

THE REVENUE BILL UP TO OLD CONGRESS

$8,000,000,000 Measure Must Be Passed Before G. O. P. Takes Hold

NOW IN PRINTERS' HANDS

Republicans in Senate to Have Important Part in Other Big Bills

Washington, Nov. 7.—While legislation almost equaling in importance that enacted for the prosecution of the war must be acted upon before the present Congress, the Republicans assume control March 4 next, must dispose of several important measures.

Democratic control will be continued to Congress while these measures are being considered, but the Republicans will play a more important part in their consideration, due to the Republican gains in the Senate. The income tax bill, the Senate will report to the House immediately by the election of the Republicans for short terms to fill vacancies until March 3, 1919.

The most important measure that must be passed before the Democratic railroad control of Congress in the $8,000,000,000 revenue bill. This bill is being printed and will be reported to the Senate in about ten days, according to Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Revenue Bill Most Important The bill will not be changed so as to reduce the amount of money to be raised by taxation. The nearness of peace has caused persistent reports to the effect that the size of the bill will be cut, but this was emphatically denied by Senator Simmons.

The United States will require immense sums for months to come, and the $8,000,000,000 which it is hoped to raise through the new revenue bill is ready to be spent or contracted for for military munitions. The men who control financial legislation in Congress also declare that the bill will be passed before there is any reduction in the enormous war expenditures of the Government, and these funds must be authorized by the present Congress.

The newly elected Republican Congress will be confronted with the gigantic problem of the demobilization of the country and their return to normal activities; the future military policies of the United States; the problem of paying the $4,000,000,000 of the war debt of the country, and the problem of Government ownership of control of the railroads, the coal and telephone lines after the war.

Must Ratify Peace Treaties In conjunction with President Wilson, the new Congress must ratify the treaties of peace that will be made with Germany and her allies.

Republican leader of the Senate, will head the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations that will have charge of the treaties. The House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Senate Committee Chairman The probable important Senate committee chairmen under Republican reorganization of that body follow:

Appropriations—Warren, Wyoming. Banking and Currency—McLean, Connecticut. Commerce—Shuman, Illinois. Finance—Penrose, Pennsylvania. Interstate Commerce—Cummings, Iowa. Judiciary—Nelson, Minnesota. Military Affairs—Wadsworth, New York. Naval Affairs—Page, Vermont. Postoffices and Post Roads—Sterling, South Dakota. Railroads and Elections—Dillingham, Vermont. Railroads—Norris, Nebraska. Rules—Knox, Pennsylvania. War and Navy—Burton, Pennsylvania. Principal interest in the organization of the House centers around the Speakership.

Representative James Mann of Illinois, Republican leader of the House, is the leading selection of the Republicans for the honor. "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois and Representative Gilet of Massachusetts, present leading Republican leader, and Madden, of Illinois, are being mentioned.

Representative Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, will be Republican leader, by virtue of his position as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. He is the ranking Republican member of that body, and the chairman of the House with it the floor leadership of the House.

House Committee Chairman The House committee chairmen will be selected by the new Speaker, as they were when the Republicans last were in control. Whether the Democratic procedure of having the Ways and Means Committee report and then submit them to the Republican caucus for ratification will be followed has not been decided.

The probable important House committee chairmen under the Republican reorganization follow:

Agriculture—Haugen, Iowa. Appropriations—Gillett, Massachusetts. Banking and Currency—Hayes, California. Interstate and Foreign Commerce—Knox, Wisconsin. Judiciary—Volstead, Minnesota. Military Affairs—Kahn, California. Naval Affairs—Butler, Pennsylvania. Postoffices and Post Roads—Steenerson, Minnesota. Rivers and Harbors—Kennedy, Iowa. Rules—Cannell, Kansas. Woman Suffrage—Mondell, Wyoming.

See Validation in Defeat Homer S. Cummings, acting chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in a statement tonight said that the gains of victory made by leaders of the Republican organization have been premature. We shall hold the Senate and the House of Representatives in a regular vote throughout the country, together with the great victory in Massachusetts, New York and Ohio, indicate popular approval of the policies of the Administration.

The great reduction, almost to the vanishing point, of the large normal Republican majorities in New Jersey and Illinois is significant of the general temper of our people.

The attempt of the leaders of the Republican organization to engineer a rebuke to the President has failed.

