

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Poverty of Little Children Who Live So Near the Rich Ones Saddens Nancy Wynne—Several Engagements Prove of Interest

AROUND this time of year how every one thinks of the poor little tads who, if it were not for the kind thought of many who give, would go without any Christmas! And have you ever noticed the generosity of the poor among themselves? I was talking recently to Mrs. Oliver Curtis, who, with her sister, Ruth Flynn Thompson, takes care of so many little poor kiddies through the Santa Claus Club of the Ledger. She told me she had received so many really pathetic letters and, too, such generous ones. One little boy wrote that he is ten years old and he has four brothers and four sisters, and laboriously gives each one's name and age, and then asks for what each one of the eight wants, and, bless your heart, the little dear never once says what he himself would like to have from Santa. She showed me the letter, and it was just one sample of the appeals these two girls, who love the little ones so much, receive every day for a month at least before Christmas. And there's so much giving this year for so many things, it may be that they will not have as much sent in to the club. I hope this will not be the case, for an appeal like this little boy's would be hard to have to refuse, would it not? He says: "Elizabeth wants a doll and a coach and a pair of shoes; and Evelyn wants a pair of shoes and a coat; and Mario wants a pair of rubbers; and May wants a doll and dishes; and John wants an overcoat and pair of shoes, and Edward a bicycle and pair of shoes; and Francis wants a cowboy's suit and a pair of shoes; and Joseph wants a rocky horse." Then he adds: "Please send my mother a basket. She is sick and can't buy us anything this Christmas. So if you don't come it will be a sad Christmas to us. Good-by, dear old Santa."

body's nose this very minute. She's very artistic. Can you guess?

HAVE you heard that Drexel Steel has enlisted in the aviation signal corps of the United States army? Well, he has, and he's now on his way to the training camp at San Antonio, Tex.

Social Activities

Mrs. C. Emory McMichael is giving a small dinner at her home, 2041 Walnut street, this evening in honor of her daughter, Miss Ellen McMichael, who is home for the holidays from Foxcroft, Va., where she attends school.

Miss Leta Livingston Sullivan, daughter of Mrs. James Sullivan, has returned to her home, 2100 Walnut street, from visiting in New York, where she was extensively entertained.

Miss Estelle Jean Hochman is visiting Miss Dorothy Johnson, daughter of Adair Mason and Mrs. Mason, of Washington, D. C. Hochman will return to her home, 2018 Locust street, tomorrow.

Mrs. D. H. Hastings and her daughter, Miss Sarah Hastings, have returned to their home in Bellefonte from visiting Mrs. John I. Rogers, of 2241 St. James place. Miss Hastings' marriage to Captain Samuel Fleming, of Harrisburg, will take place in Bellefonte on January 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Hullett Debarat and their small son, of Montreal, will arrive tomorrow to spend the holiday season with Mrs. Debarat sister, Mrs. John I. Rogers, of 2201 St. James place.

Mrs. Edmund H. Rogers, who has been staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Hazleton Mirkel, will leave today for Charlotte, N. C., to join her husband, Lieutenant Rogers, who has been stationed there since receiving his commission in the second officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe.

Mrs. Joseph Fetzell, of 2209 De Lancy place, will entertain at dinner on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. David Pearson 3d, of Rosemont, have named their young daughter, born on Thanksgiving Day, Charlotte Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Runco, of 427 West Brinburn street, Germantown, and Miss Elsie Gilbert Luck, of their daughter, Penelope, of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Penneck, of Lansdowne, Pa. Mr. Penneck is in France the first of the year with the reconstruction unit from Cornell.

Mrs. Francis D. Ellis and her small son, Master Orwyn Ellis, of the Buckingham Apartments, West Philadelphia, are in Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, for a short stay.

COMMUNITY TREE AT THE FALLS Reception on Sunday for Bible Class Men Who Return From Camps for Christmas

Mrs. Elizabeth Dobson Aitkens, of the citizens' committee of the Falls of Schuylkill, is preparing for a large community Christmas tree for the soldiers and sailors from the Falls who will have short furloughs to celebrate Christmas with their families. Red and blue electric bulbs will be used with all the usual and glitter of Christmas tree decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Gehring Harkness, of Ridge avenue, will give a dinner on Christmas Eve at their home. The decorations will be holly berries and Christmas greens. There will be twelve guests.

Sergeant Joseph Woffindin, formerly of Queen lane, was one of the selected men sent to France. His brother, Lieutenant N. D. Finlay, of Camp Hancock, Ga., will spend Christmas with his aunt, Mrs. E. Woffindin Riddle.

