MARKET REVIEW

CHICAGO MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Receipts of large deliveries on September contracts did a good deal today to weaken the corn market. Prices closed heavy, 1/2c to 5/8c net lower, with December at $1.22 1/2 to $1.23 and May at $1.20 1/2 to $1.20 3/4. Oats finished unchanged to 1/4c higher and provisions unchanged to 9/16 up.

Expectation that corn deliveries on September contracts would be on a liberal scale was due more or less to knowledge that considerable amounts had been sold today and yesterday to go into store here. Besides, some new corn was scheduled to arrive in Chicago Monday, which would be about two weeks earlier than any previous record. Reports were current, too, that supplies of old corn in the country totaled more than was generally believed to be the case.

Revival of export demand helped to strengthen the oat market. A bulge in foreign exchange rates, although at first apparently ignored, was later an evident stimulus to buyers.

Provisions took an upward swing as a result of bidding by packers for lard and because of higher quotations on hogs. Weakness of corn had only a temporary bearish influence.

FAMOUS WOMEN

Madame Roland.

"O Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!" These were the last words of Madame Roland, as, standing on the platform of the guillotine in 1793, she gazed o'er Paris, her eye sweeping the mob who had brought to the scaffold an innocent woman. Madame Roland was the wife of Jean Marie Roland de la Platiere, author and statesman. After the proscription of the Girondists (the Moderate Party) he was arrested. On receiving news of the death of his lovely wife, he killed himself in despair. Marie Jeanne Roland had taken an active part in the studies and duties of her husband. When he was appointed minister, she had shared all his official burdens. She had taken a prominent part in the political councils of the Girondists, her eloquence and charm had won all hearts, as it seemed. Now, she was a Girondist—that was enough. Away with her to the guillotine! And the kneeling women beneath the guillotine chanted "Fifty-four" as her head fell into the basket.

London.—England is going dry, even of water, according to Alfred E. Blackburn, president of the Institution of Water Engineers, who declares that the daily extraction of 285 million gallons is exhausting supplies.

OMAHA.

THREAT FAILS TO SCARE THE N. Y. PRINTERS

Ten Thousand Printers Will Strike Oct. 1, if the Bosses Refuse to Back Up by that Date.

(From N. Y. Call)

New York.—Negotiations are under way with one of the largest printing establishments in the city whereby the plant will be turned over to the four printing trades unions involved in the movement for the 44-hour week, to be run on a co-operative basis to publish magazines in case the lockout threatened by the employing printers is put into effect.

It was made known that the unions concerned have more than $1,000,000 to invest in a plant that will run on a 24-hour basis during the lockout and subsequent strike in order to break the resistance of the employers' organizations.

Several members of the largest union remarked recently that rather than suffer a two months' shutdown, which would be ruinous, they would get their publications printed in any establishment that was running, even if conducted by the workers on a co-operative trade union basis. The lockout is threatened on Oct. 1.

The bluff of the New York Publishers' association to take away magazine publishing from New York because of the demands for the 44-hour week and a 14 a week increase in wages failed to disconcert leaders of the printing trades unions.

"It's the same old story in the same old way," was the comment made by John Adams Thayer, secretary of the publishers, that 152 magazine publishers would seek the "fall timbers" as a result of the radicalism of Typographical Union No. 6, Printing Pressmen's Union No. 51, Franklin Union No. 23 and Paper Handlers' and Sheet Strainers' Union No. 1 and print in other cities. What concerned them more was the talk of the intervention in favor of the publishers by the heads of the international unions, in which George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen's union has already taken the lead.

Big Strike Oct. 1 Likely.

It is said that Marsden G. Scott, president of the International Typographical union; Berry, of the pressmen; James J. Freely, of the sheet printers and glass cutters; William Beck of the binders; and Matthew Wolf, of the engravers will deal with the situation at a meeting with employers today.

The action of the New York Publishers' association, following the belittled attitude of the employing printers' section of the Printers' League, and both backed by the United Typothetis of America in opposing the 44-hour week, indicates that on Oct. 1, if not before, 10,000 printers in New York will be involved in the biggest strike in the printing industry since the national strike for eight-hour day in 1906.

Gain Nothing by Moving.

The physical impossibility of the publishers getting buildings in other cities, not to speak of the cost of moving machinery and the shortage of skilled labor in other centers, is well known to the workers in the printing trades as to the publishers. Another fact pointed out by union men is that for a publisher to move to another city does not remove the possibility of the same situation arising in the new locality.

"Go west, seems to be Thayer's advice to his clients, following the saying of Horace Greely, but I do not know if the percentage of radicalism gets any less in that portion of the United States," remarked one union man when shown the publishers' statement.

At the present time 90 per cent of the magazines are printed in New York, making magazine publishing the second industry in this city, on the value of product, the garment industry standing at the head of the list.

Rolling Up Strike Fund.

According to the employers' figures the demands of the New York printers will increase the price of printing in this city nearly 50 per cent over that of Chicago, the next largest printing center.

Meanwhile all members of the four locals are paying their assessments to roll up a strike fund in preparation for the walkout on Oct. 1. It is well known in printing circles that the employing printers proposed a two-months' lockout of New York printers to the magazine publishers, promising that the locals would be rushed in that short period, but that the magazine interests thought the case to them would be too heavy. The case of the Publishers' Printing company, 297 East 25th street,
