

NANCY WYNNE CHATS ABOUT A NUMBER OF SOCIAL EVENTS

The Coming Benefit at the Broad Street Theatre Next Week Is a Matter of Interest to Lovers of Dumb Animals—Other Things

"HEDDA GABLER," the well-known play, will be given on Thursday afternoon, March 23, at the Broad Street Theatre by a specially selected New York company with Erna Archer as Hedda.

The cause or benefit for which the play is to be given is to aid the "Blue Cross Fund." Many of us have never heard of this fund, and it is very interesting to learn that a number of the nobles of England have taken up the cause of the poor suffering cavalry horses. The end and object of the fund is to help horses in war time. It is called primarily "Our Dumb Friends League," and the Right Honorable the Earl of Londale is the president. Lady Darnley-Dorrien is president of the London branch, at 58 Victoria street, S. W. Mr. Arthur J. Coke is secretary, and Miss Euphrosyne Matland is the honorable secretary for New York and Miss Alice Halvey is interested in the movement here. Miss Halvey through her own efforts has already collected several hundred dollars from among her friends. To me it seems a great charity to provide a little comfort for the poor animals, whose sufferings are not among the least of the horrors of this awful war. Let us hope, therefore that a great many will attend the performance next week, which will be an excellent one without doubt.

With the first Sunday of Lent there was a general exodus Atlantic Cityward for the week-end, and the Boardwalk on Sunday and even Monday was densely populated. I wonder if there is any other place in the world quite like Atlantic City, and greatly doubt if there is.

I met Browning Clement, Timmy Thompson and Young Heyward Myers on the Boardwalk. They were staying at the Traymore, and so were the Ned Robinsons. The Bertram Lippincotts and their guests, Colonel George W. Goethals and Mrs. Goethals, were among the week-enders, though they returned to town yesterday, when Mrs. Lippincott entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Goethals.

The Hamilton Dictionaries were down town and young Jacob, Jr., joined them on Sunday. Others whom I saw on the promenade were Mrs. Franklin Pepper, Mr. William Pepper, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Royal, Mr. Charles West Bailey, Mrs. Howard Ellison and Miss Mary Biddle, of Riverton.

The Women Writers' Club had a most interesting evening last night at their headquarters, 1210 Locust street, when Lillian Russell came from her performance at Keith's and addressed the members, for Lillian, you know, considers herself as much of a woman writer as she is an actress. Having indicated a number of beauty articles in various women's pages, she ought to know, and most interesting was her talk. Miss M. L. Diehl, president of the club, introduced the great Lillian with a few well-chosen words. A most interested audience listened to her as she told of some of her hard experiences in her limited way. At the next meeting these ingenious women writers will appear in a movie written by one of their members and, judging from former performances of the kind, it will be some movie, believe me.

MR. VANDERBILT TO JUDGE AT HORSE SHOW

Other Noted Experts on Horses Will Take Part in Indoor Show

Added interest will be given to the Philadelphia Indoor Horse Show, to be held on April 27, 28 and 29, by the presence again this season of Mr. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Mr. H. K. Bloodgood, of New York, who will pass upon the merits of horses in harness and breeding horses.

The show will be held at the 3d Regiment Armory, Broad and Federal streets. Dr. Charles S. Turnbull, who is known as a Shetland pony judge in addition to his prominence as a specialist, will judge the small pony class; Mr. Charles Wheeler, of Bryn Mawr, will preside in the pony polo classes, while Mr. Frank H. Caven and Mr. Thomas J. Collins will judge the merits of the contestants in the roadster classes.

To the many horse lovers in and about Philadelphia, and in no section of the country are there more numerous and noted stables, the fact that Mr. R. Penn Smith, of Stratford, will manage the indoor show will be received as welcome news. It is conceded that to have him as master of the indoor show is a great success from the start. His ability to have the different classes run off with clocklike precision is well known, and the fact that he will have charge of the indoor horse show ring again this year is a subject of much congratulation among those who have entered or who intend to enter their horses in this event.
