

MILLIONS OF SPECKLED BEAUTIES ARE BORN IN THIS LUXURIOUS HATCHERY, THE TROUT FARM OF COLONEL HENRY C. TREXLER, MILLIONAIRE RESIDENT AND BENEFACITOR OF ALLENTOWN, NEAR WHICH CITY IT IS SITUATED

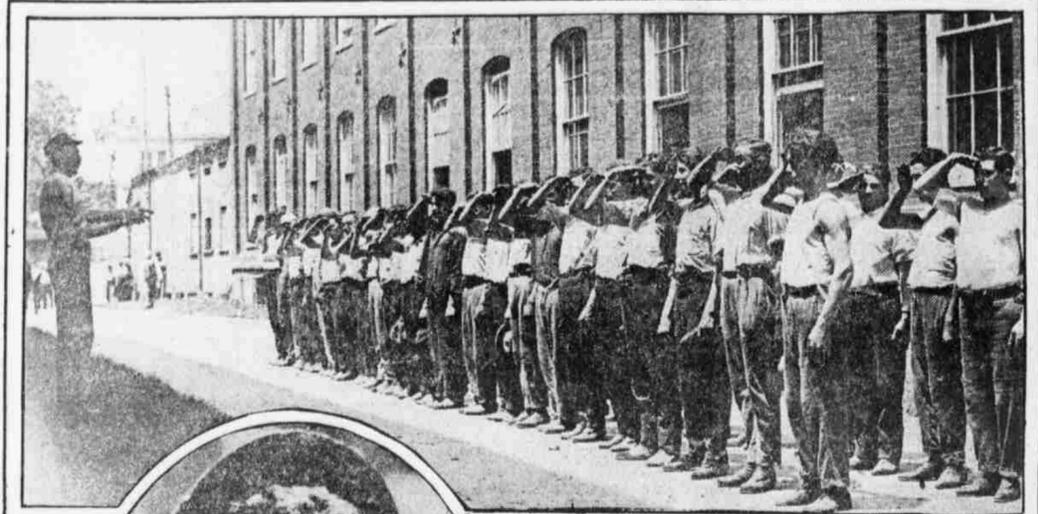

WITH ALACRITY GREATER THAN WHEN RISING TO THE FLY DO THE EVER-HUNGRY TROUT RESPOND TO THE FREQUENT "DINNER CALLS" AT THE TREXLER FARM

MUSICAL DIRECTOR AT REVIVIFIED WOODSIDE
G. Rodia is leader of the Imperial Band which is entertaining patrons of the phoenix-like pleasure park.

War Preparation and Amusement
Mingle in Pictorial Medley

SACRIFICE LUNCH HOUR TO PATRIOTISM
Workmen at the Griswold Worsted Mills, Darby, have organized a military company and drill every day during the noon intermission.

Captain Ettore Egidi, a former corporal in the Italian army, commands the Griswold Volunteers.

Mrs. Thomas Potter's model workroom for the Red Cross at 1417 Walnut street.

Manager Moran's next "call to the colors" may re-enlist Baumgartner, a former Phillie twirler, now with the Chester team.

THE FIRST STEP TO CLEAN STREETS IS FAR OFF HERE
A glimpse of a house front in southern Philadelphia which seems to be deleted from the "war map" of the Highway and Street-Cleaning Bureau.

MONUMENT TO A HERO OF VERA CRUZ
Though not yet formally unveiled, the memorial to Charles Allen Smith, which is to grace McPherson Square, is here exposed to public view.

IT'S NOT HIS FAULT HE CANNOT GO TO WAR
Joseph Burk, of 2525 Pine street, continually asks his parents to permit him to enlist. The fact that he is only six years old may, in some degree, inspire their refusal.