Si Dice che Egli Ispeziona le Linee Italiane per la Progettata Offensiva degli Austriaci

I RUSSI VERSO BAGDAD

ROMA, 2 Maggio. Il generale Cadorna si è recato nel Trentino per ispezionare le linee italiane su quella fronte di battaglia.

Si dice che il viaggio di Cadorna nel Trentino è in relazione con la progettata offensiva primaverile da parte dell'Austria.

La giornata del Primo Maggio è passata molto tranquilla in Italia, quasi senza alcuna celebrazione.

Giunge notizia dalla fronte di battaglia della Macedonia che l'esercito bulgaro è stato accerchiato da nuove formazioni messe insieme con elementi turchi, macedoni, greci, serbi, rumeni ed ebrei.

Mentre i tedeschi hanno attaccato inutilmente per ben quattro volte le linee francesi davanti a Verdun, si apprendono ottime notizie dalla Macedonia.

SENATE MAY APPROVE HOUSE PHILIPPINE BILL

Leaders Think Larger Degree of Self-Government Is Better Than Nothing

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Senate leaders said today they probably would approve the House Philippine bill.

The important section of the Senate measure, granting independence in four years, was defeated late last night when 30 Democrats, led by Fitzgerald and Conroy, of New York, joined the Republican minority.

"I am not coming back to Congress," said Manuel L. Quezon, Philippine delegate to Congress today.

"What does America's declaration that no man ought to rule another man amount to? If Abraham Lincoln were here today, he would be bewildered.

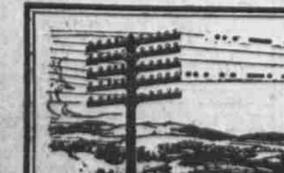

"Have you confidence that the Philippines could exist as a sovereign nation against the aggressions of other great countries?" he was asked by Representative Shammess in the last night.

"As much as the 12 American colonies, with 3,000,000 inhabitants, had when they started out as a nation," Quezon answered.

TURK TRANSPORT SUNK Several Lives Lost in the Sinking of British Mine Sweeper

LONDON, May 2. The armed yacht Aegus, which the Admiralty last night announced had been sunk in the Mediterranean by a mine with the loss of six men, was formerly the Erin, the yacht of Sir Thomas Lipton.

The Swedish steamship Fridland, a Belgian relief ship, has met with disaster and is sinking, according to an announcement issued by Lloyd's. The first report gave no details.

The Fridland recently sailed from the United States for European ports. It is a ship of 4960 tons, hailing from Gothenburg, and was built in 1910.

The mine-sweeper Nasturium was sunk by mines in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty stated today. Seven of the crew perished.

The Brazilian steamship Rio Branco, 2220 tons, has been sunk. The British steamship Rochester City, 1225 tons, has also been sunk.

The Turkish transport Chirketi Hairie has been sunk off Rodosto in the Sea of Marmora by a British submarine. It was announced at Salonica today.

What is strength in steel files? Steel filing equipment needs something more than steel plates to make it smooth-working and durable.

Library Bureau cabinets have the strength and rigidity which assure perfect operation under the toughest conditions.

In the great L. B. factories, in Ilion, N. Y., heavy sheet steel is wrought into what are known as "channel sides" (an exclusive L. B. feature), to which the case slides are electrically spot-welded.

Drawers and slides are formed to stand the burden of constant usage. The new L. B. ball-bearing progressive slide carries the drawer as smoothly as a toboggan goes down hill.

TWO RUSSIAN ARMIES SWEEPING ON BAGDAD DRIVE TURKS' FORCES

Brief Statement From Petrograd War Office Reveals Objective of Grand Duke's March Through Persia

KUT MAY BE REVERSED

PETROGRAD, May 2.—A Russian army is now approaching Bagdad and has repulsed Turkish forces thrown out to oppose it.

For the first time Bagdad is mentioned in the official statement as an objective of one of the Russian armies, which made its way into Turkey through the mountain passes beyond Kermanshah, in Persia.

Another Russian army is advancing on Diarbekr, with the probable intention of taking Aleppo and reaching the Mediterranean.

The statement, which was issued last night, reads as follows: On the Caucasus front, in the direction of Diarbekr, we repulsed the Turks.

PETROGRAD REJOICING. The announcement that Russian troops are continuing their victorious march toward Bagdad aroused greater enthusiasm here than did the news of the fall of Erzerum and Trebizond.

The surrender of the British force at Kut-el-Amara caused deep regret here, as it is believed the Russians would have been able to relieve General Townshend.

The Turkish troops that besieged Kut-el-Amara can now be in the defense of Bagdad, but Russian military authorities are confident that the opposition will not be strong enough to check the advance of Grand Duke Nicholas.

The hardest part of the Grand Duke's task was accomplished, according to military experts, when his troops crossed the northern range south and southwest of Bitlis. It is rumored that Diarbekr has been occupied.

