CANUCK BUDDIES USE DIRECT ACTION

Canadian Prime Minister Will Not Be Allowed to Speak in Toronto, Returned Soldiers State.

(By the Federated Press.)
Toronto, Ont., Nov. 29.—Until he answers to criticism which returned soldiers, widows and cripples have to make of his government, Prime Minister Arthur Meighen will not get a hearing in Toronto. J. Harry Flynn, general organizer of the Grand Army of United Veterans, told 4,000 cheering returned men to maintain their line here.

Indignant veterans declare they will take control of the mass meetings arranged for Canada's premier in January. They will not permit all entrances to Toronto's largest auditorium so that Meighen's friends cannot reach the meeting.
Hostile receptions greet the premier everywhere he goes on his western Canada tour, disillusioned veterans condemning him for his broken promises. The climax is expected in Toronto, which sent more volunteers to the war than any other Canadian city.

That organized labor will stand solidly behind the returned soldiers was the declaration made by John Bruce, general organizer of the United Association of Steamfitters and Plumbers, who strongly opposed the passing of the Military Service act during the war, said the stand taken had been justified by the treatment meted out to the soldiers since their return.

Both meetings were held to further the candidacy of James H. McGowan, Labor-Soldier candidate in the forthcoming Toronto provincial election. Though defeated, McGowan polled a much larger vote than was expected in this hide-bound Tory constituency.

BRITISH MINERS UPSET OVER RESULT

Welsh Coal Miners Object to Coal Strike Settlement. Denounce Action as Gross Betrayal.

(By the Federated Press.)
London (By Mail).—Although the majority of the miners are now back to work, the anti-strike sentiment among the rank and file is far from one of satisfaction.
The Executive committee of the South Wales Miners' Federation has drafted a resolution to be sent to the national conference urging the revision of the rule under which a two-thirds majority is necessary for the continuation of a strike. The miners of South Wales were the group most reluctant to obey the order to return to work after the vote taken resulting in a slight majority for continuing the strike.

So bitter is the feeling among some of the groups that the miners of Lehigh have denounced the action of the national executive as a "gross betrayal" and the Taffey branch of the Fire Alford demands that the executive board be removed.

Despite the fact that the terms of settlement provide for a National Wage board, the securing of such a board on principles approved by the miners is a victory to be attained and one which will involve a stiff fight, according to most of the workers. The miners are not afraid of such a contest, but their opinion is that the recent settlement still leaves the main issues undetermined.

AUSTRALIA FINDS SHIPPING TRADE PROFITABLE

Australian Government in Four Years Makes Sufficient Profit to Pay for Ships Purchased.

(By the Federated Press.)
Sydney, N. S. W.—(By Mail).—Since the Australian government (commonwealth) went into the steamship owning business, three or four years ago, it has not only paid the capital cost of the steamers, but has an added profit of around $500,000 as well. The net profit from the inception of the line up to June, 1919, amounted to $10,317,670, while the net profit for the year ending June, 1920, was a further $3,506,475—making a total net profit of $13,824,145. Allowing for depreciation, the capital value of the fleet owned by the commonwealth government as of June, 1919, was $7,693,735.
The federal government has to build six new 12,500-ton steamers. Three of these will be constructed by the New South Wales state labor government for the federal government.

Lenine Urges Workers Take an Interest in Elections

Austrian Communists State Intention to Boycott the Elections. Lenine Urges Them to Vote.

(Special to the Bulletin.)
New York, Nov. 29.—A copy of the letter sent to the Austrian Communists by Lenin has arrived here. It appears that the Austrian Communists had decided to boycott the elections, due to their disgust with the tactics of the "yellow" socialists. When this news reached Lenin he immediately reminded the Communists of the value of engaging in political campaigns. The following letter is a copy of the communication received by the Austrian Communists from Lenin:

"The Austrian Communist party has decided to boycott the elections of the bourgeois democratic parliament. The second congress of the Communist International just ended recognized as the proper tactics the participation by the Communists in the elections to the bourgeois parliaments and in these parliaments themselves.
"On the basis of information received from the delegates of the Austrian Communist party I do not doubt that the latter will regard the decision of the Communist International as outweighing the decision of one of its parties. Indeed, it is not to be questioned but that the Austrian social democrats, these betrayers of socialism who went over to the side of the bourgeoisie, will rejoice over the decision of the Communist International, which runs contrary to the boycott resolution of the Austrian Communist party. But the ineffectual workers conscious of their position will naturally pay no attention to the malicious joy of such gentlemen as the Austrian social democrats and the Schindlers, Noskovs, Albert Thomases and Gomparses who agree with them. The lackeylike service of Mr. Brunner (the Austrian Socialist promoter) has been sufficiently revealed and the indignation of the workers of all countries against the heroes of the second, or Yellow, International is growing and spreading further and further.

"The Austrian social democrats in the bourgeois parliament, as well as among their fields of activity, even in their press, conduct themselves like petit bourgeois democrats, only capable of swaying back and forth with no character, in their actual and complete dependence upon the capitalist class. We Communists go into the bourgeois parliament in order also from this tribune of the completely rotten capitalist system, under which the workers and working masses are deceived, to bare this tribune.

"One argument of the Austrian Communists against participation in the bourgeois parliament deserves somewhat closer examination. This argument is as follows:
"The parliament is only of importance to the Communists as a platform for agitation. We in Austria have the Workers' Council as a platform for agitation. Consequently, we renounce participation in the elections to the bourgeois parliament. In Germany there is no Workers' Council that could be taken seriously. Therefore the German Communists pursue different tactics.
"I consider this argument incorrect. So long as we have not the power to break up this bourgeois parliament, we must work against it from within and without. So long as we are in the hands of workers—not only proletarians, but also half-proletarians and small farmers—has faith in this bourgeois democratic means of deceiving the workers by the bourgeoisie, we must have this deception right from that very tribune which is regarded as the most authoritative and permanent by the backward sections of the workers and particularly by the non-proletarian working masses.

