Special Policemen Ernest and Barry took Ritchie to the station and, in the meantime, the man accused himself of being too friendly with his wife. Guinan declared that he took the razor away from him, and in the fight that followed the man was cut.

WORKMEN HURT IN FALL OF BRIDGE WILL RECOVER

Plunge Forty Feet When Structure Collapsed.

Six men taken to the University Hospital last night, following the collapse of a wooden bridge over an oil tank at the plant of the Gulf Refining Company, 5th street and Reading highway, were reported as being out of danger by the physicians at the hospital this morning.

When the wooden superstructure, on which the men were working gave way under their combined weights, they fell to the bottom of the tank, a distance of 40 feet. Workmen, who went to their rescue, had great trouble in reaching them, since there is only one entrance to the bottom of the tank. This entrance is large enough for one man to squeeze through at a time.

PUT BUSINESS MEN IN CONGRESS, URGES STATIONERS' CHIEF

Let Them "Rescue Country From the Arena of Politics," Is George M. Courts' Message to Convention.

"Send business men to Congress" was the keynote of National President George M. Courts' address at the opening of the convention of the National Association of Stationers and Manufacturers in the Bellevue-Stratford today.

"Until business men, who have made this country what it is," said Mr. Courts, "rescue it from the arena of politics, we shall continue to be regulated by laws which are fathered by demagogues, conceived in ignorance and born in the throes of political expediency. It is to be hoped that business men will not long continue to shirk their plain responsibility for an admitted evil."

The only views which Congress did not deem worthy of consideration were those of the people most affected, the business men.

Rounds of applause greeted President Courts' speech, which followed the address of welcome by Mayor Blankenburg and Director of Supplies Loeb.

Following his address Mr. Courts was presented with a handsome gavel made from wood from the old United States Mint.

This morning's session was the first of the regular business meetings of the convention, and the entire session was devoted to the consideration of the reports of the various committees.

A center for an admiring and an enthusiastic group at all times is the picturesque figure of George A. Olney, of New York, and "Uncle George" as he is known to everybody.

Another special feature arranged primarily for them is a trip scheduled for Thursday morning through the Curtis Publishing Company's plant at 6th and Walnut streets. Last year, when at the convention in Springfield, it was announced that Philadelphia was to be the next convention city.

The Young Men's Christian Association School for Training for Leadership has opened in the Central Branch with an enrollment of 80 men.

LABORERS OF CITY TO PROFIT BY WORK FOR WATER BUREAU

Mayor Urges Prompt Action by Councils to Open Fund of $500,000 to Unemployed Early in December.

Philadelphia laboring men will materially benefit by work on the $1,150,000 improvement project for the Water Bureau, included in the $11,200,000 loan, which will be begun immediately after the money is made available by Councils, following the approval of the loan by the voters at the coming election.

Mayor Blankenburg will urge Councils in a message on Thursday to pass all preliminary legislation, which ordinarily delays actual work on loan projects, in order that the constructive work may be started early in December.

Chief among the topics to be considered in the water bureau will be the construction of a direct service water supply main to South Philadelphia from Torresdale, it is estimated that about $175,000 will be paid Philadelphia workmen.

HARDWARE EXHIBIT SHOWS EVERYTHING FROM A TACK UP

Especially Interesting Are the Latest Devices to Domesticate Electricity.

To those who are interested in the latest conceits in hardware implements, whether they be for household, workshop or store purposes, a visit to the first annual exhibition of the Philadelphia Hardware Association which is holding forth every afternoon and evening up until October 17 in the Parkway building, Broad and Cherry streets, is well worth while.

The exhibition includes everything in the hardware line all the way from the most recently devised tack up to the last thing in lawn mowers and bicycles. And no better idea of the manner in which electricity has been domesticated could be obtained than from seeing just how many little labor saving devices for the home are dependent upon this power for their operation.

POLICE CAPTAIN THOMPSON, SERIOUSLY ILL, MAY RETIRE

Had Hoped to End Long Service When Present Administration Ends.

George W. Thompson, senior captain of the Philadelphia police force, is dangerously ill at his home, 1802 Morris street, as the result of an attack of stomach trouble. The captain has had three months' leave of absence, and if he has not recovered at the end of that period may decide to resign.