A reception for the men of the James S. Swartz family class of the Falls Baptist Church who will return from the camps for the Christmas holidays will be held on Sunday afternoon. There will be a distribution of gifts and an unfurling of the service flag. The Rev. Charles L. Seasholes will preside.

Auxiliary 109, of the Red Cross society, which meets every Thursday afternoon and evening in the Grace Reformed Episcopal Church, Ridge avenue above Calumet, will like all groups of the association, is making a drive to increase the membership. One dollar a year and a kind heart are all that are necessary to make one a member. There are so many paths that wind and wind, while just the art of being kind is all the world needs. And surely the Red Cross society has done more than any other organization to make man feel for his brother and with him.

At the officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Mrs. M. E. Hartzel was commissioned as second lieutenant in the infantry and Mr. Mervin H. Kohler secured his commission as a second lieutenant in artillery.

Mrs. Margaret Walton, who has been visiting at her home, 2121 Locust street, of Ridge avenue, has returned to her home in Atlantic City.

Following the dedication services of the new church, St. Mary's, at the Falls, Elizabeth went to St. Mary's School, at Peckskill-on-the-Hudson, from which school she graduated in the spring of the year of her debut.

She is a granddaughter of the late Dr. D. G. Brinton, a distinguished litterateur and prominent in social circles of this city.

Young John Drexel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel, of New York, but formerly also of Philadelphia. John Drexel is a brother of George W. Childs Drexel, you know, and related to all the numerous branches of that family in this city.

Young John offered his services to his country at the outbreak of the war, but did not pass the physical examination. He has been interested in Y. M. C. A. work for several years, and when he found he was not eligible to fight for his country he turned his attention to the war work of the Y. M. C. A. and has done splendid work. He is a member of the Union, Knickerbocker, Tennis and Racquet Clubs, of New York.

No date has been announced for this wedding, either, but believe me, it won't be long before we hear something. In these days, there's no delay in marriage unless there's a very good reason.

And talking of engagements and New York people and all that, listen one moment to little Nancy, for unless she is greatly mistaken, with a large and capital M, we're hearing of another engagement soon of a girl who came out that same year as Elizabeth Thompson and who has lived a while in New York, and is wearing a dress like hers in the service.

RED CROSS DANCE AT AUTO CLUB

Many Entertainments for Younger Set in Germantown During Christmas Holidays

Another large dance will be given on Saturday evening, December 29, at the Automobile Club of Germantown for the benefit of Mount Airy Auxiliary, No. 8, of the Red Cross. This auxiliary meets every day at the ball room of Grace Church, on Gowen avenue, rolling bandages, making every kind of surgical dressing and knitting. The members sent out a great many Christmas boxes a short while ago and completed a large amount of extra bandages, for which there was such a demand last week. On Tuesday they enrolled seventy-five members for the Red Cross in their booth, which was stationed at the Matinee Musical Club. Mrs. Walter Willard had charge of this booth.

About fifty boys from the navy yard are expected at the dance, and there has been great success so far in the sale of tickets.

The committee in charge of the dance includes Mrs. Thomas H. Ball, chairman; Mrs. Harry B. Shoemaker, assistant to Mrs. Ball; Mrs. Edna Johnson and Mrs. Frank Shoble. Mrs. John Matthew Hamilton, of 225 West Herter street, is giving a buffet supper in honor of her daughter, Miss Margaret Hayes Hamilton, before the Christmas season of Mrs. Brooke's dancing class tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Harry Stuart Valentine, of 5153 Morris street, is giving a luncheon on Wednesday, January 3, at the Marlboro Cricket Club in honor of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Valentine. The guests will include Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Gertrude Dougherty, Miss Emma Marjory George, Miss Mary Whitney, Miss Elizabeth Morgan, Miss Margaret Strath-Miller, Miss Elizabeth West, Miss Elizabeth West, Miss Nancy Stoughton, Miss Emma Marjory George, Miss Mary Whitney, Miss Mona Hagar, Miss Eleanor Purviance, Miss Anna Schwartz, Miss Susan Goodman, Miss Lucille Austin and Miss Emilie Selvas.

Miss Eleanor Harris Borge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Borge, of 147 Pelham road, gave a large five hundred party at her home, Thursday afternoon. There were about forty guests.

