President of Body Says It Hopes for Their Exposure and Punishment

DOUBTS TENANTS' FIGURES

Profiteering landlords were denounced and the hope of their early punishment expressed today by William C. Benkert, president of the Philadelphia real estate board.

Mr. Benkert differs with the report made to Governor Spraul that there are approximately 5000 untenanted houses in Philadelphia. Isaac L. S. Smink, president of the Forty-eighth Ward Tenants' Protective Association, made the report while urging an appeal for help from the state.

"The number is greatly exaggerated," Mr. Benkert said. "I would certainly know about it if there were anywhere near that number of untenanted houses available."

"I do not know just how Governor Spraul can see the state's law enforcement agents at work to punish the profiteers, as he has promised," Mr. Benkert added. "But I do hope they can be reached and properly punished."

Italians Use Airplanes to Raid Capri Gamblers

Naples, Sept. 13.—The Italian police raided a fashionable gambling den on the island of Capri from the air, descending in seaplanes in the darkness and hoodwinking employees of the gambling houses who were watching the principals, male and female.

SEES HIDDEN PLAN IN ALLIED DEMAND

Writer of German Constitution Says Entente Aims to Discredit Infant Republic

FAVORS AUSTRIAN UNION

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Delayed.)—Dr. Hugo Preuss, who drafted the new German constitution recently promulgated at Weimar, in a statement today to the Associated Press severely criticized the demand made by the peace conference that Germany must amend the constitution so as to prevent Austrian representation in German parliamentary affairs.

"I must emphasize first," he said, "that this is not a question of law. Legally it is clear that the way in which our opponents brought up the matter shows they are following entirely different purposes than the clearing up of doubtful legal questions."

In Article 178 of the new German constitution is the clause: "The terms of the treaty of peace signed at Versailles will not be affected by this constitution." This excludes any practical collision between the peace terms and the constitution.

"I do not believe in the opinion which is current among Germans that the status of the Entente and America are such as to argue and justify the demand for amendment to be drawn into a planless and purposeless policy."

"Materially the union of Austria to Germany would mean a severe burden on Germany. It would, however, be of great value and would be of wonderful importance to the young German democracy, as it would bring about a unity which historic statescraft and Prussian weapons failed to accomplish."

"When the peace terms were formulated, the German people established their republic. We knew at that time that with this peace instrument in hand the Entente could discredit the German republic. The German-Austrian question is the first indication of such an intent, but it probably will not be the last."

"In the meantime this policy runs counter to all the solemn declarations of President Wilson and the Entente—that should not mean much, for after our experiences since last November the value of these declarations has been sunk deeper than German values."

"It was stipulated in the first response that the German democratic republic as a bared-shoulder in order that actions such as were adopted to discredit Kaiserism might be justified. This regime now has concluded a constitution, the bases of which are pure democracy and unity. It is a decision of conscience that the German republic cannot be forever misrepresented as a disguised Kaiserism."

"President Wilson once said that the peace that ended the world war must approximate that made at the congress of Vienna. The Vienna congress treaty was made by measures of compromise which brought the so-called legitimacy of the monarchial principle. That was a bad mistake, but how light as a feather it weighs against the madness of the Versailles peace, on which through just those means democracy and international justice were to be attained."

"From the madness of Vienna, America at least kept itself free, but in Versailles..."

GERMANS BUILD PASSENGER AIRCRAFT

Under the terms of the peace treaty Germany is prevented from building aircraft during the six months following the taking advantage of the interval before the operation of the treaty. Germany is building great air liners. Above is the Hamburg American S. S. Company's new air liner, the Bodensee, in her harbor at Friedrichshafen, showing the forward portion of the passenger airship. The Bodensee was built for passenger service and recently made her maiden trip from Friedrichshafen to Berlin, a distance of about 425 miles in six hours. The dirigible has accommodations for fifty passengers besides the crew. The cabins are luxuriously furnished. The directors of the Hamburg-American line are planning a flotilla of these commercial airships making regular trips throughout Germany. They hope within two years to inaugurate a commercial air-line between Berlin and New York and expect to make the trip in 30 hours.