Welcome to Beidleman Harrisburg, Nov. 7.—State Senator Beidleman, elected Lieutenant Governor, and here last evening from Philadelphia, was the recipient of a reception by his townspeople at the Pennsylvania Hotel. The plaza held several persons, and instead of being in return home, where he was expected to be placed, he was met by his townspeople at the Pennsylvania Hotel. OHIO "DRYS" WIN FIGHT BY A NARROW MARGIN

Final Majority Is Expected to Be Less Than 15,000 in State

WILLIS BEATEN BY COX

Republicans Elect Remainder of State Ticket and Lose Legislature

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—Ohio has entered the fast-growing column of States where intoxicating liquors cannot be sold or purchased.

With the reports from rural counties showing such a marked tendency toward the dry amendment, it became evident yesterday that the 30,000 lead that the wets had obtained would be overcome and predictions to this effect proved true.

With slightly less than 500 precincts out, almost all of which are located in territory which heretofore has been dry, the Prohibition forces have assumed a lead of 5851, and their leaders confidently predict the final majority will be close to 15,000.

With a little more than 350 precincts missing, Governor Cox, Democrat, has established a lead of 18,768 over his Republican opponent, Frank H. Willis, and the latter has conceded his opponent's election. Returns to the secretary of state's office, however, indicated that the State House would have a divided body, as almost the entire State Republican ticket has been elected.

The Republicans also supported their congressional nominees in a manner that punched the hopes of their leader. The Ohio delegation in Congress will consist of fourteen Republicans and eight Democrats, whereas last election thirteen Democrats and nine Republicans were elected.

While returns from the rural districts are slow, the indications point to a Democratic State Senate and House of Representatives.

Dry leaders are firm in their contentions that a majority of the men who have been elected to these two bodies will support the Federal constitutional amendment relative to prohibition. In this connection, however, a peculiar situation revealed itself at the polls when a State amendment was passed conferring upon the people the right to refer back to the people any ratification of the Federal Constitution.

DRY LEADERS ARE FIRM IN THEIR CONTENTIONS THAT A MAJORITY OF THE MEN WHO HAVE BEEN ELECTED TO THESE TWO BODIES WILL SUPPORT THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT RELATIVE TO PROHIBITION.

VOTE FOR GOVERNOR

Below will be found the return of the vote cast for Governor in Pennsylvania on Tuesday. It is in some cases complete and in others the number of districts missing is designated. The vote:

SMITH WINS BY ABOUT 10,000

Soldiers May Add Another 10,000 to New Yorkers' Plurality

New York, Nov. 7.—Alfred E. Smith has been elected Governor to succeed Charles E. Whitman.

Smith's victory was secured by a plurality of 12,381. Estimating the missing districts would give Smith a plurality of about 10,000.

The soldier vote, the size of which is variously estimated, will, it is believed, add anywhere from 5000 to 10,000 to the Smith plurality.

Harry C. Walker, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was elected over Lieutenant Governor Edward Schoenick.

For offices below Lieutenant Governor, the Republicans elected their candidates. Although the Democrats made no concessions on this tonight, it was figured at Republican State headquarters that the Smith plurality would be about 10,000.

Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State; Eugene M. Travis, Controller; James L. Wells, State Treasurer; Charles D. Newton, Attorney; and Frank M. Williams, State Engineer and Surveyor.

WOULD CONTEST EDGE'S SEAT

Nugent Declares Governor's Election to Senate Is Illegal

New York, Nov. 7.—James R. Nugent, Democratic leader of Essex County, proposes to take the case of the joy of life for Walter E. Edge, New Jersey's Republican Governor, by testing in the courts the constitutionality of Mr. Edge's election on Tuesday to the United States Senate for a term of six years.

Mr. Nugent contends that it is a violation of the New Jersey Constitution for a Governor to be elected to a State or a Federal office during his term.

Edward W. Gray, one of the Governor's rivals for the senatorial nomination, raised the same question during the primary campaign, but apparently it did not do any good.

Just prior to election Governor Edge made public the opinions of several eminent New Jersey lawyers that he was eligible to hold the office if he got it.

The Constitution says: "Nor shall he (the Governor) be elected by the Legislature to any office under the government of this State or of the United States during the term for which he shall have been elected Governor."

N. J. HOUSE LOST TO REPUBLICANS

Retain Control of Senate and Have Majority on Joint Ballot

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 7.—The Republicans lost control of the New Jersey Assembly in Tuesday's election. The Democrats elected thirty members, a gain for them of sixteen. Republicans retained control of the Senate, however, and on a joint ballot will have a majority of nine.

Prohibition will be the chief issue before the Legislature at the coming session. All the Republicans elected to the Assembly are pledged to support the national prohibition amendment, while the Democrats were elected on a "wet platform."