Mrs. Walter Carl and Mrs. Harold McNeal, of Boston, will spend Christmas with their father, Mr. Samuel H. Bowen, of 4477 Wayne avenue. Mrs. Walter Carl was Miss Sue Kingsley Bowen before her marriage, and Mrs. Harold McNeal will be remembered as Miss Virginia Bowen.

Mrs. Edna Prime Goodell, of 9 School House lane, Germantown, will give a party tomorrow evening for the young people who were at Pocomo Lake, New Jersey, last summer. The party will be given at her home, 2121 Locust street, on Thursday evening, December 27, in honor of her daughter, Miss Mary Francis Shaw.

Miss Marjorie Shaw will return from Dana Hall, Boston, this week to spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Shaw, of 6214 Wayne avenue.

WOMEN TO TRAIN FOR WAR WORK

Proposition Made to Use Vassar College as Training School for War Nurses

Last summer showed a great change in the use of the holidays by many of the college universities. Harvard was virtually a navy training station, the Yale bowl was turned into a military camp and the students were trained all through the summer. Now it is proposed that Vassar College will be used for war purposes next summer. A committee of trustees has been appointed to work out a scheme for a school for the intensive training of students to enter hospitals to become registered nurses. A committee on nursing from the Council of National Defense will co-operate in this project.

It is proposed also to hold a summer conference of Red Cross home service workers and to establish a normal institute under the offices of the American Red Cross.

At the suggestion of the students' association the work of the college on the college farm may be continued for another year, with these students organized and allowed to live in dormitories.

Miss Louise P. Sheppard, associate warden, has been lent by Vassar to the Red Cross, to be in charge of the college farm. This organization, conducted by representatives of American colleges, supplies trained men and women to Government offices and war industries.

Wedding of Army Man Took Place Wednesday

The marriage of Miss Mary Dougherty and Sergeant Walter O'Donnell took place at high noon on Wednesday at the Episcopal Catholic Church, Cedar street and Lehigh avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Hughes.

The bride was attended by Miss Jane H. O'Donnell, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Samuel Dougherty, brother of the bride, was best man.

Several Entertainments Given During This Week

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McEnery, of East Price street, Germantown, entertained an automobile party at luncheon at Stanton's on Tuesday. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Carroll, Mrs. Stanley J. Sullivan and Miss Katharine Sullivan.

Mrs. Esther Horn, of Wakefield street, gave a dinner, followed by bridge, on Wednesday evening at her home. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James F. McCrudden and Miss Anna M. Vincent.

ENTERTAINMENT BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Cantata and Several Solos to Be Given This Evening for Patriotic Fund

An unusually attractive entertainment will be given this evening by the pupils of the Richardson L. Wright School, Eleventh and Venango streets, in aid of their patriotic work in connection with the needs of the Red Cross. The program, in charge of Miss Laura M. Fuller and Miss Helen M. Kruger, will include a cantata, cantata, "Frosty Santa"; a vocal solo by Miss Gladys Towse and a violin solo by Miss Gladys Towse and an orchestral piece by Miss Carolyn Heise. The cast of the cantata includes: Santa, Albert Franco; Jack Frost, James Lomax; Postman, Carl Brooks; Queen, Miss Carolyn Heise, and Miss Mary, Miss Helen Grantlund. There will be a chorus of fifty voices. The children are clever impersonators and "Frosty Santa" is bound to please.

SORORITY LUNCHEON AT KUGLER'S

Newly Organized Troop of Boy Scouts Helps With the Red Cross Drive in Connection With North Philadelphia Church

Just a few entertainments are being given before Christmas, but a number of important affairs will lighten the gloom of the holiday week that must necessarily be felt in many homes where the soldier or sailor cannot get home to celebrate. The members of the Sigma Phi Society will give their annual luncheon on Saturday, December 29, at Kugler's, Fifteenth and Chestnut streets. Miss Annabel Crozier will be toastmistress.

Last Saturday Miss Madeline Conahan, of 4230 North Wernon street, gave a luncheon for the members at her home. Her guests were Mrs. Walter Smith, Miss Cora Rogers, Miss Annabel Crozier, Miss Helen Barclay, Mrs. Harry Edgar Donohoe, Miss Edith Arnold, Miss Gertrude Curry and Miss Alma Donald.

Mrs. William S. Duffield will entertain on Thursday afternoon of Christmas week at her home, 2619 North Eighteenth street. Her guests will include Mrs. William Savill, Mrs. Carolyn Wright, Mrs. Harry Palmer, Mrs. William Myer, Mrs. Harry Palmer, Mrs. William Myer, Mrs. Edward Haeblen, Mrs. Thomas Patton, Mrs. Alfred Bracher, Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. William Stevenson.