'PETER PAN' ATTRACTS AT RUTLEDGE EXHIBIT

Animals as Well as Garden Products Shown—Prizes to Be Awarded Today

"Peter Pan," a Belgian hare of unusual pedigree, is Prince Charming of the annual community garden exhibit which opened today in Rutledge Fire Hall.

The garden exhibit is under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Morton and Rutledge. And, while it is intended to display community success in the cultivation of fruits and flowers and vegetables and the making of confounders, domestic animals of extraordinary breeding are not barred.

"Peter Pan" is sharing honors with eight other little Belgian hares and a number of ducks.

The fire hall itself is smothered in decorative greens, autumnal cornstalks, bunting and flaming red flowers. The display on rows of tables ranges from onions through a rich list of pies, cakes, canned goods, flowers and fruit, all the way to ducks.

Prizes will be awarded this afternoon. Visitors are invited every day during the day or evening. Mrs. Augustus Thegion is chairman of the civic committee of the Woman's Club, which has made all the arrangements. The committee includes Mrs. R. T. Wilson, Mrs. S. C. Huron and Mrs. A. Dietz. Mrs. Frank Harding is president of the club.

Most of the prizes are ribbons, though several books will be given to children competitors and a cut glass tea set is first prize for the women's exhibit.

Mrs. M. A. Wilson, EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER city editor, will act as judge of the cooking exhibits.

VARE STILL WONDERS OVER HIS VOTING RIGHT

Senator Waits for Judges' Decision on Qualifications to Participate in Primary

Senator Vore does not yet know whether or not he can legally vote in the primaries next Tuesday—an election in which so much of his political fortunes are tied up.

Today, it is expected, Judges Monaghan and Stanke, sitting in Court of Common Pleas No. 5, will hand down a decision on the vexed question. Meanwhile, the senator wonders if he faces arrest for illegal voting. If he should so much as try to vote next Tuesday, Judges Monaghan and Stanke were appealed to by the senator yesterday to review the decision of the registration commissioners. This decision set forth that the senator was properly registered and dismissed the petition to have his name removed from the register list of the Fifth division of the Thirty-ninth ward.

But, and thereby hangs the tale—the commissioners said the senator was qualified to vote in the November election. Now it happens that the senator is more interested in the primary next Tuesday than he is in the election next November. The registration commissioners, however, on advice of counsel, left the primary status of the senator unsettled, all of which has unsettled the senator.

Owen J. Roberts, counsel for the petitioner in the strike-off proceedings before Judges Monaghan and Stanke, declared the court had no jurisdiction, and the senator had no basis for his appeal. Francis Stanke Brown, counsel for the senator, said that the senator was entitled to know what the commissioners really meant by their registration decision.

HOMEOPATHS TO MEET IN CITY NEXT TUESDAY

Fifty-sixth Session of State Society Will Bring Together Prominent Physicians

The fifty-sixth session of the Homeopathic Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania will open next Tuesday morning in the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and will continue until Thursday, September 18.

Hundreds of homeopathic physicians from all parts of the state will be present.

Dr. Harry S. Weaver, of this city, the president, will address the Tuesday morning session.

The members of the profession in Philadelphia, through their society and individually, have prepared elaborate entertainment features for the visitors. Dr. Charles Hunsicker, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Dr. William Pearson, dean of the Hahnemann College and Hospital, have been active in preparing for the reception.

There will be an entertainment by the Germantown Medical Club Monday night, at which Dr. Walter C. Baker will deliver an illustrated address on "Interpretation of Roentgenograms of the Thoracic Cavities."

The clinics arranged are most varied, while the papers on various phases of homeopathic medicine and surgery, which will be read are numerous and cover a wide range.

Speaks for Whole Board

In issuing his statement, Mr. Benkert said it came from him as president of the real estate board, and was indicative of the unanimous sentiment of its 350 members.

"The Philadelphia real estate board, to the last one of its members, is emphatically opposed to rent profiteering or to any restriction of rents in profits in any real estate transaction. Certainly there is not a known profiteer among us, but the board does not include every one of the more than 5000 men listed in the directory as realtors," he said.

