about the 1st day of April, 1915, the said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, was the legitimate son of Peter Sanger, deceased, by a prior marriage, and was the only lineal descendant; and that Louise Sanger, deceased, was the wife of the said Peter Sanger at the time of his death and was the stepmother of said Leslie Sanger, now deceased. Plaintiff alleges upon her information and belief that on or about the 1st day of April, 1915, the said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, resolved, by reason of the unnatural disposition of his property made by the said Peter Sanger, deceased, as shown by his said will, and by reason of the undue influence exercised over the said Peter Sanger, deceased, by the said Louise Sanger, deceased, in the making of said will, in keeping the same in force against the interests of said Leslie Sanger, deceased, and in favor of herself, to appear in said court and to contest said will of Peter Sanger, deceased, and to oppose the probate thereof for the reasons herein given; that the said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, notified the said Louise Sanger, deceased, of his said resolution and intention; that thereafter, on or about the 1st day of April, 1915, at Butte, Montana, the said Leslie Sanger and the said Louise Sanger mutually promised and agreed between themselves that he, the said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, would refrain from appearing in said court and contesting said will, and that in consideration thereof, she, the said Louise Sanger, now deceased, would by her last will and testament, leave all of her own property and all property that she received under the said will of Peter Sanger, deceased; that the said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, relying upon the said promise of Louise Sanger, now deceased, did refrain from appearing in said court, and did not contest the said will of Peter Sanger, deceased, but instead allowed and permitted the said Louise Sanger, now deceased, to obtain and possess the property given her by said will, and also permitted her to administer said estate of Peter Sanger, deceased, as executrix; and fully kept and performed all the terms and conditions of the said agreement to be by him kept and performed; that, as appears from the said will of Louise Sanger, now deceased, said Louise Sanger, now deceased, disposed of her property otherwise and in disregard of her said promise and agreement; that at the time of said promise and agreement Louise Sanger, now deceased, was childless and that she was of the age of about sixty years and was of sound mind, and said Leslie Sanger, now deceased, was then of the age of 23 years and in good health and of sound mind; that Plaintiff alleges that by virtue of the promises, plaintiff is in equity and good conscience entitled to all of the estate of Louise Sanger, deceased, after the payment of all just debts and expenses of administration.

Plaintiff prays for a decree of this court declaring plaintiff entitled to the residue of said estate; that none of the defendants, except the defendant Rudolph Probst, as executor of the last will and testament of Louise Sanger, deceased, has any interest therein; and that the said defendant, Rudolph Probst, as executor aforesaid, be directed on distribution of said estate to distribute and turn over to plaintiff the residue thereof. Plaintiff prays for such other relief as may appear equitable and for costs of suit.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court this 28th day of July, A. D. 1919.

The Crime of July 12 and Our Obsolete Laws

By REBEL NO. 180959. (The Arizona Republican (July 20), in which is revealed the real sentiment of the corporations with regard to the deportation cases, a "commenting upon the fact that the majority of the complaining witnesses have testified that they were I. W. W., the paper says: "There can be no dispute that the letter of the law was violated in the deportation of these people, but all violations of the law are not held by juries to be violations. A jury of fools, or thinks it finds, that the law is an obstacle rather than a protection; that in certain cases the law should be set aside. It may find in this case that at the time the lawmakers prohibited kidnapping of citizens, they knew nothing about the I. W. W.; there was no such animal then; that the advent of the I. W. W. had to a certain extent rendered the law obsolete; that an I. W. W. is not really a citizen anyhow, and that he can not claim the protection of the law."

Such was their hope. These optimists did not remember that the kept press of the state had condoned the crime at the time it was committed. They did not remember how these yellow sheets had continued spreading hatred and prejudice against the deportees through the intervening years. Now they are very much grieved to see that the same copper-owned papers are doing everything they can to thwart any attempt at righting the old wrong. They are surprised to see the corporations leave no stone unturned to get the complaining witnesses out of the way, and they are greatly shocked by the tactics of the copper companies who are even now who dared to swear out a warrant, flow about that jury? The corporations are attending to that part, too. Their agents are busy throughout Cochrise county. They are trying to get a written record of all the citizens of the county who may be eligible for jury service. The citizens are questioned as to their political religions, and union affiliations, and the answers recorded on blank forms printed for the purpose.