Captain Thompson's record is unique in the police service in that he never served below the rank of Lieutenant. He was appointed to the force April 14, 1884, and immediately made a lieutenant owing to his Civil War record.

He took part in many naval engagements, serving under Admiral Farragut. He worked up in the navy from the ranks to the position of petty officer. After being on the police force 30 years he was made a captain. For some years he has been in charge of the 5th Police Division in West Philadelphia, and later he was transferred to the 1st Division downtown.

Captain Thompson had been on the point of suffering several times before the present administration took office. Since then, he has frequently told friends that he intended to remain on the force until the end of Mayor Blankenburg's term and go out with the administration.

The lamp exploded, and she was soon enveloped in flames.

SAILOR BOWS TO BLUECOAT

Policeman Produces Blackjack When Seaman Wrests Away His Club.

Thomas Martin, a sailor on the steamship Alabama, was held in $500 bail court today in the Front and Master streets station, on a charge of attacking a policeman and Mrs. Winifred Adams, 128 Hope street. Martin went to the Hope street address immediately after the Alabama touched at Marcus Hook.

He declared that he had left his sea kit with Thomas Adams, husband of Mrs. Adams, and went to search the house. Mrs. Adams refused to permit this until her husband returned. Her husband is in South America on a voyage. Martin then grasped her by the throat, according to her testimony, and she summoned Policeman Zangle. After Martin had taken away the bluecoat's club, Falls got his blackjack into play and the sailor surrendered.

CLUBWOMEN MEET IN PITTSBURGH FOR STATE CONVENTION

Questions Vital to Prosperity of City, State and Nation Discussed by Speakers Before Federation.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Questions of vital interest to the home, the State, the nation—and to women in particular—were discussed today at the nineteenth annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, which opened in the Soldiers and Sailors' Memorial Hall. The events of yesterday were merely incidental to the formal opening of the business sessions this morning.

Mrs. Samuel Semple, of Titusville, State president, was in the chair when the meeting was called to order. Mrs. Robert D. Coard, vice president of the southwestern district of the State Federation, delivered an address of welcome, as did Assistant City Solicitor H. M. Irons for the city. The response was by Mrs. Semple on behalf of the State Federation.

Mrs. Semple in her response said there were two classes of people, those who lift and those who lean. The spirit of Pittsburgh was "not to knock, but to boost," and Pittsburgh's aim was to lift and not to lean. She thanked the various organizations for their co-operation. At the conclusion of her address she asked the women to remove their hats and all the fancy fall millinery was removed.

Mrs. G. W. Coblenz, of Clarion, recording secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Dr. S. B. McCormick, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, in an address to the federation, said:

"The form of service of clubwomen today includes the domestic life of the community and the cultural life. Any assumption that women's participation in the affairs of the world will injure the home is a false assumption, and it is the business of women to remedy any belief of that kind. The home is the economic institution, and it is important for the women to make the home an economic factor. If social conditions are to be made what they should be, men and women must co-operate in remedying the condition."

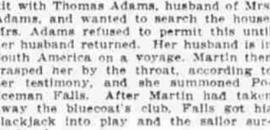

"When women learn that men are as good as themselves, and when men learn that women are their equals, then this great State will take its foremost place in many ways, as it already has in some ways in the sisterhood of States."

Mrs. H. S. Prentice Nichols, of Philadelphia, read the report of Mrs. L. H. O'Hara, of Philadelphia, district president of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. The report showed that 20 new clubs had been formed in the eastern district in the last year. Walter King Sharp, of Chambersburg, as district president, gave the report of the central district.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, of Austin, Tex., president of the General Federation, addressed the federation. Mrs. Horace Brock, of Lebanon, honorary president of the State Federation, appealed to the women to remain neutral on the subjects of suffrage, temperance and religion, and cling to the ideal of the foundation of the federation.

Mrs. F. F. Diefenderfer, of Erie, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the National Reform Association, told the women to support constitutional suppression of polygamy. She declared that Mormon women were seeking places of trust on the boards of the General Federation, and urged the women to refuse to elect them to such positions.

Mrs. Louie Piolet, of Wysox, representing 20,000 members of the National Grange Association, gave a history of the work of that association.
