What America Demands of Carranza Government

The United States, through Chief of Staff Scott, will make these proposals to the de facto Government of Mexico regarding the Villa pursuit:

First. No immediate withdrawal of our troops from Mexico. Second. General Carranza must show a stronger and more efficient cooperation with American commanders.

Third. He must guarantee this country every facility of transportation controlled by him.

Fourth. No dead line must be put on the progress of our troops where it is deemed unnecessary by our officers.

Fifth. Carranza must make a conscientious effort to capture Villa and put down outlaws.

In return for these concessions, Generals Scott and Funston will give General Obregon the following assurances:

First. During occupancy the United States will war only on open foes of this country.

Second. Operations will be confined to the capture of Villa, suppression of banditry, protection of American interests and prevention of border depredations.

Third. No needless invasion of Mexican territory.

Fourth. Final withdrawal of all American forces when General Carranza has shown that he is complete master of the situation...

All American military activity in Mexico was confined today to shortening and strengthening the line of supplies.

Details of the hard riding by the American detachments in the height of the Villa chase continue to be received. Thirty-two troopers in Major Howze's column lost their mounts, hard riding wearing out the horses.

LITTLE GIRL SAVES FAMILY

Carries Out Children, Rouses Parents, Then Sounds Fire Alarm

Fourteen-year-old Sophia Ribner proved herself a heroine on three different occasions when fire was discovered in the home of her father, Abraham Ribner, 3931 Pennagrove street, early today.

The girl not only discovered the fire, which started in a storeroom on the second floor, but, regardless of the dense smoke, she carried her two brothers, Leonard, 2 years old, and Edward, aged 3, safely to the street.

Sophia then roused her parents and aged grandfather and then ran two blocks to turn in an alarm. The damage was estimated at $400.

POLICE FIND MISSING GIRL

Only 17, She Ran Away With Man From "Somewhere in New York"

Dorothy Landon, 17 years old and very pretty, of 1114 Cortelyou road, Flatbush, is being held by the police as a runaway, awaiting the arrival of her mother.

Dorothy claims she "flirted" with a "good looking" fellow in Jay avenue, Brooklyn, on Monday morning and decided to accompany him to Philadelphia.

Last night the Flatbush girl was seen wandering around Broad Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad with a Havre de Grace race-track tag on her coat.

Two city detectives engaged her in conversation and she told the story of her running away from home.

"The only thing I'm afraid of is to meet mother," she told the police. "I wrote and told her I was married and it isn't so. I surely want to go home." She said the man who took her to the races was Jack Morris, from "somewhere in New York."

Tomorrow! One Thousand Five Hundred Suits $15!

A great hue and cry has been raised in the public prints about the sharply advancing cost of woolens, of dyestuffs, of trimmings and of everything that goes to make up a man's suit of clothes.

We, as manufacturers and retailers of good clothing, sensed this coming condition months ago, and since it is the business of every good merchant to protect his customer's purse as well as his own, we set out to do just that thing.

How well we have succeeded we are ready to demonstrate with—

MEXICAN, FORMER RESIDENT HERE, LEADS NEW REVOLT

EL PASO, TEX., April 25.—While Carranza officials today pointed to the reopening of Parral and Magistral mines next week as an indication of returning normal conditions, at least three revolutionary movements were under way today.

General Eduardo Roquer, formerly of Philadelphia, is reported to have crossed into Mexico east of El Paso to start a new revolution. Obregon, who recently invaded Mexico, was said to be heading for Ojinaga.

It is believed here that many of the revolutionary agents are working for Diaz, and that they are receiving money from interests that own large oil properties in Mexico.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS, KILLED IN CLASH, BURIED AT PARRAL

COLUMBUS, N. M., April 25.—America's soldier dead lie in Mexican soil. The two troopers killed at Parral in the clash with Carranza's troops have been buried there and their bodies will not be disinterred unless their relatives demand of the War Department that they be sent "back home."

VILLA PLOT TO CAPTURE CHIHUAHUA NIPPED IN BUD

EL PASO, TEX., April 25.—Overthrow of the Carranza government in Chihuahua, seizure of all stocks of goods and manufacturing plants and the murder of all foreigners planned by Villa sympathizers, were to have been the first acts in an uprising which Carranza officials discovered yesterday, according to private advice received here.

The plot was the second discovered in Chihuahua within 10 days. The first, nipped by the arrest of 65 plotters and the execution of the ringleader, was believed to be a Diaz-Clintifico movement planned in El Paso and part of a general plot to seize Northern Mexico.

Advice from Chihuahua today said that many arrests were being made and that many executions will follow. It is believed that the men who have stirred the movement to revolt are not in the city, but have been working through secret agents and correspondents.
