

ARMIES CHECK BLOODY ONSET NORTH OF LYS

French Official Report Announces Failure to Gain by Either Side in Fierce Assaults From Dixmude to Arras.

The opposing armies are gripped in a deadlock between Dixmude and the Lys, the official French report announces this afternoon.

Below the Lys, around Arras, bloody assaults by the Germans, aided by heavy guns, have failed to gain ground.

Further south and to the west, repulses of the enemy and minor victories are reported from Paris.

Berlin, in an official report, denies that the Crown Prince or any other members of the imperial family is wounded or in ill health. General advances are announced in the Franco-Belgian sphere.

Dutch reports assert the Kaiser's forces are rapidly being withdrawn from Brussels and Antwerp.

No further news has been heard of the flagship Good Hope and the cruisers Glasgow and Otranto, damaged off the Chilean coast, and all are believed lost.

Ten Turkish and German vessels, coaling the Turkish fleet in the Black Sea, were sunk by Russian warships, according to Petrograd official statements.

Thirty-six French vessels, eight Russian and one Belgian steamship were seized at Constantinople by the Turks, according to Berlin. A British steamship was sunk at Aivali, Asia Minor.

Turkish troops destroyed an entire battalion of Cossacks in Caucasia, according to Constantinople reports, and repulsed the Russian advance. But, according to Petrograd, the Turkish forces, surprised by the sudden advance of the Czar's troops, have fled in rout into Armenia.

It is said 90,000 Turks are on the Caucasian border, ready to meet the Russians.

French and British warships continue a long-range bombardment of Dardanelles forts.

Movement on Berlin is again hinted at in the Petrograd official statements. Capture of Mlaw, the German base in northern Poland, and occupation of Lyck, across the East Prussian border, has forced the Germans toward their second line of defenses, and Petrograd believes they soon will fall back to a line based on the important strongholds of Graudenz, Thorn and Posen, which protect the German capital. The Czar's forces already are in force in several places on German soil, and the Kaiser's armies are reported in precipitate flight before the invaders. Berlin insists the East Prussian defense is not endangered, and that strong forces are ready to withstand

ACCUSED OF ILLEGAL VOTING

Three Men Held on Charges of Fraud at Tuesday's Election.

Three men accused of false registration, perjury and illegal voting were held under $400 bail each this morning for further hearing by Magistrate William F. Beaton. They are Edward J. Patterson, James Creighton and Lester Johnson, a Negro, whose registration address was given as 3633 Market street; the addresses given by the other men were identical, each asserting that he lived at 3220 Market street.

The arrests are the first made upon the recommendation of the Committee of Seventy, who investigated the cases and assert that the registrations were false. Patterson's claim to residence at 3220 Market street was the best founded, as he is a bartender in the saloon at that address. Magistrate Beaton, however, held that the man's home could not be identified with his place of business unless he and his family occupied the building.

He visited the wounded on the western and southern fronts in the military hospitals, and distributed medals to several who had been recommended for particular bravery.

ADMIRAL CRADOCK LOST IN FLAGSHIP, CHILIANS BELIEVE

Wireless Call From Glasgow Last Heard of Scattered British Squadron, None of Which Reach Port.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 6.

There is little hope remaining in Valparaiso that Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, his flagship the Good Hope and the 500 men of her crew survived the first great naval engagement of the war, when, on Sunday evening, a German fleet sank the Monmouth and scattered the other units of the British cruiser squadron.

Whether the Glasgow and the Otranto, which escaped destruction, survived the damage suffered is not known. The whereabouts of the German cruisers Leipzig and Bremen also remains in doubt.

Contrary to first reports, the Good Hope and Glasgow did not reach Coronel or Talcahuano, nor did the Otranto find a Chilean port. The German fleet, with the exception of the Leipzig and the Bremen, after putting in here, left again. If that night the German ships had come and the Bremen they did not make it known. The transport Prinz Eitel anchored in the bay last night.

