

NANCY WYNNE CHATS ABOUT THE VARIOUS DOINGS AT RESORTS

Coast from New England Down to Jersey Teeming With Philadelphians—The Latter Held a Prominent Part in Newport Parade Independence Day

BELIEVE me, it was some parade on the Fourth at Newport. Never before have I heard of women of society walking in a five-mile pageant to show their patriotism. Of course, many of them have walked in the suffrage parades, but there are not a very great number of society women who are suffragists as yet; that belongs more to the working woman, be she in the social ranks or otherwise, though many of her sisters not of the world of toil see the help that such a law might be. And on the other hand, there are many who do not see that suffrage would be a help; and so it goes.

However, suffrage was not the question at Newport on the Fourth when Mrs. Clarence Dolan, Mrs. Craig Biddle, Miss Pauline Distant, Mrs. Joseph M. Gazam and Miss Olivia M. De B. Gazam walked in the pageant to show their great love of their country. Of course, there were numerous New York women, but equally, of course, we are more interested in our own from the Quaker City. And, by the way, they had a parade down at Cape May, too. I suppose this is the way of celebrating a safe and sane Fourth, and certainly it is better far than having half of one's family maimed and hurt by fireworks which go off unexpectedly.

Prizes were given at Cape May for the motor decorated in the most novel way. Most of the cottages are fast filling up down there and all the old-timers have returned. The McCabe girls, Margaret and Mary, are there, and, of course, Mrs. Porter Cape. Cape May would not be Cape May without her.

There seems to be a certainty almost that a certain handsome member of the 1st City Troop, one of many brothers, too, I understand, and a certain charming girl who lives on the Main Line, and that not very far from town, will very soon if not at once announce their engagement, though members of the two families both declare it is not true, but somehow the principals in these affairs are apt to settle things for themselves, don't you think? The girl in question is very pretty, with fair hair and blue eyes. She is an only daughter, I understand. Can you guess who it is? For, seriously speaking, I think it's a go.

Every day the system exercised in the Pennsylvania Women's Division for National Preparedness perfects itself, and yesterday Mrs. Drexel, who, by the way, is quite ill at her home in Bryn Mawr, received word at noon that Battalion B, of the New York National Guard, would reach this city at 1 o'clock that day. Mrs. Drexel communicated with Mrs. Henry Coxe, who immediately got into communication with various women, and with the aid of willing hands and automobiles in one hour's time they were all there at the station and all those men were fed with sandwiches, coffee, oranges and chocolate, and tobacco was given them as they went on their way rejoicing. The women also took a number of messages from the men for relatives in this city. Among those who rushed in, in their cars, and gave such efficient service were Mrs. Langdon Mitchell, Mrs. Tom Robins, Mrs. Henry Boyer, Mrs. Bob Strawbridge, Mrs. W. Atlee Burpee, Eleanor Hopkins, Jeannetta Lee and several others. It goes to show how splendidly the work has advanced; that a whole battalion of soldiers can be fed and aided in every possible way in an hour's time. All praise to these good women who give of their time and money to the cause of home and country.

SUMMER GIRL NOW TAKES HER DIP IN SURF SANS HOSIERY

Fair Bathers at Shore Resort Adopt the Sock—Gleanings of Interest From Chelsea—New England Resort News

ATLANTIC CITY, July 6.—The beach stunts threatened early in the season to cast aside hosiery when the warm weather came, and despite the warnings of the powers that be they have done so. So generally has the custom of bathing without hosiery become that the life guards have given up all effort to persuade the devotees of the surf to put on stockings. Coy maidens are wearing booties or half hosiery, sometimes in pastel tints like those the kiddies wear, but more often black socks. Ultra-modish bathing girls have adopted Buster Brown bathing suits, made with bloomers and belted jackets.

Chelsea seems like a suburb of Philadelphia, there are so many residents of the Quaker City there. Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarence Miller, Mr. E. C. Miller, Jr., Miss Doris Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Finkenauer and Mr. E. S. Finkenauer motored down for the Fourth. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shaw also came down in their car, as did Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Schoenheit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Strawbridge and their family, who have been in Chelsea for several weeks, returned home on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith, Miss Cecily Smith and Miss Elizabeth Hughes are prolonging their stay in Chelsea. Miss Julie E. Montgomery is at the Chelsea Hotel with Miss Helen Monmonier, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Samuel H. Cramp and her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Freed, are here for the summer. The Chelsea colony also includes Mr. L. Fuller Parsley, of Ardmore; Mrs. C. J. Scott, of Coatesville; Mr. William Clayton Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gibbs, Miss Catherine Gibbs, of Ardmore; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Irving, Mrs. T. E. Clyde, of Chester; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Durham and Miss Katherine Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves H. Isaard have issued cards for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ella Marie Isaard, to Mr. Lawrence Eugene Morier, of Columbus, O., on Tuesday, July 18, at 12 o'clock, at 107 South Amherst avenue, Ventnor.

CAPE MAY, July 6.—Philadelphia's attractive set is being well represented here during the season. There have been numerous house parties and every day more cottages are opened and more people arrive to fill up the hotels. Miss Marion Hutchinson Butten, a debutante of last season, is the guest of Miss Louisa Sinnickson Grey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Grey.

Dr. R. Walter Starr, Jr., gave a dinner on the Fourth at the Corinthian Yacht Club. His guests were Miss Helen Davids, Miss Mary Eastwick, Miss Marie Starr, Miss Dorothy Wilson, Mr. Frank Rogers and Mr. Harry Sullivan. Another dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Campbell, among whose guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Hallowell, Miss Mildred Buck, Miss Edith Montgomery, Miss Dora Weston, Mr. Montague and Mr. Andrews. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph L. Tafel and their family are registered at the New Stockton Villa, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson are also guests at the villa, which fronts on the beach.

Mr. Hugh L. Willoughby, Jr., of Wynnewood, has returned to town after having spent several days here. Miss Dorothea Oberetter has returned to her home in Haverford from a short stay here. Dr. "Bob" Torrey, of gridiron fame, has arrived; also Mr. Arthur Maria, Miss Agnes Spencer is visiting friends.

Among the new members of the Corinthian Yacht Club are Dr. Wirt L. Thomsen, Mr. Harlan G. Scott, Mr. Joseph McCall, whose boat Errol is in the harbor; Mr. Samuel Crozer, Mr. L. A. Yerkes, Mr. Henry W. Reed and Mr. F. D. Stovell. Mrs. David Young, of Germantown, and Alfred S. Weill, of Chestnut Hill, spent yesterday here. Mr. and Mrs. E. Spencer Miller, 3d, are occupying their cottage as usual, as are Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Patton. Mr. Howard Dunn, of Germantown, is spending several days here.

Plans are under way for a dance to be held tomorrow evening at the Corinthian Yacht Club. JAMESTOWN, R. I., July 6.—A series of Sunday night concerts were begun at the Bay View Hotel this week. Among those who did not josh were Adam A. N. E. Mason and Miss Mason, Mr. Joseph Du Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Tighe, Mrs. A. T. Getz, Mrs. Ephraim Brice, Mrs. E. O. Shakespeare, and her son, Mr. E. D. Shakespeare, Jr., Mrs. Charles Francis Bochman and Mrs. Edward Bowman Leaf. The Jamestown Casino held its opening ball on Saturday, July 1, and several hun-
