B.Trd :

January 18, 1908. An effort to have the sury to send orders to the various com-will and eight codicils admitted to probate was resisted by Taber Ashton, a first cousin of the decedent and a beneficiary. He contended that Miss Taber did not normens adequate mental capacity to execute a will disposing of her prop-

HAD BEEN DECLARED INSANE. Evidence introduced at the hearings before the Register of Wills showed that in 1887 Miss Taber had been declared by the Court of Common Pleas to be insane and had been for a time under restraint in was 60 meters away. The bullets whistled the Friends' Asylum at Frankford and about his ears, and the shrapnet later in the Pennsylvania Hospital for But he the Insane in West Philadelphia. Later a yard from him and inflicted a mortal she was given her freedom and, accord-wound. The ambulance party saw him fall and rushed out to bring him in. He ing to the evidence, she had been under no restraint or supervision from that time until her death

It was contended that Miss Taber was eccentric and insure on the subject of religion. The Register of Wills finally granted a precept to the Common Pleas jury. Exceptions to the decision of the Register shifted the action to the Or-phane' Court.

Litigation continued there, until recently a compromise was effected among the litigants. Common Pleas Court No. I then directed a verdict and that judgment be entered which made possible the probating of the will, which was done today. Letters testamentary have been granted to the Girard Trust Company, which is named executor in the will case.

The Second Relief Ship to the Starving Belgians Must Sail Next Week—Funds Are Urgently Needed

The Norwegian Steamship "Orn" has been secured for the purpose of carrying food to stricken Belgium, and will be chartered by the same citizen of Philadelphia who supplied the "Thelma" now already on her voyage.

The "Orn" is expected to arrive in Philadelphia this coming Saturday and

She Must Sail Next Tuesday or Wednesday

The 15,000 Philadelphians who have already given of their little or of their much to this good work—they all have our salutations.

But to more than 1,000,000 Philadelphians

And to All of Pennsylvania appeal is made for help in this urgent time when every hour lost may mean lives lost.

A large sum of money is yet needed to fill up the ship with a cargo of such nourishing food as ought to be sent

The whole great State of PENNSYLVANIA, now about to celebrate a Thanksgiving for peace and plenty, is expected to contribute.

Send checks or money orders for any amount, great or small, made out to the Philadelphia National Bank for the Belgium Food Ship.

Or come to the Food Ship Headquarters, in the Lincoln Building, at Broad Street and South Penn Square-where more than $40,000 was collected in a single day—and see the work that is going on there. Samples of the food supplies are shown -you can see just what your money can buy.

For $6.40 you can send a barrel of flour.

For 5c you can send enough beans to provide a nourishing meal. For 10c you can more than send a can of condensed milk to a starving baby, or a can of soup for its mother.

The Need Is Urgent-the Ship Cannot Wait

It is expected that she will be at her dock at the foot of Dock Street by the end of this week, with an empty hold, waiting for her cargo.

It is for PHILADELPHIA and the STATE OF PENNSYL-VANIA to say just how soon she can start on her errand of mercy.

This is the Thanksgiving Ship

Let her get away before one of us sits down to our Thanksgiving dinner.