A wireless message from the British cruiser Glasgow—intercepted by the German victors—was the last word received from Rear Admiral Cradock's squadron, following the engagement off the Chilean coast Sunday.

The Germans saw the Monmouth sink and heard an explosion on board the Good Hope that they believe sent the crippled flagship to the bottom.

All that night the German cruiser Nürnberg searched the seas for the Good Hope unsuccessfully. They picked up a radiogram directed to the flagship by the Glasgow. There was no reply. At the moment that the German guns were trained the Good Hope was seen coming at full speed, and through good seamanship she managed to join the other British ships. The British had come about and the two squadrons steamed southward in parallel lines, the Germans being closer to the coast. Gradually the two lines came nearer to each other and the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau simultaneously let go their 12.8-inch guns, which they concentrated on the Good Hope. The firing continued for several minutes without damage. The German shots fell short, and the Good Hope had such a roll that she could not reply. The small cruisers were far out of range.

Slowly the vessels drew nearer, and when the two units were but 6000 yards apart the Good Hope fired her two 8-inch guns. She was still unable to use her eight 6-inch guns, which on the Good Hope were trained on the German ships. The firing continued for several minutes without damage. The German shots fell short, and the Good Hope had such a roll that she could not reply. The small cruisers were far out of range.

CARRANZA NOTIFIED TO QUIT HIS POST OR FIGHT FOR IT

Expected to Defy Peace Conference Order to Retire by November 10—Renewed Hostilities Threatened.

AGUASCALIENTES, Mex., Nov. 6.

The conference has sent the First Chief notification that if he fails to surrender the executive by the date set, troops will be sent to oust him.

It is believed here that Carranza will refuse to retire, and opening of general hostilities is expected within 10 days. The conference has sent the First Chief notification that if he fails to surrender the executive by the date set, troops will be sent to oust him.

General Gutierrez has sent a message to General Claudio Aguilar, commander of the Constitutional troops near Vera Cruz, in which he says: "General Villa has resigned definitely and withdrawn from the command of the Division of the North. The Zapatista delegation assures us that General Zapata will do likewise. Therefore, all the conditions imposed by Senor Carranza have been complied with."

The Americans recovered their horses and brought them back safely to the American side. It is said none of the cowboys was wounded.

SUFFRAGIST READS MAYOR A LECTURE; INSULT, HE SAYS

Mrs. J. D. Thomas, at Head of Delegation, Brings Remarkable Statement to Mr. Blankenburg's Office.

MRS. J. D. THOMAS

A remarkable statement denouncing the Mayor and Council for "playing petty politics" and asking them to resign for failing to put under contract $7,000,000 to give work to the unemployed was read to Mayor Blankenburg in his private office today by Mrs. J. D. Thomas, president of the Woman Suffrage County Society of Philadelphia, in the presence of several members of his cabinet, newspaper men and a clergyman.

Mrs. Thomas, at the head of a delegation of four other women, gained access to the Mayor's private office through a request made some days ago for an interview. She gave the Mayor no inkling of what she had prepared to say to him and her statement, couched in vehement language, came as a distinct surprise.

After it had been read the Mayor answered Mrs. Thomas with a statement equally direct and forcible. He characterized the statement of Mrs. Thomas as leading and offensive, and declared that it would do more harm to the suffrage cause than it would do good to the cause of the unemployed in whose name it was uttered.

As a result of the Mayor's statement, Mrs. Thomas apologized. When she and the other women left his office they were palpably upset and nervous. Mayor Blankenburg and the Mayor's staff were also manufacturer, whose home is at 2322 North Lawrence street, died in the Palmerton, Pa., Hospital early this morning as the result of gunshot wounds received yesterday morning while on a hunting trip near Mauch Chunk. His brother, Henry M. Schadewald, 102 West Manheim street, who hurried up-State on learning of the accident; his wife, Mrs. Amelia Schadewald, and Marie, a 13-year-old daughter, were at the bedside of the Philadelphia man when he died.