"Is it possible," the Arizona Labor Journal of June 29 asks, alarmed, "that the information thus gleaned will be used before the cases go to trial?" Anyone familiar with the conditions of the state of Arizona, which is an oligarchy of a few copper millionaires, does not expect anything but a farce from these Bisbee trials. Any doubt as to their outcome has been removed by a recent editorial of Further, they claim their action was entirely regular, and they further say that the officials had no authority to accept the compromise, but simply had the power to refer the offer to the membership. Until the general strike committee is elected and gets into action, and until the publicity committee gets on the job, a complete report of the progress and the details of the strike is impossible, but after that a complete and accurate account of the strike will be found only in the columns of this paper.

RETURN TO WORK PENDING SETTLEMENT. (Special United Press Wire.) Chicago, Aug. 12.—With the promise of a federal judge that the wage disputes between the packers and the stockyard workers would be considered today, the men returned to work. Several thousand workers left their sawmills, mines and machines several days ago, when 3,000 negro workers returned to work under police protection, in the meantime a wage dispute developed and Judge Alschuler took a hand, which caused the stockyards labor council to order the men to return to work.

NEAR BEERS GIVEN NEW LEASE ON LIFE. (Special United Press Wire.) Washington, Aug. 12.—Near beers were given a new lease on life by the senate committee which allowed alcoholized wine brewed drinks, if they contain less than one-half of one per cent alcohol and are not designated as "beer, ale or porter." The anti-saloon league feared that this might make it easy to evade the dry laws and sought to prohibit all beverages which resembled intoxicants.

STRIKING CRAFTSMEN. (Continued from Page One.) Criticizing President Wilson in the senate for his negotiations at Paris, Senator Poindexter, republican, declared that "by general phrases," the president had "aroused aspirations which it is incapable of satisfying." "From his propaganda," said Senator Poindexter, "the communists demand a threat of revolution which the railroads be given at public expense into the possession and management of operatives and employees. It is as though the president has received the world as a toy and proceeded to take it apart in order to reconstruct it on a new plan. He has declared the end of the old order and substitutes for it the new disorder."

league of nations and particularly the draft or form prepared or presented by the commissioners of the United States. There are no formal drafts in my possession except that presented by the American commissioners and this I take pleasure in closing along with the formal report of the commission on the league of nations.

"You also ask for all proceedings, arguments and debates, including a transcript of the stenographic reports of the peace commission relating to or concerning a league of nations or the league of nations finally accepted and all data bearing on or used in connection with the treaty of peace with Germany now pending. No stenographic reports were taken of the debates on the league of nations and such memoranda as were taken, it was agreed, should be confidential. The reason for guarding as confidential intimate exchanges of opinion with regard to many delicate matters will, of course, occur to you and I beg to say that I am following the example of the representatives of other governments in making this explanation."

American Plan. The American plan provided for an "executive council" similar to the "council" of the final covenant and a "body of delegates" similar to the "assembly." Instead of requiring that decisions of the council should be by unanimous vote, however, it was provided that any three nations could veto a decision.

The mandatory system of administering weak nations was embodied in the American proposal and it provided that registration and publication of all treaties be effected. The executive council is made of the great powers and a lesser number of smaller nations, while each member would be represented in the body of delegates as under the final covenant.

Whereas, the selection of the smaller nations represented in the council is to be made by election of the assembly under the covenant as contemplated, the American plan proposed that they be "drawn in annual rotation from two panels, one of which shall be made up of the representatives of the states ranking next after the great powers and the other of the representatives of the minor states, such a number being drawn from these panels as will be but one less than the representatives of the great powers."

Instead of having an especially appointed delegate, each nation would be represented in the body of delegates by its ambassadors or minister resident at the seat government where the meetings were held.

In virtually the same language as the final covenant the draft would give the league power to take any action deemed wise and effectual to secure peace "when any war or threat of war" arose. The body of delegates would be empowered to discuss either publicly or privately as it may deem best any matter lying within the field of action of the League of Nations or any matter likely to affect the peace of the world. Resort to war would be prohibited pending arbitration.

Like the covenant adopted, the draft would empower the council to recommend what military or naval force it might see fit to employ to deal with a covenant breaker.