The brief announcement from the Russian capital, when taken in connection with Sunday's bulletin, which stated that a Turkish offensive "near Diarbekr" had been repulsed, shows that the Russian forces are sweeping on toward two objectives of their great offensive in Asia Minor.

The force which is now battling toward Diarbekr is probably part of the army that took Bitlis on March 2, and has since been moving westward on the way to the coast.

The Turkish offensive "near Diarbekr" had been repulsed, shows that the Russian forces are sweeping on toward two objectives of their great offensive in Asia Minor.

The reference to Bagdad in the Petrograd bulletin is likewise significant. It may indicate that the southernmost Russian army, the one which overran Northern Persia, has forced the pass into Turkish territory, and is moving southward to gain the famous city which Townshend with his British Tigris army nearly reached, only to be compelled to retreat.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE ON BAGDAD

Two columns of the Czar's troops are marching on the principal city of Mesopotamia. One body, advancing from Persia, is near the important center of Kermanshah.

ADJUNCTS OF POPULAR CONCERT POPULAR, BUT "POP" WASN'T THERE

First-Nighters Were Noticeably Absent at Opening Performance, Although New Features Added to Gaiety of Free-and-Easy Entertainment

"Pop" and "mom," compositely, didn't endanger the Academy of Music by overcrowding that ancient structure when the "Pop" concert week popped open last night.

The nearest approach to showing the popularity of the popular concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra was the occasional popping of a soft drink bottle's cork.

You see, it had all the elements that should go to make for popularity, did this first of the series of "pop" concerts. There was the splendid Philadelphia Orchestra, there was the popular Thaddeus Ritch as conductor, there were the first floor seats of the academy boarded over and the entrancing cafe tables scattered about the length and breadth, match box and ash receiver on each table, there were negro servitors with soft-soled shoes prancing about and anxious to serve you with a sandwich at 15 cents, a plate of soup at 10, a salad, coffee or as much of any kind of soft drink as you could guzzle.

There were Japanese girls in kimonos bearing trays of cigars and cigarettes, just fairly begging you to smoke and enjoy yourself while the orchestra was playing. And all this for the merest handful of people, both on the table-studded floor proper and in parquet circle and balcony and galleries. Yet the refreshments were surprisingly reasonable in price and the highest price seat—one at a table—was a dollar. The cheapest seat, in the gallery, was 25 cents. There were only a few hundred people scattered about the whole house.

MISS FAAS' SOLO. Chicken sandwiches and saraparilla had the call with cigarettes, while Mildred Paas sang the aria, "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark." The intricate passages of this song were soared over in lark-like style by the soloist, who made the flutist flout mightily to accompany her in this difficult reproduction of the throaty trills of a lark.

Overheard in the foyer after it was all over: Stout woman in green waist! "It was just splendid, terribly enjoyable, I should observe. And when you get your after-theatre supper before the show is over it saves so much time and enables one to get ever so much more sleep. I am going to tell all my friends. The concert is all this week, you know. There's one to-night, and then on Wednesday that dear bushy-headed Victor Herbert is going to be here as a guest conductor and the program is all his own stuff. Really, it will be quite an event. And it's so considerate of the men not to smoke any vile-smelling pipes. I think it was just perfectly grand."

1000 HARD COAL MINERS MEET TO ACT ON SCALE COMMITTEE'S REPORT

Delegates From the Wyoming, Hazleton and Schuylkill and Shamokin Districts Assemble at Pottsville

PEACE PROSPECT GOOD

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—Pursuant to the call issued by President White and his associate leaders on the United Mine Workers of America, at New York, on April 21 last, upwards of 1000 delegates of the locals of that organization in anthracite coal fields convened here today to act upon the report of the Scale Committee appointed at the tri-district convention of the union, which met at Wilkes-Barre, September 7 last.

In the absence of International President John P. White, the convention was called to order at 10:15 o'clock by President John T. Dempsey, of the First District. John M. Mack, of the same district, was made permanent secretary. The secretaries of the three districts were made the Committee on Credentials, and two members of each of the three districts were appointed the Committee on Rules.

The latter committee will fix the hours of convening and the hours of adjourning and other details of the schedule of the proceedings of the convention.

The convention adjourned to 2 o'clock, awaiting the arrival of President White. President James Matthews, of this district, evidently expressed the opinion of the presidents of the districts, and also of others of them who took part in the conferences at New York with the operators, when he said today that "it will take at least four days before all of the sections of the agreement can be ratified. I cannot see how anything but ratification can take place. I believe we will have peace, and I think I can predict it."

The convention is made up of representatives of the three districts of the anthracite region. These districts are known as No. 1, of the Wyoming region; No. 7, the Hazleton district, and No. 9, the Schuylkill and Shamokin district. These districts include Schuylkill, Dauphin, Carbon, Columbia, Northumberland, Luzerne, Lackawanna and Sullivan counties. The coal field covers an area of 100 miles from Carbondale south to Pottsville, and from Summit Hill to Lykens, 50 miles west.
