

THE APPEAL FOR 1882.

In this year's prospect for 1882, the APPEAL has but one promise to make, and that is, to do its utmost to maintain its character and to be the foremost of the Memphis press in its efforts to secure the best of the South.

MEMPHIS APPEAL THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1881

GENERAL JOE JOHNSON'S INTENTIONS.

We said yesterday that we could scarcely credit the audacity of an alleged renegade, who had written for a well-known newspaper correspondent, which reached us through the New Orleans Post.

There is no man in the South who is more widely known than General Sherman. He is a man of high standing, and his name is a guarantee of truth and honesty.

It is a well-known fact that General Sherman is a man of high standing, and his name is a guarantee of truth and honesty. He is a man of high standing, and his name is a guarantee of truth and honesty.

GEN. JOE JOHNSON

Lifts the Veil and Reveals the Secrets of the Last Days of the Confederacy. — He asks Why the Southern People Have Not Invited Ex-President Davis to Account for More Than $2,000,000 of Confederate Treasures.

He Had His Possession at the Close of the War—A Vigorous and Searching Criticism of Some of Mr. Davis's Points.

And a Frank Statement of the Military Policy, Purposes and Achievements of the Commander of the Army of the Tennessee.

PHILADELPHIA, December 16.—Not long ago I found myself upon a slow train on the railroad between Goldsboro, North Carolina, and Raleigh, the capital of the Tarheel State.
