CLOSE SALOON AND SEIZE FIXTURES

James Bennet, Bartender for George Papp, Charged With Selling "Moonshine" Whiskey.

As the result of a confession said to have been made to Deputy County Attorney Riley by Charles Burns, late Saturday night, James Bennet, a bartender at George Papp's saloon, 22 East Galena street, was placed under arrest on a charge of selling "moonshine" whiskey. The establishment was closed and the stock and fixtures seized.

Burns, who is being held at the county jail pending the outcome of a struggle for his life being made by Frank Watson, whom Burns shot and seriously injured while, it is said, temporarily insane from the effects of drinking "moonshine," is said to have told the deputy county attorney that he had purchased the liquor at Papp's saloon.

Acting on the information given him by Burns, Deputy Attorney Riley ordered the authorities to raid the place. When the attorney, accompanied by Under Sheriff Whalen and Police Lieutenant Dwyer entered the saloon, Bennet, they say, was caught in the act of disposing of a third of a pint of the stuff similar to that he is supposed to have sold Burns.

To date no charges have been filed against Burns, the authorities awaiting the result of Watson's fight for life to determine the nature of the charge to be placed against the prisoner. Burns seems still to be suffering from the effects of the poisonous stuff which caused him to run amuck and apparently does not realize the seriousness of his situation.

Additional light on Burns' actions on Friday night was secured by the police from two boys, Waino Balto and Francis Carey. According to the story told the police by Carey, the boys were at the lunch wagon on Arizona street when Burns came up, apparently drunk. Burns was fooling with his watch when Carey humorously offered him a nickel for it.

Burns, said Carey, agreed to the transaction and removing the watch from the chain, handed it over. As Burns left the wagon Carey offered to sell it back to him, whereupon Burns grabbed him by the overalls and drawing a gun, shoved it in Carey's stomach and, pointing toward Main street, ordered "out, out, out." Carey, much frightened, fled.

PATRICK McLAUGHLIN DIES FROM INJURIES

Patrick McLaughlin, 34, a well-known miner of the Butte district, died about 3 o'clock this morning as the result of injuries received in the Hob Hill mine, six miles from Butte, when he accidentally exploded a charge of giant powder in a missed hole. McLaughlin's head was crushed by the force of the blast, despite which injury he lived for seven hours.

The body was brought to Butte this afternoon. According to the story of the accident, McLaughlin and Richard Newman were working together. Newman left the tunnel to sharpen some steel, to which fact he owes his life. McLaughlin was picking at the face of the hole when the powder, which had failed to explode previously, detonated.

So far as is known, McLaughlin has no relatives in the United States, except one brother, Jerry McLaughlin, who resides in Maine. The other relatives reside in Ireland.

WATSON MAY RECOVER.

Some hopes for the ultimate recovery of Frank Watson, who was shot and supposedly fatally injured Friday night by Charles Burns, are now held out. Watson was removed to St. James' hospital yesterday morning, and although very weak as the result of his injuries and the shock of the operation necessitated, is expected to recover.

INJURED IN FALL.

Charles Hammond, 55, was able to leave the city emergency hospital today, after undergoing treatment there since soon after midnight Saturday when he was severely hurt by a fall down the stairs at the Boston block.

IS NOT GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP BILL

Hearings Begun on Kenyon Bill, Regulating Packers. Profits Come Near Being Reasonable.

(Special United Press Wire.)
Washington, Aug. 18.—With a statement by Senator Kenyon, that the American people had refused to stand for "treasonable profits," the senate agricultural committee began hearings of packer regulations which the legislation committee has before it. Of the Kenyon and Kendrick bills, the former is considered the most drastic.

Kenyon explained that his bill is not a government ownership measure and said "we are not trying to injure the packer or ruin his business. It is true that the bill does lodge tremendous power in one man. These are market bills and have teeth in them, but in view of facts which were disclosed in one federal trade commission's investigation and considering the unrest in the country, we felt that congress could not sit idly by doing nothing."

"Monopoly of the necessities of life is intolerable," Kenyon declared, but "the profits being made by the packing monopoly come near being reasonable profits."

MANY CASES UP IN POLICE COURT

J. H. Rowe, Once Again Charged With Violating Parking Laws. Forfeits $10 Bond.

Seventeen men arrested at the Sheridan club on North Main street last night by the city police on a charge of gambling, were up in police court this morning, but upon the request of their attorney, Matthew Canning, their case was continued until this afternoon.

Twenty-two speeders were rushed through the mill with speed. Six men, including the head of the flat fought the charge, but after watching a few battles and noting the result, the remainder, with two or three exceptions, plead guilty.

J. H. Rowe, real estate man and erstwhile chairman of the exemption board, was again a defendant to the charge of violating traffic rules. He was fined Saturday and put up a bond of $10, which was forfeited today.

P. J. Howley was tried this morning for the accident which occurred on Utah avenue a week ago Saturday, when a little boy was struck by his car and seriously injured. The boy has completely recovered since, but the evidence showed that both boy and driver were guilty of some little negligence, according to Judge Grimes. He found Howley guilty and fined him $10. Whereupon, Howley was immediately charged with speeding. Officer King had his number all right, and claimed that the machine was going at 30 miles per hour on Harrison avenue. But Howley proved that his car was in his back yard at that time, and completely dismantled and incapable of locomotion. The court decided that King was either mistaken in the number or that some other machine was carrying an incorrect number.

