DR. NEIFFER HOLES OUT ON FOURTEENTH AT NOBLE IN WONDERFUL 4-BALL MATCH

Brooke Has Bird Two and Humphreys and Jim MacFarland Par Threes on Same Hole—Some Fine Golf at North Hills

By WILLIAM H. EVANS
Doctor Neiffer was the third to play, and to most of the players it looked as if his shot was a bit short. When the players reached the green there were three balls in sight, one of which was within a very short distance of the flag, but Doctor Neiffer's ball was nowhere to be seen. While the other players were looking for it, the doctor went up to the flag and there found the ball nestling in the hole.

Four Took Nine Strokes
Brooke got an easy bird and MacFarland and Humphreys went down for a par 3. Search was made to see where the ball had struck on the green, but there was no mark, and the doctor would not believe that the ball hit the flag and dropped into the hole.

But it will be a long time before another four-ball match at Huntington Valley will have a total nine strokes for that hole with an eagle, a bird and pars making it up.

Virtually nothing has been said about that 87 which won the mixed foursome at Huntington Valley, but it was probably the best score of the sort ever made at Huntington Valley and one of the lowest ever registered on any course in the Philadelphia district. It was probably the best score of the sort ever made at Huntington Valley and one of the lowest ever registered on any course in the Philadelphia district.

Remarkable Foursome Score
Selective drives were used; and as Pratt is one of the longest swatters with the wood in this part of the country he proved a great help to his partner. On the eighth hole he drove within a few feet of the brook that guards the green, Mrs. Smith in her anxiety to get nicely on the green topped the shot into the water, and it took her 11 strokes to get an easy 4 seemed possible. Here is their score:

Out 4 4 6 5 5 3 7 4 5-43
In 6 3 6 5 2 5 7 4 6-44-87

Some Golf at North Hills
At North Hills Sunday the best four-ball match that has been played there in some four years was between the Hackney Athletic club professional, partnered with Bob Greenwood, against Platt and Jim Hackney, the North Hills professional. The Hackneys made 87 and the Greenwoods had cards of 75 and Greenwood had an 80.

Playing the last nine holes, the Hackney brothers and Platt were home, and curiously enough, not one of them had a single bird or a hole over par. Every single hole was made in par figures by the three players, a most unusual experience. The Hackneys made match fall at Huntington Valley Dave Cutbert, at that time the Noble professional, played the first nine holes in par, he also not having a single bird or crow.

Can't See Green From Tee
It is about 120 yards long and can be shortened or lengthened at will, as the tee is large. Just short of the green there is a distinct rise in the ground and the face of this has been cut away or a bunker. The green itself lies in a bowl. If the ball gets a good kick you have a comparatively easy putt. But if the ball lies on any of the rises, the putt is a long and difficult one.

George Brooke, who is the old Penn star and former racquet champion of this country, shot first, and it was evident that the shot was a good one.

ARCHER IS PEGGING WITH FORMER SPEED
Released by Cubs, Veteran Backstop Is Staging Remarkable Comeback

Jimmy Archer, once the National League star catcher when he played with the Chicago Cubs, is doing a remarkable comeback stunt in Pittsburgh. Archer was released by the Cubs last year because a bunch of crippled fingers prevented him from throwing to bases with his former speed and accuracy. The veteran was panned up by the other National League clubs and retired.

Manager Beadek, of the Pirates, signed Archer to coach the pitchers this season. Archer soon proved that he could catch and throw as well as in former campaigns, with the result that he is being played in regularly, while the other Pirate catchers, Schmidt, Wagner and Fischer, are sitting on the bench.

If Archer doesn't break down there isn't a doubt that he will help the Pittsburgh pitchers and also will steady the whole team. Beadek, for his accounts, seems to be a pretty wise manager.

MISS GOSS AND MISS MOLLA BURJESTED REACH FINALS
New York, June 15.—As was the case in the final round of the recent national tennis championship, Miss Molla Bjurstedt, national outdoor, indoor and metropolitan titleholder, will meet Miss Eleanor Goss this afternoon on the turf court of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, L. I., for the women's metropolitan championship.

In the women's doubles the finalists are Miss Clara Cassel and Miss Marie Wagner and Mrs. DeForest Candee and Mrs. Theodore Goss. Miss Goss won her way into the championship bracket by impressive playing in the fourth round, defeating Miss Molla Bjurstedt, 6-2, 6-1, and in the semifinal she vanquished Miss Helene Polak by the same score. Miss Folger, who had been the upset of the tournament on Thursday by defeating Miss Marion Zinsmeister, of Boston, in three sets was a match for Miss Goss today.

Miss Bjurstedt came through to the defense of her title by defeating Mrs. Wood, former champion of Forest Hills, 7-5, the issue never being in doubt. Miss Cassel and Miss Wagner, who have won many titles during their career on the courts as doubles partners, defeated Miss Blarstedt and Miss Johanna Rogge, of Norway, in the semifinal round of the doubles, 6-3, 6-1. They play their final match today in a substantial factor in bringing victory to the Misses Cassel and Wagner.

PERRY'S CASE PEEVES MACK

Connie Says He Will Keep His Star Pitcher Out of Boston

CLEVELAND TAKES GAME
Cleveland, June 15.—Whenever Cleveland needed a hit yesterday it got a two-sacker. Whenever the Athletics needed a hit it seemed as if one of them hit into a double play with discouraging results.

