JOE BUSH VS. JOHNSON PROBABLE OPPONENTS IN BALL GAME TODAY

Athletics Playing Better Brand of Ball on Eve of Departure for West. Shawkey in Fine Form. Test of Mettle.

Either Joe Bush or Wyckoff will face the Senators today in the final home game of the Athletics. After today's battle the Athletics depart for the West, where they will play for almost three weeks.

The exhibition by Shawkey yesterday was most encouraging. If he can retain that form for the usually rough first Western trip, as Wyckoff has shown fine form in his last two starts, with Bush and Pennington coming in to pitch, which is a mark for Washington in the first game of the series, but he has pitched well to date and can be depended upon.

The others of the team looked much better yesterday than it has to date. The great improvement in Lajoie's finger and all around work was a noticeable feature.

For Washington the peerless Walter Johnson will be asked to twirl, and with today's indication of a dark, cloudy day, the famous speed king is likely to be mighty hard to hit.

PENN CREW IN RACE AT PRINCETON TODAY

Quaker Oarsmen Show Great Form in Final Practice for Triangular Meet. PRINCETON, N. J., May 8.—A short row yesterday finished the work of the three crews who will take part in the triangular regatta at Princeton today.

The work of the Pennsylvania crew was the feature of the day. They showed a big improvement over Thursday's form.

The race on the picturesque Carnegie Lake is practically a championship contest, though not in the same class as the New London and Poughkeepsie regattas.

The Quakers, too, won from Annapolis, but not in the fast time the Tigris made.

The manager of the East Spruce Professionals has May 15 and 22 and June 19 on his schedule and is desirous of arranging games with such teams as Riverton, Collingswood, Cape May, J. R. Bell Company, and teams of this calibre.

The West Spruce A. C. of West Philadelphia would like to hear from all 14, 15- and 16-year-old teams, home or away, paying one-half expenses for ten men.

CHALMERS TO PITCH IN BROOKLYN TODAY

Moran Expected to Have Regular Line-up in Last Game with Dodgers. BROOKLYN, May 8.—While the postponement of yesterday's game was a relief to Manager Robinson, of Brooklyn, whose pitchers are in poor shape, it was no means displeasing to Manager Moran, as Pat figures that the day's rest will be a good thing for his staff, which has been under too much of a strain since the season started.

Moran believes that the slump of his team is at an end and looks for a winning streak, now that his pitchers will be back in their old working order.

There is no telling whom Robinson will promise to give the nod to today, but "Wheeler" Dell.