MANUFACTURER SHOT AND KILLED WHILE ON GUNNING TRIP

Henry M. Schadewald, of This City, Victim of Distressing Accident Near Mauch Chunk.

William S. Schadewald, a Kensington

Mr. Schadewald, with his brother, Henry M. Schadewald, conducted the Schadewald Mills, at 2d and Huntingdon streets, and was a big manufacturer of spread.

According to the accounts of the accident which resulted in his death, Mr. Schadewald was accidentally shot by an attorney, who was a member of the hunting party, early yesterday morning. The hunting party, consisting of Mr. Schadewald and four friends from this city, started out early in search of rabbits. After a short time the party got on the trail of a rabbit and Mr. Schadewald, who was the first to see it, leveled his shotgun at the rabbit and fired.

His shot missed the rabbit and then another member of the party, an attorney, who was standing at the side of the manufacturer, took aim at the fleeing rabbit. At the time he was standing on a stone and in his excitement slipped from the stone and fell on the double-barrel shotgun which was loaded with a heavy charge. When he fell, the gun was discharged and the full charge of the gun went into Mr. Schadewald's leg as he was standing only a few feet away.

Mr. Schadewald fell and soon sank into unconsciousness from the loss of blood. Other members of the party quickly summoned an automobile and a dash for the Palmerton Hospital, 30 miles away, was made. The hospital physicians found that the load of shot had almost severed the left leg below the knee. The attorney who unintentionally shot his friend was overcome with grief, and physicians at the hospital attended him.

Mrs. Schadewald and her daughter, who left their home on Lawrence street last Saturday morning to make the trip, were in Mauch Chunk when the accident happened, and a message was sent to them. Mother and daughter left immediately for the wounded man's bedside.

Members of the party also notified Henry M. Schadewald, a brother of the victim, and he took the first train out of the city of Palmerton. He arrived there last night and met the wife and daughter, who had remained continually at the side of the injured man.

According to dispatches from Palmerton, the attorney who shot Mr. Schadewald gave himself up to the authorities, but it is said the shooting was an accident pure and simple.

Word was received of the death of the manufacturer at the mills, 3d and Huntingdon streets, this morning, and cast a gloom over the employees.

At the home of Henry M. Schadewald it was said the body of the manufacturer would be brought to this city by the members of the family.

GREAT FLEET SUBMARINE TO BE BUILT FOR U. S. NAVY

Will Have Cruising Radius of 3500 Miles and 21-knot Speed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Designs have been completed and specifications prepared for a new and distinct type of submarine which will outclass submarines of the German U-boats. It will be the greatest submarine afloat.

This new type will be known as a "Fleet Submarine." It will displace 1300 tons, which means that it will be twice the size of any existing submarine now in commission.

The aim of the naval authorities in calling for bids for this distinctive type of under-water craft is to obtain a sea-keeping, fast-going submarine of high speed and great defensive power. It must be able to accompany the American battleship fleet.

Bids for the new fleet submarine will be opened at the Navy Department on December 15.

The cost will be about $1,250,000. It is to have a cruising radius of 3500 or 4000 knots and a surface speed of 21 knots and more than 15 knots speed when navigating under water. It will have double the surface speed and nearly three times the under-water speed of those previously authorized for the American or any foreign navy.

MILLIONS NOW THOUSANDS

Supposed Vast Estate of "Cotton King" Shows Great Shrinkage.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 6.—An inventory of the estate of William Perry Brown, known as the "Cotton King," filed in the civil District Court here shows he was worth only $68,000 at the time of his death. It was generally supposed that he possessed great wealth, and his estate was estimated at from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000.

The only real estate shown in the inventory is the home here, appraised at $70,000. It was believed to have been $1,000,000. The cash totals less than $5000, and is distributed among New York and New Orleans banks. Much of the remainder of the estate consists of stocks and bonds of various corporations, many of them local.

