U. S. Forces in France En-train for Departure to New Camp

BALL GAMES GALORE

A FRENCH PORT, July 8. America's first expeditionary army in France was entraining today for the trip to its new camp close to the battlefront.

Major General Sibert was an enthusiastic as his Sammees over the change, which will now bring the Americans close to where there is fighting. The troops themselves celebrated as they clambered aboard the trains. Many of the American officers left slightly in advance of the troops themselves.

All the townspeople here have turned out to cheer the Sammees' departure. Yesterday there were ball games galore. Hundreds of French townspeople watched the games curiously from the field.

SUPPRESSION OF PAPERS AROUSES SOCIALISTS

Meyer London Demands Congress Get Information as to Reasons

WASHINGTON, July 8. A score of radical periodicals have been suppressed temporarily or permanently by the Government since the beginning of war with Germany. The suppression has been accomplished through powers conferred on the Postoffice Department in the espionage bill signed by the President, June 15.

Among the publications suppressed, the best known are the Masses, edited by Max Eastman, formerly a member of the faculty of Columbia University; the American Socialist, a weekly newspaper, edited and owned by the Socialist party; the Appeal to Reason, published at Girard, Kan., and the Blast, organ of the anarchists.

Most of the publications suppressed have waged a bitter fight for the repeal of the censorship law. Under the espionage act the Postoffice Department may declare to be undesirable matter any articles "intended to interfere with the success of the military or naval forces of the United States or to promote the success of its enemies."

Socialist headquarters in Washington declare that more than fifty socialist newspapers have been indicted or are being held awaiting indictment for violation of the espionage act.

Meyer London, representative of the Socialist party in Congress, was preparing today to ask unanimous consent for a twenty-minute address on the suppression of newspapers. He then to introduce a resolution calling upon Postmaster General Burleson for this information:

The names and places of publications of all periodicals temporarily withheld or permanently excluded from the mails since June 1.

The specific articles or parts of articles that have been the cause of such exclusion. The sections of the espionage act upon which such exclusion is based.

ARGENTINA SURE BREAK MUST COME

Officials Regard Severance of Relations With Germany as Certain

RESENT U. S. SUGGESTION

BUENOS AIRES, July 8. Argentine officials regard a break with Germany as inevitable.

From high officials today it was learned that the government does not expect Germany to agree to Argentina's demand that Germany promise no further sinkings of Argentine ships. If this promise is not made, it is certain the republic will immediately announce a severance of relations.

While Argentina thus hovers on the brink of a diplomatic rupture, the greatest irritation is manifest here over reports from the United States that South America's first necessity is to oust German spies.

Latin-Americans insist that the activity of German agents here does not exceed and very probably does not even equal the work they are doing in North America. Although no officials will discuss the matter for publication, it is privately hinted that the United States would do well to clean its own house before suggesting that other nations do similar work within their own borders.

Asks Police to Find Missing Daughter

When eighteen-year-old Anna Luciana disappeared from her home, 566 Jefferson avenue, Camden, on June 30, leaving a note on the kitchen table saying, "Don't worry about me, I am married," her father, Joseph Luciana, thought it a joke and did not worry or make any public commotion. But today he thought the reasonable time for the job had reached its limit, and he asked the Camden police to assist in locating his daughter.

SULLA FRONTE ITALIANA

Lettera al Ministero della Guerra italiana pubblicava il seguente rapporto del Generale Cadorna circa la situazione alla fronte Italo-austriaca.

Nell'alta Valtellina sabato notte il nemico tentò di catturare uno dei nostri posti avanzati. Esso fu arrestato dal violento ed efficace fuoco delle nostre artiglierie e quindi ricacciato indietro da un nostro contrattacco.

Sul rimanente della fronte di battaglia l'artiglieria è stata più attiva specialmente sul Vofee dove il nemico concentrò improvvisamente il suo fuoco sulle nostre posizioni. Le nostre batterie risposero violentemente ed efficacemente.

Un pomeriggio di ieri una nostra grossa squadriglia di macchine Caproni, pesante da sessantotto tonnellate, volò sopra Idria. Nonostante il violento fuoco delle artiglierie austriache i nostri aviatori lasciarono cadere due tonnellate e mezzo di olio esplosivo sulle miniere di mercurio esercitate dalle numerose artiglierie austriache incendiò e danneggiò una volta compiuta la difficile missione. I nostri aviatori fecero ritorno alle loro basi senza danni e senza aver sofferto alcuna perdita.

Durante una battaglia aerea svoltasi sul Carso i nostri aviatori abbatterono tre macchine nemiche, due delle quali cadde dentro il nostro campo mentre la terza precipitava nelle linee nemiche.

Come noto le miniere di mercurio di Idria sono, dopo quelle di Alameda in Spagna, le più ricche del mondo.

Un telegramma da Zurigo dice che il presidente del Consiglio austriaco, dr. Seydler, ha avuto diverse conferenze con i leaders parlamentari circa la formazione di un comitato di ventidue deputati che sarebbero incaricati di tracciare una nuova costituzione per l'Austria. Intanto il Reichsrath ha rifiutato di approvare un progetto di legge governativo col quale si tentava di abolire la giuria popolare. Questo rifiuto è considerato come un atto di sfiducia verso l'imperatore.

ESPORTAZIONE PROIBITA

WASHINGTON, 9 Luglio.—Avendo il governo americano appreso che la Germania si riforniva di viveri e di materiali pregiati per le sue fabbriche di armi e di munizioni attraverso i paesi neutrali a cui giungevano le esportazioni americane, il presidente Wilson ha emanato un proclama proibente completamente le esportazioni senza uno speciale permesso da parte del governo. Un caso di questi rifornimenti si ha con la Svezia da cui negli ultimi due anni la Germania ha importato ferro per circa 9 milioni di tonnellate oltre ad una grande quantità di altri prodotti necessari alla produzione di armi e munizioni, fabbricazione delle munizioni e delle armi.