Mr. Benkert declared the members of the board are in favor of a fair advance over old rental rates, and such an advance was a necessity growing out of the levying of increased taxes and other increasing costs.

Alleges $1,500,000 Profit

Mr. Smink, in his interview with Governor Spraul, said a syndicate of New York men had purchased more than 5000 homes in Philadelphia during the last three months and made profits totaling between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

He also told the Governor there was a "floating population" of empty houses in the city averaging 5000, and asked if some steps could not be taken to force these homes on the market to renters.

Proof of the guilt of the New York clique gambling in Philadelphia here was laid before Governor Spraul, Mr. Smink said. Many of the homes purchased by the syndicate were bought through the aid of local building and loan associations, he charged.

Virtually half of the real estate building and loan associations of Philadelphia are dominated and controlled by the New York syndicate, Mr. Smink said.

SENTENCED TO SPANKING

Lower Merion Boys and Girls in Court for Fighting

Three girls, who are said to be "fighters," and four boys, of Lower Merion, are in danger of spanking today in the court of the Parent Teachers' Association, where they disappeared seven after they had appeared before him, five as defendants and two as complainants.

James and Thomas Scott and Thomas, George and Helen Brown were accused of attacking Hazel and Mary Brown, who are not related to the other Browns.

The five defendants asserted the plaintiffs were of the fighting kind, too. The magistrate decided that such wars among children should be ended by "good, old-fashioned spanking."

And the "doctors" of the scrapper, took them directly to their homes.

Following this they will form in line behind the Liberty Band of Gloucester and march to the Woodlyne Peace Jubilee. James Firth will present each boy with a souvenir. Woodlyne had one of its soldier boys killed in the war. He was Sergeant Allen H. Rossett.

GIRL HELD FOR P. O. THEFT WORRIES ABOUT CLOTHES

Ethel Grace Wilmont Won't Talk About Charge—Plea for 'Clean Dress' Is Granted

Wan and nervous after her experience of the last twenty-four hours, Ethel Grace Wilmont, the seventeen-year-old stenographer accused of stealing $1400 worth of money orders and bank books from the postoffice of Gravitv, Pa., maintained today that she had no statement to make.

As she sat in the United States marshal's office in the Federal Building, following a night spent in the House of Detention, the girl nervously twisted a bit of string about her finger. She was dressed in a plaid shirtwaist and black skirt and wore a purple velvet hat and black patent leather oxfords and silk stockings.

"She hung her head and answered, 'I don't know' to the most casual questions."

The girl did say she wanted "a clean dress." The one she had been wearing, she said, had been "badly mussed" and "isn't very presentable."

A deputy marshal agreed to accompany Miss Wilmont to her boarding house. In about an hour she returned to the Federal Building dressed in a fresh suit of blue.

Miss Wilmont is the daughter of Mrs. Maude Wilmont, postmistress of Gravitv, in the Scranton division. While a clerk in her mother's postoffice, Miss Wilmont stole $170 of the postoffice funds on May 11, according to the testimony of yesterday. This alleged deficit was made up by the mother from her own savings.

The girl came to Philadelphia and got a position as typist in an office in the Bourse. On Labor Day she returned to Gravitv without her mother's knowledge and took bank bonds and money orders from the safe. It is charged. These, it is alleged, she cashed in amount aggregating $1400 after signing the fictitious names of Mrs. Michael Prenish and Mrs. Evelyn French.

"I don't want to say a thing about this case," said Miss Wilmont in a low voice. "I don't know what I am to be taken to Scranton and I don't know if I shall come back to Philadelphia afterward."

When asked of the opportunities that Gravitv offered for business success she said with a smile:

"Well, it's not overpopulated."

Further information about her family or her home town Miss Wilmont refused to disclose.

She will probably be taken to Scranton today.

U. S. COAL HIGH TO GERMANS

Costs 500 Marks to 70 for Native Fuel, Says Rhenish Expert

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(By A. P.)—Importation of American coal in quantities sufficient to relieve Germany's need is regarded by the press as inconceivable, owing to the cost.

