Quartz street station, first attempted to extricate Choquette by taking out a number of bricks in the base of the chimney. This method was abandoned, however, as impracticable and the plan of pulling him to the top with ropes was used.

Choquette, covered from head to foot with a coating of soot, but calmly smoking a cigarette, was finally pulled through the narrow opening at the top of the stack. He could give no lucid explanation of how he entered the chimney or why.

In response to the questions of the landlady and the maids, previous to the arrival of the police, Choquette testily told the women he had dropped into the chimney from a passing airplane and said there was nothing to worry over; all that was necessary was to get him out.

While the firemen were lowering a rope to him, Choquette told the officers through the hole in the chimney that he had been without a smoke for hours and pleaded for a cigarette. He apparently was coolly collected, despite the showers of black soot which descended upon him.

The man said he had climbed the chimney almost to the roof, three times, but had slipped back each time, having been unable to squeeze himself through the narrow opening at the top.

William Shaw, a roomer at the Leonard, identified Choquette as the man whom he caught endeavoring to remove the screws from the transom to Shaw's room at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Shaw said Choquette, when discovered, merely smiled and said he was "hunting for a spider," and then departed smilingly.

BRINGS MERRIGAN BACK.

Bringing with him Dan Merrigan, charged with killing James Ferry during a quarrel over religion in Butte in 1912, Sheriff John K. O'Rourke is expected to arrive today from Nevada City, Cal., where Merrigan was recently captured by officers. Telegraphic advices received at the sheriff's office here indicate the identification of the man under arrest as the one wanted here was absolute.

IDEAL DAY FOR CELEBRATION

Festivities Open With Parade in Honor of World-War Veterans. Other Features.

With the streets lined with thousands of spectators and flags gaily flying from every vantage point, a small group of Butte's returned world war veterans marched through the downtown district this morning, escorted by groups of representatives of other organizations and civilians. The boys were frequently cheered.

Entertainment Features.

The parade was the beginning of a day of festivities in honor of the returned soldiers, sailors and marines. Various events, including vaudeville entertainments from stands erected in the downtown district and an elaborate fireworks display this evening, were among the interesting features on the program. The fireworks display will be held on the top of Big Butte as soon as it grows dark enough to make the display visible. Because of the location from which the fireworks will be shot off, the display will be visible from many points of the city and from the flat.

Those who marched in the parade this morning to honor the nation's natal day were sprung from many races. Irish and Jugo-Slavs, perhaps, predominated. The Jugo-Slavs were the only race holding to its individual national group. There were about 500 of them, led by Felix Andro, superintendent of the county poor farm, Tom Tomich and V. Angelich. They were preceded by Mayor Matthews of Walkerville and the Walkerville city council. This division was headed by the Walkerville municipal band. Throughout the rest of the parade, men of all races mingled.

Police Lead Procession.

Officer Walter Morrison led the score of police, who headed the procession.

There were about 300 returned world war veterans, marching in two bodies, a small group of G. A. R. men and a couple of dozen Spanish war veterans. Three or four bands and the boys' drum corps, Henry Lawton Camp No. 1, put life into the movement of the marchers.

The Elks in uniform with their band made their usual fine appearance. The Eagles and Knights of Columbus were represented.

Women Represented.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, the Women of the Macabees, the Daughters of St. George and the Pythian Sisters all had elaborate floats.

Various business houses had decorated automobiles in line, advertising their wares, of which perhaps, the float of the D. W. Hugh's Lumber company was the most striking. A hundred or so of family automobiles, decorated with more or less care, followed the advertising floats.
