Philadelphia's municipal payroll of nearly $10,000,000, covering nearly 14,000 city and county employees, will undergo material changes if recommendations made by Robert M. Griffith, president of the Civil Service Commission, are approved by the politicians controlling the Councils. Griffith's plan is simply to cut out the useless places and to give the money to increase the pay of valuable and needed employees.

GRIFITH OFFERS PLAN TO INCREASE VALUED MEN BY ABOLISHING USELESS PLACES. IS SUGGESTED

Political power, built on patronage, is the radical suggestion made by Griffith, who is now in charge of vice conditions in the city. It is planned to make this change on the ground that the payroll is not new, but one temporarily abandoned as unnecessary during the Blankenburg administration.

JOHN REED HELD AS RIOT INCITER

Socialist Orator Who Defied Police Under $5000 Bail

CAPTORS ROUGHLY USED

John Reed, Socialist lecturer and war correspondent, and unofficial Bolshevik consul-general at New York, was held in $5,000 bail by Magistrate Pennock in Central Station today, charged with disorderly conduct and inciting to riot.

William Kogerman, also of New York, who says he is a shipyard worker, was held on the same charge. Both men were arrested last night at Sixteenth and Thompson streets, where a riot occurred after the police had prevented Reed from making a speech.

Reed told newspapermen, in an interview, that he had personal letters from President Wilson thanking him for reports he had made to the President on conditions existing in Mexico, previous to the trouble between United States and Mexico.

Reed refused to make a statement as to the probable effect of inflammatory speeches on the American people at this time. According to the testimony of Detective Leitner, he went to 1400 Moore street with other detectives, a found about 500 persons there. The detectives informed Reed he would not be permitted to speak and he went to a nearby corner.

HUGE LOADING DOCKS, NEW HOG ISLAND PLAN

Time to Be Saved in Sending Out Ships After Launching

In addition to being the largest shipyard in the world, Hog Island will be a huge freight terminal. By the time of the first launching in August there will be seven great outfitting docks, each 1000 feet long and 100 feet wide, from each of which cargoes will be loaded into the new ships.

The docks will face the Delaware with thirty feet of water, so that the new 7500-ton freighters, with their twenty-two feet loaded draught, can easily load alongside. This method of loading will save the confusion of delay and lighterage service necessary at so many points.

Each ship launched at the great assembly plant will be moored to one of the big outfitting docks at the island and loaded with its overseas cargo. By loading the new ships at Hog Island, the quartermaster department of the army, which has had a special committee here investigating the feasibility of the proposal, believes it can save from two to three weeks in the boats' dispatch to Europe.

The girl, who is being taken away from her home at 210 M street, Washington, Northward, May 25, to join her sweethearts here, had a very happy and successful afternoon with an anxious mother, and won the parent's consent for her to marry J. Sidney Mahood, twenty years old, a soldier at the Schuylkill Arsenal.

The Marriage License Bureau having closed for the day, the ceremony was postponed until Monday. Mrs. Mary Willcher, mother of the girl, came here today to take her home. The girl had been detained in the custody of Charles Schaefer, clerk of the Detention Bureau for Missing Persons.

The Philadelphia plant will build 18-inch guns. The Tacony Ordnance Company has been the manufacturer of 8-inch and 5.5-inch rifles. Steel companies furnishing forgings for the gun shops will also increase capacity.

An Atlantic Port, June 1. A delegation, representing the British Medical Society has arrived here to attend the American Congress of Medical Societies, which will be held in Chicago on June 10. The delegation includes Sir James Mackenzie, Sir Arthur Burt, and Colonel Herbert A. Bruce, consulting surgeon of the British army in France.

The British surgeons will tell the congress of their experiences in the war and of the problems to be met in dealing with the wounded and the health of armies. All three spoke in highest praise of the work of American surgeons and nurses at the front.

AIR MAIL SERVICE HAS NEW CHIEF

Captain C. A. Weidenfath, From French Front, Replaces Major R. H. Fleet

IMPROVEMENT PLANNED

To bring about improvement in the aerial mail route between Washington, Philadelphia and New York, and to obtain the advantage of the experience with airplanes under war conditions along the western front in France, Major R. H. Fleet, of the signal corps, has been removed as head of the service, and Captain C. A. Weidenfath, who has been three months' service in France, has been named to succeed him.

The new head of the airplane mail service went overseas last year with the first division of Americans. He was then a private, but shortly after arrival in France he was transferred to the aviation section, taking up flying. Two well-known American flyers, Lieutenant Dudley T. Campbell and Lieutenant Rickenbacher, who were also privates when the first division went to Europe, took up aviation, and they, with Weidenfath, formed a trio and were fast friends.

Captain Weidenfath gained expert practical knowledge of airplanes with the forces over seas, and it is expected that he will quickly develop the airplane mail service to a high point of efficiency. Plans are under consideration by the Post Office Department to change the northern terminal of the Washington-Philadelphia-New York air mail route from Belmont Park, Long Island, to Branchbrook, near Newark, N. J. This would facilitate the dispatch of mail to the New York postoffice.