The members of the Red Cross Auxiliary, No. 241, who meet in the Lehigh Avenue Baptist Church, Twelfth street and Lehigh avenue, Monday evenings and all day Wednesday, have planned a special drive for new members. The people today are concerned with the war, and each church and community is intensely interested in its own soldiers and sailors.

On the first Sunday in the new year a special patriotic service will be held in the Lehigh Avenue Baptist Church, when a letter from each man on the honor roll will be read. The relatives of the service men will be the special guests of the congregation. The Red Cross members and the Boy Scouts will attend in their uniforms. The pastor, the Rev. John V. Eillon, will speak on "The Call of the Colors" and the national music will be in charge of the choir and the Bible school band.

The honor roll includes Mr. Homer Matthews, Mr. Robert G. Kelly, Mr. Elmer Reddy, Mr. Gilbert Dool, Sergeant Malcolm Orr, Mrs. Marion Bowers, Mr. William Reese, Mr. Karlson MacLain, Corporal Winter Frost, Mr. Charles Barry, Mr. Dix Powers, Mr. Roy Lester, Mr. Arthur Mitchell, Mr. John Allan, Mr. Joseph Allan, Mr. Lawrence Allan (three brothers), Mr. Joseph Pulcino, Captain W. S. Schuler, of the medical corps; Lieutenant T. S. Standeven, Mr. Theodore Lyon, Mr. William Clayton, Mr. David Fairchild and Mr. William Boardman.

Miss Mabel Hancock, of 2907 North Park avenue, entertained the teachers of the advanced departments of the Grace Reformed Sunday school on Monday evening at her home.

Mrs. J. Lewis Martin has promised a merit stripe to each Girl Scout who secures thirty new members for the National Red Cross Society. All over the city these bright young girls are working with the Red Cross Auxiliary of their community for the great drive. One thousand of them in their natty uniforms will march in the parade on Saturday.

BRILLIANT BALL GIVEN IN ALABAMA

Cities that are situated near training camps have more of the joyous side of the war spirit than there can be here, when so many of our own soldiers are away and unable to get back even for the Christmas holidays. In Montgomery, Ala., the officers from Camp Sheridan can come into town for dances and entertainments, and there was a brilliant ante-bellum ball given there recently by the Cradle of the Confederacy Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. The city auditorium, which was the scene of the affair, was handsomely decorated with United States flags and flags of the Allies. The grand march was led by Governor Charles Henderson, assisted by "The First Lady of the State." The assisting couple were Lieutenant Stanton Hertz and Miss Claire Hertz. A unique feature of the march was that without exception every girl's escort was a soldier.

There were many old and beautiful costumes worn, and the days of our grandmothers were truly revived. Perhaps the oldest costume at the ball and one of great interest because of its historic connections was that worn by Miss Elsie Rutledge Smith. The gown was of heavy white satin, hand-painted in rich red roses. It belonged to Miss Smith's great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Daniel Horry, who was a French Huguenot and came over on the same vessel from France with Chief Justice and Mrs. John Jay. Mrs. Horry and Mrs. Jay became close friends on this ocean voyage, and Mrs. Jay, who was quite an artist, painted the gown and presented it to her friend, Mrs. Horry. It is 165 years old and is perfectly preserved.

Another pretty costume was worn by Mrs. Russ Smith and belonged to the late Mrs. James Thomas, and was worn by her at the Polk's administration.

There was much interest and excitement in Hoboken, N. J., recently, when Miss Carolyn Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Stevens, of Maner House, Castle Point, returned to her home on a Christmas furlough of three weeks. She has driven supply auto, automobiles and ambulances for more than a year and has been under the fire of German guns on numerous occasions. Already her friends are keeping her busy telling stories of her experiences.

Miss Stevens volunteered as a worker for the American Fund for French Wounded, which recently became a subsidiary of the Red Cross Society, and she was sent to France with several other workers. She was on the western front when the German bombardment of Nancy and during the artillery engagement was under fire for many hours. On one occasion while she was attending to some children who had been overcome by German gas her ambulance was bombed by a German aviator.

She was the first woman to drive through the newly established American camp after the arrival of General Pershing's forces, from whom she received a stirring ovation. With Miss Stevens was her cousin, Mrs. Amy Lathrop, who lived at Castle Point before she went abroad.

With the arrival of Miss Stevens, whose ancestors were the first settlers of Hoboken, the family made hasty preparations for a reunion at Christmas.
