PRESS NOTICES

HAGENBECK-WALLACE SHOWS. The elevated standard of morality of citizens men and women is a revelation to one who is with them from day to day, and is their close companion. The atmosphere and environment seems charged with health and business vigor and enterprise.

The women of the circus are not permitted to engage in conversation with any one not directly connected with the show. Most of them attend church each Sunday and it is not an infrequent occurrence for ministers of the gospel to be invited to lead divine service on a Sabbath afternoon. It has always been the aim of the management of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus which comes to Butte, Friday, Aug. 1, for two performances, to inculcate a spirit of good fellowship and enduring affection, founded upon common respect and esteem.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus is a little city with itself. There are almost a thousand people connected with the great organization. In any city of 1,000 souls it is not hard to find a few bad persons. It is these that the management endeavors to discover and eliminate as soon as possible. A premium is placed on the polite and hard working employees.

SEEK HELP OF ROTARY. At a meeting of the executive committee of the Butte post, American Legion, held yesterday, it was decided to request the aid of the Rotary club in the post's drive for funds with which to furnish its quarters. It is anticipated the club rooms will be fitted up and ready for occupancy within the next few weeks.

STUDY LAW. The first semester of the Silver Bow Law school will open on Sept. 8, 1919. It will be to your advantage to register on or before that time.

ACTIONS FOR DAMAGES

(Continued From Page One.) American expeditionary forces throughout the world war. She has been a resident of Butte for 23 years and is prominent in movements for the betterment of conditions in Butte. Beakley is employed as a carpenter by the Anaconda Copper Mining company.

Mrs. Scamour is the mother of five children and, like Mrs. Beakley, is highly respected. She has resided with her husband and children in Butte for the last five years. Mr. Scamour also is employed by the Anaconda Copper Mining company.

Mrs. Beakley testified at the Morrissey hearing that she then chief of detectives, accompanied by several of the company's alleged notorious gunmen, entered the polling place in precinct 4-B and created a disturbance during which Mrs. Beakley was roughly handled by Morrissey and was thrown out of the polling place. She testified to vile language she said Morrissey used in her presence and in that of other women who were exercising their rights as American citizens and public-spirited voters by watching the count of ballots.

The police board hearing was characterized by the departure of attorneys for Morrissey from the usual gentlemanly procedure by attorneys in such cases and frequently during the taking of testimony the aged Mr. Breen cast reflections on the prosecution. The crowning example of his vitriolic forensic efforts, however, occurred in his closing argument when he is alleged to have uttered the alleged defamatory statements which Mrs. Beakley and Mrs. Scamour take exception to and on which they are basing their actions for damages.

It was during this hearing, too, that William Meyer, the lawyer-legislator, departed from his usual suavity and characterized Mrs. Beakley and the other witnesses against Morrissey as "Bulletin mothers, not real mothers."

THOUSANDS TO GREET

appointed to extend invitations to lovers of freedom in other parts of the state and neighboring states to visit Butte to participate in the reception to Mr. De Valera.

Plans under way now provide for a reception to the Irish president such as never before was accorded a distinguished visitor in Butte. Thousands are expected to be at the depot to welcome the distinguished Irishman and his party on their arrival. It is anticipated that De Valera's progress through the streets will be a continual ovation.

Arrangements are being made by many of the stores to carry special decorations on their fronts in honor of the occasion. Bunting in the Irish republican colors, green, white and orange, will intermingle with the red, white and blue, colors of the other two greatest republics on earth. From many of the public buildings the green, white and orange of the Irish republic will float beneath the Stars and Stripes and the downtown district is expected to take on a festive appearance.

The entire membership of the Irish committee is expected to meet tomorrow evening in Judge Lynch's courtroom to discuss final plans for the De Valera reception.

METAL TRADES WILL VOTE ON PROPOSALS

Circulars Sent to All Affiliated Bodies Calling Attention of Membership to the Counter Proposals.

To all members affiliated with State Metal Trades council:

In submitting the counter proposition made to the state executive board by the Anaconda Copper Mining company in reference to the demands of the State Metal Trades, we desire to call the attention of the membership to several features of the counter proposition:

First. In the clause in regards to recognition does not specify a closed shop and in reality does not commit the company to a closed shop policy, it merely means recognition of the organization. Instead of saying men must belong to the union of their craft, it merely states that they may.

Second. The original demands for a year agreement, with the option of cancelling on 30 days' notice, has been changed to make the agreement remain in force for a year and 30 days.

Third. The seniority clause that made the previous agreement acceptable, has been stricken out entirely by the company.

Fourth. A $6.50 scale has been set instead of the $8 scale asked for. This means that the dollar taken away last February has simply been restored—no gain has been made.

So, in view of these changes, the state executive board by a unanimous vote, recommends that the counter proposition be not accepted by the locals.

(Signed) STATE EXECUTIVE BOARD. C. W. SPRAGUE, Sec.

BLACKSMITHS AND HELPERS NO. 456. Referendum vote taken on proposed counter proposition offered by A. C. M. Co. at Moore hall, 71 East Park St., on Tuesday, July 22, 1919.

Juneau, Alaska, June 27. (By Mail to United Press.)—Divers, who arrived here today, with 18 bodies which they had recovered from the steamer Sophia, are confident that the wrecked vessel can be raised.

The divers declare the Sophia rests on an even keel in from 60 to 90 feet of water. They say that though the work of exploration is necessarily slow on account of the tide action, there is no reason why the hull cannot be raised and floated to Puget sound.

The divers say they have found indications that the Sophia went down suddenly. Their investigation has proved that in several instances, children, whose parents were aboard, drowned while covered up in berths, the most unlikely place for the finding of their bodies if there had been a general warning before the ship went down.

There is an indication of a panic before the Sophia went down in the condition of a general out-up in the state rooms.

The 16 bodies which were brought here are in a bad state of decomposition. All clothing of cotton materials practically disappeared. The woolen materials stood the long exposure to water better. It is a noticeable fact that the bodies of women and children stood the exposure better than the bodies of men.

(By United Press.) Eugene, Ore., July 19.—Several hundred members of the Lane county granges gathered here today for an open meeting. The Eugene chamber of commerce co-operated with the granges in arranging for today's session.
