CLOTHES GO SAILING AWAY

Lucky for Two Sergeants That Abundant Foliage Was Near

Floating gently down the stream—the Delaware to be exact—are two suits of clothes belonging to police sergeants. The clothing is in a motorboat which may now be somewhere near the Atlantic. The raiment belongs to Sergeants Joseph H. Hillegas and Thomas F. Burke, of the Fourth and York streets station.

They had an afternoon off yesterday and went swimming in Rancocas creek just where it emptied into the Delaware. The motorboat with their clothes was anchored nearby.

Neither of the sergeants believe that the boat was stolen by aquatic motor bandits. They think that the tide was too strong for the anchor. At any rate the boat had entirely disappeared when they returned to their swimming base.

The men swam ashore and took shelter in trees near the water's edge. From the friendly foliage, which fortunately was abundant, they hailed a farmer who loaned the men two suits belonging to his hands. It is assumed that the clothing is in a motorboat which the captain will please send a wireless to Fourth and York streets.

Union officials claim there are still a large number of Postal telegraphers on strike. "The announcement of the Postal company that they would re-instate striking employees with continuity of service on condition that they would return to work yesterday did not meet with much enthusiasm among the strikers," said K. M. Whitten, second vice president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

MRS. OAKLEY LAYS CRUELTY TO BEER

Declares Constant Use of Alcohol Led to Atrocities by Germans

Constant use of beer by the Germans has made them cruel, according to Mrs. Imogen B. Oakley, of the Gladstone, who is prominent in civic betterment movements.

In a discussion of the subject she said that while the amount of alcohol in one glass of beer may be small, the constant use of the beverage every day for generations can hardly fail to produce an alcoholized race.

"The experience of the university students who drank beef steadily for a whole day and did not get drunk is especially interesting in the light of a recent magazine article by a Harvard professor. This professor is seeking a reasonable explanation of the cruelty of the German people—a cruelty that seems to be innate, since it has shown itself not only in the treatment of the Belgians, French and other victims of national atrocity, but in the treatment of the people accord to each other."

"We have abundant testimony of the cruelty of the army officers to their men and of the men to one another, and the high percentage of suicides among German children seems ample proof of cruelty or cruel misunderstanding in schools and families."

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON FOOD COSTS

Director Head of Mayor's Commission May Take Method of Getting Advice

ONE BIG MARKET FAVORED

Public hearings will probably be held to obtain advice and information on the reduction of the high cost of living, according to Joseph E. MacLaughlin, director of supplies and chairman of a commission named by the Mayor to study the question.

Director MacLaughlin said he had not been officially informed of his appointment and that he had not consulted the other members on the subject. He said, however, he was personally in favor of an exhaustive investigation of the problem, from the viewpoint of all classes of citizens.

"The question is such a large one," said Chairman MacLaughlin, "that a body of six men could not do all the work itself. For that reason, I am in favor of calling in farmers and merchants, real estate men, economists, housekeepers and men and women of all walks of life and ask their advice on the matter."

Philadelphia's marketing facilities are exceptionally good, but they have not been developed. The enlargement of the port and the development of the Belt Line will decrease the economic distance between the consumer and the farmer. It will be the business of the commission to devise ways and means of accomplishing this purpose.

HELD AS BOLSHEVIST AGENT

Immigration Authorities Hold Army Man Who Arrived on Ohioan

Julian Sabaloska, who returned on the transport Ohioan, which docked at Snyder avenue today, is being held at Gloucester on advice received from immigration authorities of Bordeaux. Sabaloska enlisted in the American government transport service for forty in foreign waters and is believed to have seen much service on the other side. The government authorities at Gloucester are awaiting further information from Bordeaux. It is believed that Sabaloska, depending on the seriousness of the charges of the foreign agents, will probably be deported.

It may be significant that 'Buttermilk Day' follows the probably purple night of June the thirteenth, 'Buttermilk Day' has been proclaimed by the United States Department of Agriculture.

A department bulletin, after praising the nutritive properties of buttermilk, says: 'Buttermilk Day' will remind many people of this drink, introduce it to others and be the beginning of a greater consumption of buttermilk that will contribute to the health and happiness of the country.

While straight buttermilk is an excellent drink, there are a number of delicious combinations, and as buttermilk lemonade.

ARSENAL WILL WORK ON PEACE-TIME BASIS

Appropriation Increased to $1,600,000 Following Workmen's Appeal to Senator Knox

FEW MEN ARE DISCHARGED

The Frankford Arsenal will continue business at its usual peace-time rate. As a result of the visit to Washington of a committee of fifteen workmen from the local institution the appropriation of $200,000 for the maintenance of the arsenal for next year, the passage of which would have necessitated the closing of the arsenal, was increased to $1,600,000, which will enable it to continue.

The change in appropriation came as a result of the direct intervention of Senator Philander C. Knox, who heard the appeal of the workers and interested himself in their behalf.

When informed of the appropriation Colonel Wallace J. Clay, head of the arsenal, said it was "good news."

"It will enable us to keep our old organization intact, and that's what we want," Colonel Clay said. "The House bill appropriating only $200,000 for Frankford would have ruined our organization."

"We have plans for developing a number of small arms and our idea is to manufacture the new types and build up a reserve. As you know Frankford Arsenal was one of the leading arms manufacturing plants maintained by the government during the war. We furnished all the ammunition for the air service. This ammunition had to be of an exceedingly fine make to meet the exacting requirements."

"The arsenal is one-third over strength now and will gradually go back to a normal, peace-time basis."

Senator Knox was induced to interest himself in behalf of Frankford after a visit from a committee of workmen from the arsenal who said that without at least a million dollars the arsenal must close and a government factory over one hundred years old would be abandoned.
