AMENDED PACT FAILS TO SUIT LONDON PRESS

Some British Newspapers See Inferiority to First Draft

London, April 14.—(By A. P.)—The summary of the amended covenant of the league of nations evokes no enthusiasm in the London morning newspapers.

The Daily News (Radical), which is a warm champion of the principle of the league, sees danger in some of its provisions. It objects to the constitution of the new council which, it says, "will manifestly be controlled by prominent representatives of the five great powers when they are in agreement."

OFFICIAL SUMMARY OF LEAGUE CONSTITUTION AS AMENDED

Paris, April 14.—The official summary of the amended covenant of the league of nations has been issued.

The summary of the amended covenant follows: "First. The league of nations is founded in order to promote international co-operation and to secure peace. The league will include: (a) The belligerent states named in a document annexed to the covenant; (b) All the neutral states so named; and (c) In the future any self-governing country whose admission is approved by two-thirds of the states already members of the league, providing it has kept its obligations to date, on giving two years' notice."

Second. The league will not through an assembly comprising not more than three representatives of each of the member States, each state having only one vote, and a council comprising for the five great powers and each of four other powers selected from time to time by the assembly.

Third. The member states agree: (a) To reduce their armaments, plans for such reduction being adopted by the council, but only adopted with the consent of the states themselves, and thereafter not to increase them without the concurrence of the council; (b) To exchange full information of their existing armies and their naval and military programs; (c) To respect each other's territory and personal independence, and to guarantee them against foreign aggression; (d) To submit all international disputes either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council, which latter, however, may not pronounce an opinion on any dispute whose subject matter falls solely within a state's domestic jurisdiction; in no case to go to war three months after an award, or an unanimous recommendation has been made, and even then not to go to war with a state which accepts the award of recommendation;

Fourth. The covenant does not affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine for securing the maintenance of peace.

Fifth. The former German colonies and the territories of the Ottoman Empire are to be administered in the interests of civilization by states which are willing to be mandatories of the league, which will exercise a general supervision.

Sixth. The member states accept certain responsibilities with regard to labor conditions, the treatment of natives, the white slave traffic, the opium traffic, the arms traffic with uncivilized and semi-civilized countries, transit and trade conditions, public health and Red Cross societies.

Seventh. The league is recognized as the central body interested in co-ordinating and assisting international activities generally.

Eighth. Amendments to the covenant require the approval of all the states on the council and a simple majority of those in the assembly. States which signify their dissent from amendments thus approved are not bound by them, but, in this case, cease to be members of the league.

Ninth. Amendments to the covenant require the approval of all the states on the council and a simple majority of those in the assembly. States which signify their dissent from amendments thus approved are not bound by them, but, in this case, cease to be members of the league.

Tenth. Amendments to the covenant require the approval of all the states on the council and a simple majority of those in the assembly. States which signify their dissent from amendments thus approved are not bound by them, but, in this case, cease to be members of the league.