Coal experts of the Ruhr district are against the movement to import foreign coal, especially American. Peter Kloeck, one of the leading Rhenish industrialists, recently declared American coal cost 500 marks, against 70 marks for the German coal.

While recording a similar opinion the Vossische Zeitung reports that Hugo Stinnes, director of the Woermann Shipping Company, has already contracted for American coal at 470 marks per ton.

TO COUNT MAYOR VOTE FIRST

Election Officials to Deviate From Practice Because of Interest

Philadelphia will learn of the election of either Congressman Moore or Judge Patterson on Tuesday next, before the returns of nominations to other offices will be counted.

"This is the first time in the history of mayoralty elections that returns of the mayoralty contest will be available before the rest of the ticket. The change in the customary method was made because of the unusual interest in the campaign, and because of the heavy registration."

Superintendent of Police Robinson today sent the following order to all police districts:

"You will instruct patrolmen detailed on Tuesday at election polls to request the first of elections in each division to count first the votes cast for Judge Patterson and Congressman Moore for Mayor, and give the results to the patrolmen."

"As soon as the patrolman receives the information from the judge election, he will telephone it immediately to the house sergeant at the police station who will tabulate the votes for the mayoralty candidates by wards. And as soon as the ward is complete the house sergeant will telephone the total vote to City Hall."

SHRINERS' AUTOS IN RUN TO SHORE

Ninety-five Machines Off to Set Secret Time for Which Awards Will Be Made

THIRTY PRIZES OFFERED

This is a great day for the Shriners. Thirty prizes are being given among ninety-five contestants in the ninth annual social run of the Lu Lu Temple Automobile Club. Almost every one has a chance to win. Shriners are torn between their desire for the first prize of a silver fruit dish and the consolation prize of fifteen gallons of engine oil.

Ninety-five automobiles entered the contest and lined up their automobiles in front of the Temple in ample time to start at 9 o'clock to make the run to Atlantic City.

But nobody can guess how many or how few will register at City Park Circle, Atlantic City, before 1:30 p. m. That's the time limit! It's estimated that any automobilists who need more than four and a half hours to travel between Philadelphia and Atlantic City are not making a "run," but are taking a trip at a dead walk.

The police guard the party down to the ferry. Single file the cars along, each Shriner wearing his fez and carrying on his ear the club flag. Across the ferry and into Camden the tourists continued in orderly fashion, and then started off on a variety of routes, all destined to meet at Atlantic City.

When the time card is handed to Official Timer Paul B. Huyette at the checking station in City Park Circle, Atlantic City, the time of arrival will be recorded and the exact running time computed. The running time of all the cars that arrive before 1:30 o'clock will be added together and divided by the number of cars. This will give the "secret time." The car with the record nearest the "secret time" will get the first prize—and so on, down the whole list of thirty prizes. Every third car entered will be given a prize and they vary from silver dishes, vacuum tankards and electric toasters, and four airplane tickets.

The event is in charge of William Holt, secretary of the club. The official starter at this end was Benjamin Foster.

DEVIL DOG' RE-ENACTS WAR SCENES IN CHINATOWN FIGHT

Six Alarms Sent in to Police Station When Marine Corporal 'Cleans Up'—Gives Cops Hard Tussle, but Is Forgiven

It was merely a "social visit" that Corporal Charles Myers paid to Chinatown today.

During his call he found many things which did not meet his approval. The casualties follow:

Patrol Sergeant Martin, head cut, one tooth knocked out.

Patrolman McGowen, knees cut and bruised.

Patrolman McCann, cuts of arms and face.

Corporal Myers (himself). Cuts of head and chin, laceration of ear, bruises of body.

Myers had been in the war and is a man of action. He expressed his views regarding present-day affairs rather emphatically. Two or three storekeepers and others didn't agree with him. Myers brought both fists into action.

A few minutes later there was a trail of citizens lying on the sidewalks, the police say.

