

THREE WHIPPED BY NIGHT RIDERS FOR TALKING TOO MUCH

Farmer, Preacher and Laborer Beaten With Straps. Proposal to Hang One Lost by Single Vote.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 14.—W. B. Hamby, Henry Jordan and Harrison Jordan, of Dawson Springs, were whipped by night riders, charged by their captors with having talked too much, their only talking, however, being against night riders.

Hamby is a retired farmer and ever since the tobacco strike, four or five years ago he has been outspoken against night riding. The elder Jordan, a street preacher, is said to have criticized night riding, though he says he didn't.

Harrison Jordan, twenty years of age, is a farm laborer. Recently his employer claimed that $300 he had hidden in the smoke-house had been stolen. A few nights afterward, Jordan says, three men took him out, forcing his employer and son to accompany them, strung him up by the neck and gave him two minutes in which to confess to taking the money. Jordan protested his innocence and was released.

It is said he recognized the three men when he was beaten and threatened to have them indicted. He was told that if he carried out his threat he would be hanged at the Court House door, that the night riders were $3,000 strong and feared no one.

The Jordans and Hamby were taken in their night clothes about a mile to a point just across the Caldwell County line, where they were whipped with a heavy leather strap. Hamby says night riders voted on hanging him, and that the proposition to hang was lost by one vote.

After the whipping the victims were allowed to get back home as best they could. The Jordans and Hamby were taken in their night clothes about a mile to a point just across the Caldwell County line, where they were whipped with a heavy leather strap.

PHOTOGRAPH PLAYED AS KARLUK SANK IN ARCTIC Stefansson Steamship Went Down to Strains of Lively March

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—In an article sent from Nome, Alaska, via Seattle, to the New York Sun, Lieutenant Ralph Dempski, of the United States Revenue Cutter Bear, gives a graphic description of the disaster that befell the wrecked steamship Karluk of the Stefansson North Pole expedition.

Lieutenant Dempski quotes the survivors on board the Bear as saying that the Karluk was hard and fast in the ice pack from early October up to January 10, when the ship was crushed and sank. W. L. McKinlay and J. R. Huxley, two of the survivors, are on the Bear.

Fearing disaster when the Karluk was drifting toward the North Pole, Captain Bartlett, of that vessel, had skin clothing made for all the ship's company by an Eskimo and his wife. Bartlett also had the sledges and gear put in order, and, as a further precaution, the ship's crew each day chopped the ice around the Karluk into small pieces, to make it easier to push against the pressure of the ice pack.

Despite that precaution, the vessel gradually settled in the ice, was crushed, and disappeared on January 13, 29 fathoms of water. Before she sank Bartlett had started a photograph expedition, and James Murray, a naturalist of the expedition, and First Mate Anderson, together with other members of the party, left a temporary camp in an effort to reach the main party and are believed to have perished. Murray's many meteorological observations were lost.

PALMER DECLARES PENROSE EXPENDED $100,000 IN PRIMARY

Charge of Violating the Corrupt Practices Act a Striking Feature of Speech at Lewistown.

CENTER HALL, Pa., Sept. 15.—Led by Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer, the Democratic campaigners reached here this morning after completing their tour of Perry, Juniata and Mifflin Counties yesterday. A charge that Senator Penrose has violated the corrupt practice act of the State and nation and a review of his position in Congress to publicity campaign legislation were the climactic points in Congressman Palmer's final speech at Lewistown last night.

Mr. Palmer declared that if the true cost of Senator Penrose's nomination were known, including his own expenditures and contributions by those to whom it would mean most for him to be elected to the Senate the total would be near $100,000, although Mr. Penrose admits expenditures of only $10,000.

The Pennsylvania Protective Union, Mr. Palmer asserted, was a political committee within the plain meaning of the corrupt practice act. He said it should be compelled legally to give an account of its disbursements in behalf of the nomination of Senator Penrose.

As indicating Senator Penrose's opposition to any campaign publicity legislation, Mr. Palmer referred to the Congressional Record for July 17, 1911. Here Senator Penrose is recorded as "not voting" on the bill intended to limit the campaign expenditures of a senatorial candidate to $10,000.

The campaigners left Harrisburg at noon yesterday, covering 60 miles by automobile before they reached Lewistown last night. They were accompanied by C. N. Crosby and Robert S. Bright, candidates for Congressmen-at-large. Tonight the candidates will speak in Lock Haven.
