LEGISLATURE OPENS IN HELENA

Much Pessimism Is Seen Among Solons on Opening Day of the Special Session of the Legislature.

(Special to the Bulletin.)
Helena, July 29.—Pessimism is the marked characteristic of members of the house and senate arriving in Helena for the special session.

There is little of the joyous abandon that marked the opening of the regular session last January, and several reasons may be assigned for the somewhat oppressive air that pervades the little gathering of the solons in the hotel lobbies and on the street corners.

It should be remembered that with the exception of four senators and 20 members of the lower house, all of the present delegation voted for the amendments to the primary bill that are receiving such a terrific wallop at the hands of the voters right now and that will be defeated by an overwhelming majority if the election is held.

Listening to the brazen song of the copper siren rather than to the voice of their constituents and the unpleasant results accruing therefrom is responsible for the sense of impending disaster that is taking the joy out of life for the politicians.

The general crop failure and the serious situation developing throughout the state because of the continued drought is also having its effect.

The legislature is called to consider measures for the relief of the farmers, but no one seems to have any clear idea as to how or when it should be done.

So far the cry for aid and assistance for the tiller of the soil seems to have come largely from the banking and commercial interests who see but little prospect of continuing their profitable enterprise of farming the farmer unless they can keep the farmer on the farm.

Knowing as they do now, that the farmers and the workers are following their activities more closely than they ever dreamed possible, since the disastrous experiment with the primary law, the politicians are just about convinced that whatever they do will be the wrong thing.

It is possible, that realizing as most of them do, that the special session gave them the last opportunity they will ever have of contacting the Helena representatives, they may play the game of the financial interests to the limit and commit the state to the expenditure of tremendous sums from which only the appointed ones will benefit.

Some curiosity is expressed as to the contents of the governor's message; some legislators have openly expressed the opinion that it would be better for all concerned if he made no recommendations at all; they state as their belief that for once the A. C. M. should keep their hands off and not exert the pressure that is usually exercised over the two houses through the hints of what would be acceptable to the copper and banking interests that are usually contained in the governor's message.

This sentiment—quite strong apparently—is so radically different from the usually passive attitude of the two houses that it is causing considerable comment.

The legislature convened at noon today but no business other than the routine of organization will be possible before Wednesday.

Why is Egypt called the "Gift of the Nile?"
Because there is very good evidence that nearly all that country has been formed from the sediment brought down by that river. The vast delta that the Nile has formed at its mouth, is larger than the state of Vermont.

AN APPEAL TO WORKMEN OF ALLIED COUNTRIES

An appeal addressed "To the Workmen of the Allied Countries" has been issued by the provisional committee for the Scandinavian left socialist workmen's organizations.

After recording the fact that after more than 10 years' struggle the Russian proletariat has succeeded in achieving a workmen's revolution the appeal goes on:

International capitalism is doing all that is possible to put down the soviet power in Russia, in order to help reaction again to power there, and thus erect a strong point of support for west European capitalism. If the capitalists succeeded in this, they will have gained a matchless victory. If the workmen of the allied countries do not now take common action, internationalism will die.

We, the representatives of the workmen of the Scandinavian countries, now address ourselves to the workmen of all allied states. We will start a blockade against all the states which are at war with soviet Russia, in order to paralyze the attack of the imperialists.

We appeal to you to take part in this blockade. The capitalists of your countries have been victorious in this grand universal battle. This position the workmen have to attack, and in this attack the workmen of the allied countries have to be the first. And we do not doubt that your well-organized forces will succeed, if you only have one common will.

FAMOUS WOMEN

Florence Nightingale, a British army nurse, was born in Florence, in May, 1820. She early exhibited an intense devotion to the alleviation of suffering, which, in 1844, led her to give attention to hospitals. In 1854 war was declared with Russia, and on Nov. 4 she arrived at Constantinople with 24 nurses. At the close of the Crimean war a fund of $250,000 was subscribed for the purpose of enabling her to form an institution for the training of nurses.

PLANE FACTORIES MURDER SLEEP

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Correspondent.)
Paris. (By Mail.)—With the certainty that aviation is quickly to become one of the big industries throughout the entire world, Paris has a little warning for all of her sister cities of America and every other country.

The warning is this: Enact immediately, either state, municipal, or national legislation, prohibiting the erection of airplane factories anywhere within a hearing distance of where human beings have to live and sleep.

Otherwise, said human beings won't be able to sleep and will be driven in no time at all either into their graves or some faraway sanitarium.

Everyone knows how much rumpus an airplane makes when it is flying thousands of feet overhead. Well, every airplane motor before it is mounted has to be tested and to be tested it is attached to a huge bench or platform and run continuously at top speed, with hundreds of horse power back of it, for at least 24 hours and sometimes 48.

During that period of time nobody living within hearable distance can possibly sleep.

At Suresnes, where motors are tested for 48 hours, it has been necessary to close an adjacent school.

At Puteaux, the inhabitants declare they have not slept for months.

At Courbevoie the city council has resigned as a means of protest.

At Clichy, the city had bought a large tract of land for the erection of a municipal hospital. Airplane factories during the war installed themselves in the vicinity and the medical authorities now refuse to let the city build its hospital in such a death-insuring locality.

The department of the Seine has been forced in the interest of public health to take measures to stop the airplane factories and get them moved into more isolated localities.

PANTAGES

The current "Pan" bill is quite exceptional in comparison with those we have endured in the last six months.

The Romanos sisters gave some very clever character dances, the Spanish dance being the most pleasing.

Florence Rayfield won her audience with her sparkling personality and gave some worth-while exhibitions of comedy-singing.

Ray Conlin, ventriloquist, presented a clever act and demonstrated that he is a speed artist in his line. His comedy, however, dropped a little below the quality we expect for the admission charged at "Pan."

The Imperial quartette presented a singing act that was of the highest class. The "Miserere," scene from "Il Trovatore" was presented in full costume. The singing of the tenor was particularly commendable. He also sang the "drinking song" from Rigoletto. This act is as high class as we could expect at Pantages.

Ray and Emma Dean, in "Leave Me Alone, Darn You," gave an act which, though a repeater, convulsed the audience.

The musical comedy, "Perhaps You're Right," was one of real class, the scene being in a girl's seminary. The beauty chorus was one of unusual beauty and vivacity and the comedy was sparkling.

Lindsay Simons' orchestra delighted the audience with its perfect accompaniments to the various acts, and as a concert number, played Suppe's "Jolly Robbers" overture in a manner which proclaimed them true artists.