"So long as we Communists still lack the power to seize control of the state and are unable to put through elections by the workers alone, opposing their councils to the bourgeoisie, so long as the bourgeoisie still controls the powers of the state and the interests the most varied masses of the population in the elections, we are obligated to take part in the elections and to agitate among all the workers, not only among the proletarians. So long as the workers are deceived in the bourgeois parliament with phrases about "democracy" and financial speculations—all sorts of bribery are concealed—nowhere else is the fine art of bribing writers, deputies, lawyers, et al., so widely practiced by the bourgeoisie as in the bourgeois parliament—just so long as we Communists in duty bound, right in this institution, which is said to express the will of the people, but which in fact conceals the tricks of the rich, to expose this deception absolutely, as well as every single case where Renner & Co. go over to the side of the capitalists against the workers.

"The relations between the bourgeois parties and groups are revealed with special clarity in parliament and are reflected therein all classes of bourgeois society. Therefore, it is the duty of the Communists, right on the inside of the bourgeois parliament, to enlighten the people, to tell the people the truth about the classes and the parties, about the real estate owners and their handy men, about the relations of the rich peasants to the poor ones, about those of big business to the office workers and the small property owners, etc.

"It is necessary for the proletariat to know all this, so that it may learn to understand all the ordinary and refined tricks of capital, so that it may learn to influence the petit bourgeois masses and the non-proletarian. Without this "know-how" the proletariat cannot successfully carry out its tasks of the proletarian dictatorship. For this, too, will the bourgeoisie in its present position (the position of the overthrown class) continue its work of making the peasants ignorant, of bribing and intimidating the office workers, and of concealing its egotistical and dirty efforts with phrases about democracy.

"No, the Austrian Communists will not be intimidated by the unholy glee of the bourgeoisie. The Austrian Communists will not be afraid to come out flat-footed for the observance of international proletarian discipline. We are proud that we decide the great problems of the struggle of the workers for their liberation by submitting to the international discipline of the revolutionary proletariat, counting upon the understanding of the workers of the different countries, upon their knowledge and their desire, and in this way in reality (and not merely in words like Renner, Friedrich Adler and Otto Bauer) effect the unification of the class struggle of the workers for Communism in the whole world."

'MARY PICKFORD' ARRESTED FOR PICKETING

Detroit Waitresses Arrested for Picketing Return to Firing Line After Being Released.

(By the Federated Press.)
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—Locked-out waitresses who were picketing the "koshers" restaurants downtown have been cited to appear in court to answer why they shall not be held in contempt for alleged violation of an injunction issued against them to refrain them from picketing.

The fighting young women members of Local 728, incurred the wrath of the court when they gave such names as "Miss Ford," "Miss Vanderbilt," "Alice Brady," "Mary Pickford" and the like to the deputies who served them with copies of the injunction. They were rounded up in a patrol wagon on the picket line and taken to the county jail, to be released within a few hours after protest was made by their attorney.

The girls immediately returned to the picketing line and are there yet awaiting the pleasure of the court in answer to the charge. The struggle ensued when the waitress' wages were cut from $18 to $14 a week. The "koshers" and "Walters" hotels are backing the union waitresses in their fight.

ORGANIZE UNION OF GARMENT WORKERS

President International Garment Workers Announces Plans for Forming One Garment Union.

(By the Federated Press.)
New York, Nov. 29.—Organization of the garment workers of the United States into one great alliance will be perfected at a convention to be held in this city December 6, according to plans just announced by Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers. The chief unions which comprise the new alliance will be the International Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the United Cloth Hat and Cap Makers, the International Fur Workers' union, and possibly the Journeymen Tailors' union and the United Garment Workers.

Decision to call the December conference was made at the quarterly conference of the International, which has just ended in Baltimore. Among other important decisions, the general executive board authorized the opening of co-operative factories to demonstrate the ability of the workers to control their own industry at the same time producing superior clothing at low prices. New York or Chicago will be chosen as the scene of the experiment, it is believed.

Declaring that the present campaign by the clothing manufacturers to cut wages and stretch hours, was caused by their own ruinous profiteering during the war, Schlesinger said that his union was perfectly willing to "readjust" wages if the manufacturers would allow the workers in turn to readjust their profits. "Why should only wages be readjusted?" he asked.

TWO ARE SENTENCED AND ONE GETS OFF IN COURT

Con Bonner and Jerry Sullivan, charged with violating the United States prohibition law, appeared before Judge Bourquin in federal court this morning and entered pleas of guilty to the charge and were sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and a fine of $150 each and the costs of the court in the cases. A stay of sentence for one week was granted.
Tony Hamos, who was charged with operating a place on West Broadway, also changed his plea from not guilty to guilty, and in reply to questions from Judge Bourquin, stated that "never again" would he "be guilty of selling booze." The judge remarked that because the defendant was minus an arm the temptation to engage in the illicit traffic was greater than it would be in the case of a man having all of his physical qualities. He then suspended sentence with the remark that he must not be again charged or he would be severely dealt with.

LOCKED-OUT WAITRESSES WIN ONE COURT VICTORY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—Locked-out waitresses won a court victory here when a temporary restraining order issued against them to prevent their picketing unfair "koshers" restaurants was ordered dissolved by the judge who signed the original order.
The fight against the restaurant proprietors is being prosecuted vigorously by the members of waitresses' union. Several arrests of men sympathizers were made, but in each case the judge released them.
Private detectives are employed by the seal concerns to curb the activities of union pickets.
