CURB MARKET FIRE HAS SUSPICIOUS LOOK

Butte's new curb market narrowly missed an untimely end last evening when Booth 32, run by George Ames, burst into flames about 8:30 o'clock. Some messes reported at once to the fire department, and the blaze was put out before it spread to any other stall. The loss to his stock, Mr. Ames says, is not more than $1,700.

The booth, of course is owned by city. Its sheet iron roof was not much hurt. The counter and canvas lining was about all that was burnt out.

The fire is thought by some to have started from a coal oil stove left burning in the booth. Mr. Ames is not so sure about the origin. He has made enemies among the wholesalers of Butte by his practice of shipping stock in from the Pacific coast and placing it on sale at less than the prices currently approved by the "ring." It is hinted by some of the people on the market that the old "ring" of Butte, which has been more or less demoralized by the market, would have shed no tears if the whole shooting match went up in smoke.

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE HAS SECURED WINTER MARKET

The Butte Consumers' league has secured a fine location as an adjunct to the city market wherein the farmers and those buying from the producers direct will be sheltered for the winter. The location is at 120 South Main street, just north of Mercury street, and directly opposite Lutley's.

A large number of the stall spaces in the new location have been allotted to farmers. All varieties of produce and meats, eggs, butter and other dairy goods will be ready for the consuming public within a few days. This gives those who have been on the market in the outside stalls a chance to get under cover and also, it is thought, makes certain lower prices for food-stuffs through the winter months.

WIDOWS WITH CASH FAIL TO GET ON PENSION LIST

Two widows were granted a monthly stipend of $25 each by Judge Lynch yesterday afternoon. Two other widows who applied for county pensions were turned down—once, because she had a paying position, and two of her children were boys old enough to work. The other lady who sought aid from the county was discharged of Denver university is referee, Leo O'Rourke umpire, while "Governor" Walsh of the Montana School of Mines is acting as head line-man.

BUTTE CENTRAL HIGH IS BATTLING AT ANACONDA

The football eleven of Butte Central high school is playing the Anaconda high school this afternoon.

The game was called at 3 o'clock. Duke Schroder of Denver university is referee, Leo O'Rourke umpire, while "Governor" Walsh of the Montana School of Mines is acting as head line-man.

The ordinances have the approval of Chief of Police Murphy and the other police officials. It is stated, since in recent years the finger work has developed into an important adjunct of the department.

REPAIRING OF GRADE CROSSINGS HELD UP

City Superintendent of Public Works Edgar J. Strasburger put a temporary crimp in the plans of the Great Northern railroad yesterday. The G. N. has torn up one of the several crossings over its tracks, predatory to putting in a new one, when somebody slipped a tip to the great transportation company to the effect that it would have to consult Edgar Strasburger before it went any further. The company gave heed to the suggestion and proceeded immediately to ask permission of Strasburger to fix up their crossings.

Mr. Strasburger told the Great Northern, to go back and get him some carefully drawn copies of the specifications and then, perhaps, after he had found the leisure to look them over, he would tell the Great Northern railroad that it might go ahead.

The contract let yesterday by the Butte Water company for the construction of a pipe line from the Big Hole river to Butte, stipulates that the work shall begin not later than April 1, and be completed before October. The new line will be 24 miles long. It will double the present water supply of Butte, it is claimed.

S. N. Hillings, city building inspector, says that construction will begin next Monday upon the new sheds at the city corral for the housing of machinery, trucks and wagons. FUNERAL OF MRS. GRANDIS HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of Mrs. Edith Grandis, recent victim of her ex-husband's jealousy, to which cause was attributed the murder and suicide at 1021 Faucett street, was held this afternoon from the Daly-Shea undertaking parlors on Park street. The funeral arrangements were taken in charge by Chauncey Grandis, brother of Joseph Grandis, the recently divorced husband who committed the crime. Fred Barkle, the young man who was boarding at the Grandis home, and who, it was claimed by neighbors and by the Grandis children, was the date of the ceremony having been set for next Monday, has offered to defray all the expenses of the funeral.

Barkle testified at the inquest which was held yesterday afternoon. The only fact elicited from him or other witnesses, which has not already been published, was contained in a statement that some valuable jewelry belonging to Mrs. Grandis has disappeared. A wrist watch, and three finger rings, which Barkle says Mrs. Grandis wore on Sunday night when she accompanied him to a picture show, can not be accounted for. Barkle says that he and other neighbors looked the house over thoroughly and made every effort to locate the jewelry, but found no clue to its whereabouts. Several other witnesses testified as to the kind and description of the jewelry and Mrs. Grandis' possession of it.

The funeral of Joe Grandis will not be held until his father arrives from South Dakota.

SULLIVAN NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

After being out only 15 minutes, the jury yesterday afternoon acquitted T. F. Sullivan of manslaughter. He had been on trial for three days in Judge Lynch's court. Young Sullivan was driving the A. C. M. ambulance, which ran over Elmer Knapp near the corner of Park and Arizona streets on the evening of July 29, inflicting injuries from which he died on the way to the hospital. Testimony at the trial was contradictory, but preponderance of evidence pointed to no particularly undue carelessness upon the part of the ambulance driver.

MUST SECURE PERMITS TO TEAR UP STREETS

People must be more careful hereafter about digging up the streets without a permit, say the city officials. Many people lately have been excavating to make repairs on pipes or to put in new ones, without first securing the permit from the city plumbing inspector which the city ordinance stipulates shall be taken out before the street is opened up. Yesterday J. P. Hickey was called to the city hall to explain why he excavated without a permit. The ordinance provides a penalty for such oversights, and the city officials say that penalties will be imposed.

ALEX M'LAIN NEVER WOULD DO THE TRICK

Through a mistake on the part of a number of unions on the Pacific coast, Alex McLain, prominent Butte miner and well known as a supporter of "Muckie" McDonald during the Butte labor troubles in 1917, has been listed at various points on the Pacific coast as a "scab" on the Metal Tradesmen during the recent strike.

The mistake, it is said, occurred through the publication in the daily "Scab" list in the Bulletin of an "Al McClain," who was reported as scabbing on the blacksmiths at the Black Rock mine. The "McClain" mentioned is an entirely different person from Alex McLain. Butte unionists, it is said, last night wired to various points on the north Pacific coast correcting the error.
