Large Rummage Sale Will Be Held in Penfield Building Thursday, Friday and Saturday of This Week. An Engagement of Interest in Various Cities

SUPPOSE you know there's to be another rummage sale at the Penfield building. It sometimes wonder what on earth we would do if that Penfield Building were to be sold. It would be a pretty low price should be rented. It would be a pretty low price should be rented. It would be a pretty low price should be rented.

William Cochran and nephew of the late Mr. Travis Cochran, of this city. Her daughter, Anne Cochran, married Henry Rittenhouse about six years ago. Mrs. Cochran's funeral took place yesterday.

A GREAT shock to the financial and social world was the death of Edward Britton Smith yesterday morning. Mr. Smith had been ill for several days, and on Saturday it became known that his condition was considered very serious and his sons were sent for, Albert, who is a captain in the army; Ned, who is in the reserves, and Jack and Geoffrey.

The sympathy of all goes out to Mrs. Smith and the four sons, for Mr. Smith was indeed a fine man, a devoted husband and father and will be sadly missed by the many who knew and appreciated his worth.

Mrs. Smith was Miss Laura Jenks. She is a daughter of Mr. John Story Jenks, of Chestnut Hill, and a sister of John Story Jenks, Jr., whose wife was Miss Isabella Morton. NANCY WYNNE.

Mrs. B. Dobson Altman is chairman of the sale, and as she has proved heretofore an efficient sale is in her engineering of several such affairs the ultimate success of the sale is an understood thing.

ITS wonderful what you can get at these rummages! At one held recently a certain bride you know and I know were wanted an odd chair or two for her living room decided to look in there, having heard that there are sometimes quite some bargains at these sales. Well, try, dear, she bought two solid mahogany chairs for $1.50 each. It's true they were covered with leather and had brass nails and that the backs had been filled in with leather. But bless you, it took her just about two days to pry the leather filling out of the backs, and she had the wood and polish it up, cover the seats with a beautiful old brocade, and behold! two graceful old-fashioned open-back mahogany chairs which would grace any living room.

That same small bride picked out some of the loveliest old glass bowls of a rich, deep amethyst glass, for which she paid something like twenty-five cents, and stood them on her tables with a tea rose and two and the effect was artistic, to say the very least.

BESIDES Mrs. Altman, the committee on the sale includes Mrs. William J. Clothier, Jr., Mrs. Edward Browning, Mrs. William L. McLean, Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Mrs. Alba Johnson, Mrs. Richard Norris, Mrs. Perry Allen, Mrs. Thomas Jackson Jeffries and Miss Blanche Ramsey.

From all I've heard about it, they will have one of the most wonderful collections yet. Why, my dears, those women have actually got a plan ready among the latest donations received. The department stores won't be in it with the sales made these three days, for the sale will go on into Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Billie Clothier and Mrs. Jeffries, the latter the smartest-looking of the five Dobson sisters for she is Mrs. Altman's eldest sister, you know, and the mother of pretty Mrs. Albert Rosengarten and Mrs. Pearson Pearce, will have a department devoted to all sorts and kinds of bric-a-brac and ornaments. Mrs. Edward Brooks, Jr., and Mrs. Aubrey Weightman will have books, Mrs. Johnson will have the lunch counter and there are to be men's and women's clothes for sale, cast-off hats, candy, flowers, jewelry and goodness knows what else. I think I'll run in early and try to avoid the rush. Maybe I can pick up a chair or a highboy or perhaps some parlor curtains or an old high hat—you never can tell.

ENGAGEMENTS crowd on us apace, don't they? Nell Ryerson, which was announced yesterday, is interesting to four different cities, in that she has lived in Chicago, Boston, New York and this city. Her engagement is announced by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, to Mr. Victor Salvatore, a noted sculptor of New York. Her mother was Emille Borie, of this city, a daughter of the late Mr. John Borie and a sister of Mrs. G. Heide Norris, Mrs. Arthur Rush, Mr. Adolph E. Borie and Miss Sophie Borie.

Nell's father was Mr. Arthur Ryerson, who was one of the brave men to go down on the Titanic that his wife and children and other men's wives and children might be saved. At that time the Ryersons were hastening home from Europe, whither they had gone in account of Mr. Ryerson's health, to attend the funeral of their son, Arthur, Jr., who had been killed in an automobile accident several days before, together with Lewis Hoffman. It was a terrible experience and Nell was one of those on the ship with her parents and, in fact, if I am not mistaken, was the daughter around whom her father wrapped his coat as she stepped into the lifeboat, as he feared she would suffer so much from the cold.