Officer King was out of luck today. He had two cases in court for speeding, but the numbers proved wrong in both instances. In one case however, the buck was successfully passed to the secretary of state.

The case against Frank Beal for running down a boy on a bicycle on Nevada and Front streets was dismissed. The evidence was contradictory.

Bertha Reynolds and Cupid Hartman were fined $10 each for walking through the crowd on Mercury street Saturday at the city market, or for sitting in their room on Mercury street across from the market.

It was impossible to tell which was the offense. The technical charge was vagrancy. Miss Hartman and Miss Reynolds both appeared ill, and Judge Grimes said that he hoped to be able to see that they receive proper medical treatment.

There was an interesting contest in remedies between Officer Jack Nesson on the one side and Jack Langar and two employees upon the other. It was about the propriety of Langar's action in driving his car across the intersection of Park and Main streets Saturday.

Members of the United Irish societies of Butte to the number of more than 2,000 yesterday attended the annual picnic of the organization at the Basin creek reservoir.

At various hours throughout the morning and afternoon automobiles left the corner of Granite and Main streets for the picnic grounds, carrying large crowds to the Reservoir park.

During the day various athletic events, prominent among which was a Gaelic football game, were staged.

CLERKS PLAN FOR OUTING.
Butte clerks are agog over preparations for the annual picnic which will take place Wednesday at Silver lake. An interesting program of events in connection with the outing has been arranged and a large attendance is expected.

HERE THEY ARE IS SUFFERING FROM SLEEPING SICKNESS
Theodore Heslebeck Contracts Strange After Being Bitten by Fly.
Lying in a stupor which will continue until dissolution occurs, Theodore Heslebeck, victim of that strange malady, "sleeping sickness," lies at the county hospital, while doctors continue vainly to fight off the approach of death.
Heslebeck applied at the city emergency hospital over two weeks ago for treatment and almost immediately sank into a stupor from which he was temporarily aroused last week by an injection of antitoxin. While awake Heslebeck related the story of how he contracted the malady.
He said he was engaged in unloading a vessel from a South African port when he was bitten by a tsetse fly. Six months after being bitten the malady had made such inroads that his physician advised him to try the high, dry climate of this section of the northwest as the only hope of a cure. He came to Butte and had been working as a news agent on trains operating out of Butte.
At the county hospital it is stated that no hope is held out for recovery.

WORKER'S HOME ON FLAT IS BURNED
Fire of Unknown Origin Rapidly Destroys Living Quarters of Mr. and Mrs. Warnecke.
As the result of a fire of unknown origin, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Warnecke, 2033 Avenue C street, was totally destroyed early yesterday afternoon. The structure was constructed of wood, which blazed rapidly and for a time threatened the destruction of a number of other homes in the vicinity.
The fire was first discovered by Mr. Warnecke, who, with his son, was digging a cesspool nearby. He noticed smoke issuing from the roof and rushed into the house in an effort to save a few personal belongings. Upon leaving the house with a trunk, Mr. Warnecke noticed the absence of his wife, and rushing back through the flames, he found her in a bedroom searching for a sum of money. As Mr. Warnecke entered the blazing room, Mrs. Warnecke fainted in his arms and it was with difficulty that he rescued her. Mrs. Warnecke's face was severely burned.
Within a few minutes of the time the smoke was first discovered the entire house was a roaring mass of flames.
Mr. Warnecke is employed at the Spreckels.

FOREST FIRE IS BLAZING NEAR BUTTE

Heavens Lighted Last Night With Reflection of Blaze on Continental Divide Southeast of City.

As the result of a forest fire on the continental divide, about five miles east of Butte, which started Saturday evening, the skies were lighted for miles last night. According to the statements of forest service officials this afternoon the fire was still in progress although the fire fighters had so far succeeded in confining it to the less valuable timber.

At latest reports more than a section had been burned over. Thousands of Butte citizens gazed at the clouds of smoke pouring over the top of the Butte, which started Saturday evening, the skies were lighted for miles last night. According to the statements of forest service officials this afternoon the fire was still in progress although the fire fighters had so far succeeded in confining it to the less valuable timber.

At the local forest service office it was stated that an additional force of 15 men were sent to the scene of the blaze this morning to augment those sent there Saturday night and yesterday. The work of fighting the fire is under personal direction of Ranger Steele.

Another fire reported yesterday afternoon near Ureca, was quickly extinguished by forest service officials.

MILLIONS FORGED TO WALK IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 18.—Millions struggled to work in a drizzling rain here today, due to the fact that the transportation lines were paralyzed by a strike of the subway and elevated employees. Not a wheel was turning on the lines affected and the streets were packed with vehicles of every type loaded to the wheels.

Thousands plodded to work on foot through the rain and practically every New York policeman was on duty in the downtown districts. The early morning crowd was good humored, despite the discomforts which the rain added. The police had little to do except to keep the extraordinary traffic untinged.

N. D. GOVERNOR VISITS IN BUTTE

Governor Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota called at the Balltown office yesterday. The governor is on his way to attend a conference of governors at Salt Lake City.

SUES B. A. & P. FOR DAMAGES.

Alleging that under the law an employing corporation is responsible for the negligence or carelessness of its employees, Mike Burns has started suit against the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railroad company for $20,000 damages for injuries sustained when Burns was assisting in unloading a car of cinders last January. The plaintiff alleges that Timothy O'Neil, with whom he was working at the time, caused a pile of cinders to fall against him, throwing him from the car and breaking his leg.