On the other hand the Athletics made thirteen hits off Bob Groom and Johnny Enzman, but had the misfortune to have one left on base because of the aforementioned double play and other untoward acts by the Indians, who displayed pernicious activity in nipping careless Athletics when the latter happened to stray off one of the sacks.

Two Fielders Crippled
It might be considered however, that the Athletics did as well as might be expected with an infielder, Davidson, in right field, and Rube Oldring, a cripple, in left field. The two ban ankle and a bruised wrist, while Davidson acted as if it were the first game he ever played in the outfield. While Rube made two hits, his lack of speed caused him to hit into two double plays. Davidson misplayed one fly that went for two sacks.

Connie Mack defies the National Commission and declares he will pitch Scott Perry, his star pitcher, against the Indians Sunday, providing that Perry, who left the Athletics last season because of his father's illness, returns in time to work.

If necessary, Manager Mack may request that the National Commission be enjoined from stopping him from pitching Perry.

"I am not saying what means I will take," said Mack last evening, "but I am going to hold Perry. I will not give him up."

"There was no justice whatever in the verdict of the National Commission against me," Mack said. "I am not a member of the National Commission and I am not going to be treated as if I were."

Mack still sore
"Was it no fairness in Boston's claim to me generally when one club discovers that a player to whom it has a right has joined another club it makes its claim for said player to the National Commission at once. But the Braves did nothing of the kind. It did not want Perry. It did not want him when we picked him up. We was with us on the training trip and the Boston players saw him pitch a game at Jacksonville, so it scarcely can be said that Mr. Stallings was in ignorance that we had him. But twelve days after the season opened and Perry had pitched three good games, Boston discovers that Perry is with us and that it wants him. Is there any justice in such a claim?"

"If Boston had any right to Perry I would give him up in a minute, but it has not, and I intend to keep him." Umpire Evans and Nallin discussed at length after the game with the latest bulletin they had received from President Ben Johnson as the topic of their discussion.

The Shine Ball Up
Evans announced that he had been erroneously quoted as saying that the 'shine ball' had been put out of business by Johnson.

The true facts of the bulletin are that Johnson has his umpires to prohibit the discoloration of the ball.

"But," says Evans, "that does not give us the right to stop a pitcher using a shine or a saler ball, if he does not discolor the ball. Some pitchers use talcum powder on their hands. That is not discoloration. Some use paraffin, creosote or wax. That does not discolor it immediately, but such greasy substances color the dirt as the pitcher's hand is used, and then, of course, the ball is discolored."

GIANTS BLANK CUBS
New York, June 15.—New York raised its National League championship pennant here today by a 10-0 victory over Chicago. It gave the Yankees a double break on the series. Denmore gave Chicago only four scattered hits. Vaughn was busy for New York in the first inning, hitting five runs were scored on five hits, including a home run by Young.

JOE WELSH THE WINNER
Defeats Young Brown at Pennsgrove, N. J.
Pennsgrove, N. J., July 15.—It was a boxer against a relentless slugger in the thirteenth round. The biggest contest of the season had ensued the exponent of science won, Joe Welsh emerging victorious over Young Brown, of New York. The going was slow from start to finish.

In the semi-final also eight rounds, Mike Burns came through with a triumph over Bat Nelson, of Brooklyn, who shined and Jack Buson covered six rounds at a sizzling pace in the third encounter of the evening and at the final round he was even.

Referee Johnny Eckhardt disqualified Reddy Welsh, of Philadelphia, in the second bout for the pretence of being knocked out. Welsh's opponent was Lou Seiger.

In the opening bout Whitey Fitzgerald, of Philadelphia, trimmed Young Dundee in four fast rounds.

FOUR GOLF STARS IN RED CROSS MATCH AT MERION MONDAY; HOW TO GET THERE BY MOTOR OR CARS

The big four-ball golf match for the American Red Cross will be played on Monday over the championship east course of the Merion Cricket Club at 515 o'clock. The participants are Charles (Dick) Evans, the national amateur and open champion; Max Marston, former New Jersey champion; James Hazen, professional, western open and Philadelphia open champion; and Walter C. Hazen, open champion of the country in 1914.

The paraders will play the two professionals in a best-ball match of sixteen holes. The match was originally scheduled to be a thirty-hole affair, but owing to the fact that Evans, Hazen and Hazen are playing at Westchester, and Max Marston tomorrow it will not be possible for them to play thirty-hole holes here.

The far-seeing committee, realizing that this is no time for long practices when the men could be doing work that would aid the fight against the Kaiser, decided this year instead of having the long races that heretofore marked the event to limit the distance to one-third of a mile in order that all of the members of the different clubs might be in condition for the races without the preliminary arduous practice.

Despite the fact that the entire this year are fewer than ever, the spectators are promised one of the most exciting regattas that has ever been staged on the muddy river.

One of the features of the regatta this year will be the rowing of Carl Thomas, captain-elect of the Penn eight for next year. Thomas has entered every event, stroking four crews and rowing in the Junior Singles as a member of the United Boat Club. That Thomas is one of the best oarsmen in the country was proved some time ago when he was selected by the majority of the critics as the all-collegiate stroke for that mythical eight.

This is the first time that one person has tried to do all these things on the one day, and if Thomas can lead his clan to victory in today's races, and there are many who think that he can, it will be the first time in the history of the sport that such a thing has happened.

Wartime conditions will prevail at the sixty-fourth regatta on the Schuylkill Navy on the Schuylkill River today. The entire race might be expected, are fewer this year than ever before in the history of the regatta and the majority of the crews have seen little or no practice and are in no condition for long races.