In his spectacular career Mr. Brown made huge fortunes and lost them almost as quickly as he acquired them.

The accident occurred in the Cadwader Park section of the city and one of the men was killed instantly, the other dying in an ambulance while being hurried to a hospital. The men likely were from Pennsylvania, as the tie of one bore the words "Edward W. Phillips, Norristown, Pa."

WARSHIP SUNK BY TURK FIRE FROM COAST

Allied Fleets Lose Battleship in Bombardment of Dardanelles Forts—Ten Turkish Vessels Wrecked by Russians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 6.—It is officially announced that one of the Allied warships bombarding the Turkish fortifications at the western entrance of the Dardanelles has been sunk.

The Russian Admiralty today announced that 10 Turkish and German vessels carrying coal for the Ottoman navy had been sunk in the Black Sea off the northern coast of Asiatic Turkey by Russian warships.

The War Office at the same time issued a statement declaring that the Russian troops of Transcaucasia, continuing their advance in Turkish territory, were approaching Erzerum, the principal city of Turkish Armenia.

Advance of the Russians toward Erzerum is being led by the Cossacks, who are clearing the country of the Turkish troops to permit the advance of infantry and artillery. To capture Erzerum it will be necessary to bring up heavy guns, as the city is defended by modern fortifications. The Turkish troops concentrated at Erzerum are said to be under command of German officers.

The newspapers here proudly comment on the wonderful 20 hours' march in the Caucasus by a Russian column of all three armies over mountain passes covered with snow. The Russian front extends over a hundred miles.

The most important fighting is expected to take place near Erzerum, Turkish Armenia, where the Turks are concentrating. Military experts estimate the total strength of the Turks at 90,000 men with from 35 to 40 batteries, 200 guns, 25 to 40 squadrons of regular cavalry and 25,000 Kurdish irregulars. A part of this army probably will be detached to defend the Black Sea littoral, leaving from two to two and one-half army corps in Erzerum. It is stated that General Liman von Sanders, of the Prussian cavalry, is in command.

The Moscow Armenians are appealing to their fellow countrymen in Russia for volunteers for the Russian army and for funds for medical detachments. They also are requesting aid for refugees.

It is feared here that there will be atrocities by a Russian column of 10,000 men if they occur they will be the last, as a new sun will soon arise over Mr. Ararat and a new life will dawn for the Armenian people.

TURKS SEIZE 35 SHIPS OF FOES IN HARBOR

Shelling of Russian Port, Batoum, Announced.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.

An official dispatch from Constantinople states that the Turkish fleet has bombarded the Russian port of Batoum on the Black Sea and caused great damage. Batoum is the chief Russian port of Transcaucasia, which was used by Turkey to Russia in 1913.

Turkish naval authorities have seized in the harbor of Constantinople 25 French vessels, eight Russian vessels and one Belgian battleship.

The dispatch adds: "The British fleet bombarding the forts at the entrance to the Dardanelles fired 25 shots without causing any serious damage. On the contrary, the Turkish forts, firing only 10 shots, hit an ironclad. The shell caused an explosion on the vessel."

"At Aivali, Asia Minor, a British steamship was sunk. The Russians have begun to reinforce their positions on the frontier, but were completely repulsed from Kara Kilissa and in the Jaghan region."

The following official statement was made today: "In Egypt, the English have abandoned the Arabian Gulf and have withdrawn across the Suez Canal."

The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung has sent the following dispatch to his paper: "The Turkish fleet attacked and destroyed a Cossack battalion on the Russo-Turkish frontier, near Orduka, and then crossed the frontier, taking up a strong position in Russian territory."

"The Russians are now strengthening their positions near the frontier, but have been repulsed completely from the Karakilissa and Techa districts."

"During the bombardment at the entrance to the Dardanelles, the hostile fleet fired 30 shells without causing material damage. Our forts fired only tea shots."