Latest returns indicate that Governor Edge's plurality for the United States Senate is about 23,000, while that of Mr. Baird is not more than 15,000.

The Congress fights Republicans lost the Third, Eighth, Ninth, Eleventh and Twelfth Districts, two of which, the Eighth and Ninth, are now represented by Republicans.

The result in Essex spells defeat for prohibition for another year, at least. Even though the Republicans have the House, there is virtually no chance of opposing the prohibition amendment.

The Federal Constitution next year, Republican Assemblies elected from some of the larger counties, notably Passaic, are opposed to prohibition and probably will have the united support of all the Democrats. This seems to forecast a defeat for the prohibition amendment.

Results of the election are so confusing as to make it difficult to assign any single cause for the Republican slump. In the congressional contests it seems probable that the appeal of President Wilson, coupled with the momentous happenings of the last few days in the world war, have contributed to help the Democratic candidates.

Local conditions were also against the Republicans in the Eighth and Ninth Districts, but these conditions do not explain the small majorities of Republicans elsewhere.

Washington voted for prohibition and so did Wyoming, the drys in the latter State outnumbering their opponents by nearly 2 to 1.

In majorities in Minnesota and Nevada were small, and the wets still hope remaining returns will upset them. As the wet centers are all in, however, their city in this district.

California and Colorado also rejected prohibition by decisive majorities.

50-50 FOR SUFFRAGISTS Win Two States and Lose Two. Senate Candidates Beaten

Washington, Nov. 7.—Suffragists seem to have broken even in the election, victories in Michigan and South Dakota being offset by decisive defeats in Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The result in Michigan, where the most important contest was scheduled, was in doubt until virtually all the districts were heard from. Suffrage seems to have been carried in that State by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority.

In Louisiana, the Republican candidate, South Dakota, although earlier returns left the result somewhat in doubt. Oklahoma rejected suffrage definitely and decisively, as did Louisiana.

Another blow was the rebuke administered to the two women candidates for the United States Senate—Anne Martin, in Nevada, and Jeanette Rankin, in Montana. Both ran last and far behind.

WOMEN WILL TRY AGAIN

Changes in Senate at Election Give Suffrage New Chance

Washington, Nov. 7.—With changes in the Senate membership made by Tuesday's elections, women suffrage believe there is hope for adoption of the suffrage constitutional amendment, which was defeated by the Senate October 1 last by two votes.

Of the new Senators taking their seats immediately—Clay, of Louisiana, succeeding Gurnea, and Pollock, of South Carolina, succeeding Bunker—are counted on to support the resolution their predecessors had introduced.

Possible after-election change of sentiment by other Senators also is hoped for by suffrage workers.

If deemed inadvisable to press the resolution in large present session, those favoring the resolution believe further Senate changes in the new Congress are certain to develop the requisite two-thirds vote.

Prohibition will be the chief issue before the Legislature at the coming session. All the Republicans elected to the Assembly are pledged to support the national prohibition amendment, while the Democrats were elected on a "wet platform."

CONGRESS CONTESTS

HANG ON CAMP VOTE

Soldiers' Ballots May Decide Results in Four Up-State Districts

Late returns from congressional districts in the State where fights were waged by the rival Republican and Democratic forces indicate that the soldier vote may be necessary to determine the result.

In the Sixteenth District, where Congressman John V. Lesher sought a fourth term, the result is unusually close. Lesher has a lead in the district of 147 votes over A. W. Duy, his Republican opponent, and 400 soldier votes are yet to be counted.

The Democratic State Committee contends that the bulk of the soldier vote will be Democratic. Duy carried Montour, Sullivan and Northumberland Counties by small majorities and cut down the Democratic majority in Columbia County to 1959 votes.

Former Congressman John J. Casey also is running a close race with Edward H. Carpenter in the Luzerne County district. Unofficial returns from 312 of the 323 districts give Carpenter 15,732 against 15,400. Two of the missing districts are heavily Democratic and the others were rural communities where the vote is said to have been light.

Complete unofficial returns in Lackawanna County give Patrick McLane, Democrat, 145 majority over Congressman John R. Farr, who was seeking a fifth term. The returns do not include the soldier vote, which may reduce McLane's lead considerably.

In the Greene-Payette-Somerset district, Samuel A. Clouse, Republican, has 313 majority over Congressman Bruce F. Sterling, Democrat. An official count, with the soldier vote included, may change the results materially in this district.

As the results now stand twenty-eight Republican, three Democratic and one Democratic.
