ARRESTS MAY END WOOL THEFTS HERE

Men Caught Robbing Baltimore Warehouse Believed to Be Philadelphia Gang

CONFESSION IS CLAIMED

Activities of wool thieves, who have stolen more than $200,000 worth of woolen cloth in this city this year, are expected to be broken up by the arrest of four Philadelphians in Baltimore.

The men were placed under arrest while removing $10,000 worth of woolens from a warehouse in that city to a truck for transportation here.

A confession obtained from one of the men is expected to lead to the recovery of much of the cloth stolen here and the arrest of some of the men who took part in the robberies. The hands have made a specialty of high-class tailoring establishments and woolen mills. In almost every case the cloth was carried away in automobiles.

The men under arrest gave their names as Rubin Lazaroff, Max Levin, William C. Hessler and Abe Miller. Another man, Joseph Cohen, who said his home was in Newark, N. J., also was arrested.

Lazaroff is said to have made a confession to the Baltimore police. He was arrested while directing the loading of $10,000 worth of cloth from the warehouse of the Rotholz Company into a motortruck Saturday night.

He and the other men put up a fight before submitting to arrest.

Miller is a teamster, with offices in North Lawrence street. Hessler, the chauffeur, is believed to be an employe of Miller, who says he and his truck were hired by Lazaroff to haul some cloth from Baltimore to Philadelphia. Lazaroff having told him he was moving his tailoring shop from that city to this.

The Philadelphia Detective Bureau has been apprised of the arrests in Baltimore, and detectives are investigating the stories told by the Philadelphians under arrest.

Mrs. Miller had received no word of the arrest of her husband until this morning. When asked where he was, she said he had gone to Baltimore on a business trip with his truck. She did not know just when he would return, she said.

SAYS CHRIST IS NEGLECTED

Minister Sees Big Buildings as Temples Reared for Mammon

Standing on the site of the proposed Protestant Episcopal Cathedral at Twenty-third street and the Parkway yesterday, the Rev. Samuel Booth, curate of the Diocesan Church of St. Mary, waved his hand toward the group of skyscrapers around City Hall and told a large congregation at an open-air service that, judging from its buildings, Philadelphia honors Mammon rather than Jesus Christ.

"What are the monuments that stand out over there?" asked the clergyman. "They are monuments to the ingenuity of man in commercial enterprises. They are tributes to man's ability in business and the professions. But what of Christ?"

Starting This Morning in spite of the Continued Tightness of the Woolen Market

Our Semi-Annual REDUCTION SALE of Spring & Summer Suits

Not one of which we can replace today with equal quality merchandise to sell at their low Original Prices!

Here are the facts in a nutshell—

Prices are advancing instead of falling! These Suits were already big values at their original prices! There are no finer clothes made anywhere regardless of what they sell for!

In spite of these established facts—

$65 Suits are Reduced! $60 Suits are Reduced! $55 Suits are Reduced! $50 Suits are Reduced! $45 Suits are Reduced! $40 Suits are Reduced! $35 Suits are Reduced! $30 Suits are Reduced! $25 Suits are Reduced!

Everybody was sure six months ago that all prices were going to toboggan. But the expected didn't happen. Instead of going down, prices are going up; instead of costing us less, every Suit that comes into our store is costing us more. And that is true of everything else from houses to hoe handles—with no relief in sight!

Yet, in spite of that prevailing condition, we have gone through our Spring and Summer Stocks with the pruning knife of general reductions applied to merchandise that will cost us more to replace than these clothes cost us. The reason is that no matter what happens, our cycle of business must go on just the same.

And so, not to disappoint the thousands of men who look for Perry Reductions about this time of year, we give them an opportunity to get the finest clothes made at less than the low, regular prices they sold for all season long. It is another chance to take time by the forelock and safeguard yourself now against the advances which are as sure as sunrise on the Suits of next season.

Sale starts this morning at 9 o'clock! Closed at 5 P. M.

LINDE LOCATION SAVES CUSTOMERS $100,000.00 YEARLY

LINDE SQUARE DEAL August Sale of Furniture

LINDE PRICES ALWAYS GUARANTEED BELOW ALL OTHERS

The four corners of this business are built squarely upon Highest Quality, Lowest Prices, Location Saving and Volume. From all of these angles the customers' interest stands out first and foremost. The Square Deal Store must put patrons before profits.

This is a time when the Square Deal looms big for the homemaker. The profiteer is abroad in the land. Unfortunately for all of us, he lurks behind the mask of patriotism and stalks in the shadow of good citizenship. While within the law, perhaps, he smiles and smirks and sends his prices up and up until the burden is almost too much for us to bear.

Beware of Profiteers in August Sales

The Linde Store makes its prices upon the cost of goods at the time they were bought by us, not the present market value. We have been buying for six months ahead, knowing full well that the furniture trade would this summer face a serious shortage of materials and labor. And our prices to you are based upon what we paid, although there have been three to five advances since then.

Sure enough, the crisis is here. The factories are all sold out and will be running on present orders into next spring. Some of the stores were caught short of stocks and didn't know until a few days ago whether they could have an August Furniture Sale this year.

Imagine what kind of values they will give their customers, in spite of all the high-minded talk indulged in!

The Linde Store's price is always based upon the first price, and is never boosted up because general prices are rising. Linde Store quality is always the pinnacle of dependability and appearance. Linde assortments surpass anything in Philadelphia for variety and extent. Linde Savings exceed those of any other store in the country selling furniture. You can readily prove this by comparison. Don't, under any circumstances, buy until you compare the Linde stocks with those of the leading stores.

LINDE QUALITY INSURES ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION AT ALL TIMES

This Store Will Be Open Monday, Wednesday and Friday Evenings until 10 o'clock for the convenience of those who cannot possibly come during the day; but PLEASE NOTE that we are so crowded with customers in the evening that unless you come early, we shall be unable to show you as prompt attention as we should like.