After a sad return to this city, where Nellie and Suzanne, the elder sisters, had been introduced, Mrs. Ryerson and her children went to live in Boston and then back to Chicago, where the Ryerson family has large business interests. Suzanne, after having taken a course in bacteriology, is at present in France, where her cousin, Sophie Norris, of this city, is also, but Sophie is working in the Red Cross canteen. The wedding of Nell and Mr. Salvatore will take place in Chicago on February 12.

THE news of Mrs. William Cochran's death came as a great shock to many who had not even heard that she was ill. Mrs. Cochran has been employed in one of the large department stores, where she acted as a buyer of things that are unusual and beautiful. She was to have sailed for Europe today, and though she had a very severe cold on Friday was obliged to go to the Federal Building to get her passport. The trip gave her fresh cold and pneumonia developed and her death occurred on Saturday night at her home, 2127 Sanson street. Her two sons, William, who is a lieutenant in the army, and Peyton, an ensign in the navy, were with her, as she had notified them she expected to sail for Europe today and they had obtained leave to go with her when she died. Mrs. Cochran was Miss Gertrude Cannell, of this city, a sister of Mrs. Henry Hobart Bowman, Miss Lillian Pollard, and Mrs. Pollard.

MANY TO TAKE PART IN "DR. OPTIMIST" St. Francis Junior Aid Working Hard to Make Play for Convalescent House Successful

Preparations are now well under way for the annual play and dance to be given by the St. Francis Junior Aid in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford on the evening of January 25.

Every year the members of the Junior auxiliary give a large entertainment for the benefit of St. Francis Country House for Convalescents, which is situated on Lansdowne avenue, Darby.

This year, on account of the interest which every one is taking in the many worthy war charities, the members of the Junior aid have redoubled their efforts on behalf of St. Francis House.

The big old-fashioned house at Darby is maintained solely for the purpose of restoring poor women and girls back to perfect health. Many of those who come are discharged hospital patients, others are mothers convalescing after child-birth and still others are overworked and undernourished girls from the stores and mills.

With these thoughts in mind more than 200 members of St. Francis Junior Aid are sparing no efforts to make their production of "Doctor Optimist" a most successful one.

Officers of the Junior aid are: President, Mrs. Joseph A. McDevitt; vice president, Miss Lucy Call and Miss Agnes Lewis; recording secretary, Edward Walsh; operating secretary, Miss Margaret MacDonnell; and treasurer, Miss Ruth M. Israel.

The board of managers includes Mrs. Frank E. Gowen, Mrs. Frederick A. Nathan, Mrs. John A. Donnelly, Miss Joseph Tunney, Miss Mary A. Kelly, Miss Anna Murphy, Miss Rosalie Hoban, Miss Agnes Bergen, Miss Gertrude Bachler, Miss Gertrude Zane and Miss Frances L. Sullivan.

Some of the young men who are assisting the members of St. Francis Junior Aid by taking part in the production are Mr. Jack Lynch, Mr. Charles Hoban, Mr. Harry T. Fleming, Mr. John J. Kehoe, Jr., Mr. Henry MacNeill, Mr. James K. McShane, Mr. Marshall Vaneman, Mr. Martin Glynn, Mr. Richard Sullivan, Mr. Herbert Norton, Mr. Arthur Hirt, Mr. Emerson Treacy, Mr. Kenneth Hansen, Mr. Robert Pent, Mr. Howard Pent, Mr. Walter Herold, Mr. Harry DeBonnell, Mr. Edwin Druding, Mr. James Doyle, Mr. Tom Hatten, Mr. Edward Nahill and Mr. George Gorman.

$300 FROM BENEFIT FOR FRENCH ORPHANS Dance at Philadelphia Cricket Club on Saturday Afternoon Was Successful Entertainment

The banquet which was given on Saturday at the Philadelphia Cricket Club for the benefit of some little French orphans was a wonderful success. The ballroom was crowded and the small group of girls who got the thing up as a means of raising funds for the support of these little orphans were fully repaid for their efforts by the large financial returns, which amounted to about $300.