As the corporal was still going at full speed ahead some one thought it might be well to send for the police. It appears that at least six persons were injured by this idea, at the same moment for six calls for help came into the Eleventh and Winter streets station.

SERVICE MEN BARRED FROM STATION HOUSE; BLAME VARE LEADERS

Legion Members Say Presence of Judge Brown on Program Caused Opposition

CITIZENS OF PASCO CONFESS TO WILSON

Politics is blamed for the calling off of a meeting of Post 28, American Legion, which was to have been held in the Twentieth and Buttonwood streets police station, last night, although Director Wilson had sanctioned the gathering.

A committee selected by the former service men will call on the director of public safety today, a day before his complaint against Lieutenant Marple, who refused to allow the returned soldiers to enter the station house.

The veterans say Vore workers became incensed when they learned Judge Charles L. Brown, of the Municipal Court, was to address the meeting and took the steps which resulted in the lockout. The address of Judge Brown, the men say, was to be a patriotic one and nonpolitical.

Lieutenant Marple's statement that he barred the men because the meeting was to talk on the nature of a smoker, with vaudeville and "ests," is dismissed by the legion members with the assertion that Director Wilson had that knowledge when he issued the permit.

More than 700 former service men were disappointed for a time when they were refused admittance. The Rev. Joseph O'Keefe, rector of St. Francis Xavier's Church, came to their rescue with an offer of the use of the school hall at Twenty-fourth and Green streets.

The offer was accepted and the meeting and smoker held as planned.

CITIZENS OF PASCO CONFESS TO WILSON

President Learns "Band Is Worn Out" and "Takes Crit to Live Here"

SPEAKS AT TACOMA TODAY

By the Associated Press.

On Board President Wilson's Special Train, Sept. 13.—When President Wilson's special train stopped for a few minutes at Pasco, Wash., last night a crowd surrounded the private car Mayflower, and the President came out to shake hands and exchange greetings with them.

After telling several stories he wound up by making a short speech, in which he said the war was "unfinished" until the United States had assumed responsibility for its pledges that future wars should be made impossible.

When he asked how so large a crowd had gathered without having the hand out Mr. Wilson was told by one of the boys present that "the band wore out." Another boy, wearing a faded bandman's uniform, was thrust forward then and presented as "the sole member of Pasco's brass band." The President remarked that he did not look at all though he had wind enough, and then an old inhabitant confessed that "he had given the band $15 not to play tonight."

Country and People Full of Grit

The talk then turned to the prevailing dry weather. Mr. Wilson remarking it was a sandy country.

"Yes," said a man in the crowd, "we have to have a lot of grit to live here."

One of the President's stories which got a long laugh was about a man who played golf and always said "Assouan" when he missed the ball. When asked why, he replied that "Assouan was the biggest dam in the world."

As the train slowly got under way Mr. Wilson would have a proponent of the cheering crowd, his attention was attracted to a man who ran along the track in an evident endeavor to overtake the receding rear platform. When the President turned to him inquiringly, he puffed:

"Don't mind me; I only pretended to get the last look at you from Pasco, and I've done it."

Doesn't Fear British Votes

In his speech at Spokane yesterday, the President replied to objection that Great Britain would have a preponderance of voting power in the league of nations assembly. He said any possible danger on that score was removed by the fact that decisions must be unanimous.

The President, speaking of the difficulty of defining the Monroe Doctrine, said:

"Inasmuch as you cannot or would not define the Monroe Doctrine—at least I would not because I do not know how soon we may want to extend it—inasmuch as we do not want to define it, what more could you say than that nothing in that instrument shall impair the validity of the Monroe Doctrine?"

President Wilson will speak at Tacoma today.

Seattle, Sept. 13.—(By A. P.)—Pattis of President Wilson, journeying through the West, and Secretary Daniels and the new Pacific fleet, touring the coast, will cross at Seattle today. Aboard the historic battleship Oregon, President Wilson late today will review the new fleet off Seattle's waterfront. Accompanied by Secretary Daniels, he is to board the Oregon for the review. Tonight he speaks at the Arena.
