GRIFFIN LOOKS LIKE BEST OF A'S ROOKIES

Atlanta First Baseman More Polished Than Burrus; Prize Assignment Is Handed to George Burns

SUCCESS IS FAILURE

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK
MR. MACK'S new ball club has exhibited at the Shibe stadium in five games. The first two battles, when the rookies were still flushed with minor league successes, were victories. Then they became acclimated to the losing atmosphere of Philadelphia baseball and they dropped three straight. All the recruits look like fairly good ball players, but there is one young man who stands out above the others. He is Griffin, the lean first baseman. Griffin appears to be a finished ball player, and therein he has a lead on Dick Burrus. Both Griffin and Burrus are good fielders and hitters, but the Atlanta youth seems like a smarter performer. Burrus needs more playing experience.

It didn't take Connie Mack long to make up his mind concerning a first baseman. As soon as the Atlanta boys arrived he pulled Burrus out and put Griffin in.

Griffin has all the courage in the world. He fought with Uncle Sam's forces overseas and boldly admitted that he was once a student at Auburn College.

BURNS INSTRUCTOR

RATTLE your think tank and see if you can discover a tougher assignment than the one slipped George Burns. When the recruits began to arrive in droves at Shibe Park, Gavage was appointed head master of the outfield pupils. He is the fourth outfielder of the Mack aggregation. He stands out near the right on left field grandstand and shouts instructions to his underlings. He is teaching Charley High how to play his position. If High is an apt pupil Burns will lose his regular job. In other words, success means failure.

Mack always has been noted as a lenient and kind-hearted gentleman, but it looked as if he is conducting conditions in right field in a high-handed manner.

What's another ball player in the life of one C. Mack. Soon he will have more ball tossers than Boston has beans.

In his eagerness to try out youngsters, Mack must not forget that the child-labor law still is in effect.

Concerning Collins

WHEN you watch Eddie Collins prancing around second base or dashing along the runways, you are inclined to think of him as you thought of him when the A's—a man in the prime of baseball life. Eddie is not a youngster. He has seen thirty-two summers and is serving his fourteenth season in the big leagues. But still he's as active as a twenty-year-old. On Saturday he engineered two double plays that were real thrillers. His defensive play will count heavily in the world's series as will his batting. Eddie has been in five world classics and Gleason has no fear of jumping nerves around his keystone sack.

Collins is much more at home at second base than Ed Vane is at 2009 South Broad street.

Shibe Park has it on Boston. There're more stars there than ever have struck the City of Culture.

Joe Dugan has struck so often that he's liable to be locked out some of these days.

DOBSON HAS EDGE OVER LANSDOWNE

East Falls Club Draws First Blood in Play-Off for Main Line Title

ALLIE McWILLIAMS STARS

The J. & J. Dobson team has drawn first blood in the battle for the championship of the Main Line baseball league. Bob Calhoun's second half winners annexed the first conflict from Lansdowne on Saturday afternoon by the score of 2-0 before 5000 East Falls fans.

Bill Grewell, who captured the championship last year for the R. G. Dun club, was on the pitching mound for the winners and while his delivery was nicked for four safeties against two by Bob Johnson, the support of Grewell was sensational. His teammates backed him in perfect style, while the Lansdowne infield afforded ragged support.

Allie McWilliams was the bright light in the Dobson victory, the former high school star being responsible for both runs by his wonderful work, both at bat and on the bases.

The second game of the series will be played next Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the Strawbridge & Clothier firm.

It looks like Remont in the Manufacturers' Baseball League. Their well-earned victory over Stokes & Smith gave them undisputed possession of first place. Hearne, who has pitched good ball for Stokes all season, was hit hard and the coming champions had little difficulty in solving his delivery for a total of eleven hits, which included six for extra bases. Nally led with four homers, which included a triple and a homer.

U. G. I., which was eliminated the previous week by Stokes & Smith, put the Wheeler club out of the running by capturing two games, scores 4 to 1 and 7 to 1. The Niles-Pond aggregation continued its fast work by taking Lewis into camp, 8 to 1. The season comes to a close with the playing of this Saturday's contests.

With but two games yet to play, the clubs in the Northeast Manufacturers' Baseball League are running neck and neck with Schwarz Wheel but a single game to the good over Disston and Fitter. Any slip-up on the part of the Wheelmakers may give the runners-up a chance to tie for the pennant.

With Sid Agnew, of Parkersburg, on the mound, Media defeated Morton 4 to 2, in the second game for the championship of the Delaware County League. Each club now has won a single game and the final will be played on Saturday.

Dash's win over De Laval in the Delaware River League, has placed that club and Barber in a tie for the title and a series to decide the championship will now be arranged.

JUNIOR POLOISTS READY FOR TILT

Philadelphia Country Club's Four Clashes With Rockaway Hunt Club This Afternoon

PLAY BEGINS AT 4:30 P. M.

By JAMES S. CAROLAN
The Philadelphia Country Club's four will strive this afternoon to uphold the honor of the Quaker City on the club's polo field at Bala, near Woodside, competing against the Rockaway Hunt Club's quartet for the junior championship of the United States. If the Philadelphians are successful they will clash next with the winner of the Army-Meadowbrook contest, which is scheduled to take place the latter part of this week.

Meadowbrook juniors won the first match of the series on Saturday, when they eliminated the Bryn Mawr four from the running, 6 goals to 4.

Three of the four members of the country club quartet to face Rockaway juniors today are the Stokes boys, Thomas Stokes No. 2 and E. Louchter Stokes No. 3. Borelay McFadden, at back, will complete the Bala four.

Wearing the dark blue of the Rockaway team will be Elliott C. Cowdin, No. 1; Courland P. Dixon, 2d. No. 2;

GRID DRILL ON FRANKLIN FIELD

Penn Football Men May Begin Scrimmage This Week Under Coach Bob Folwell

MORE MEN OUT FOR TEAM

Football practice was resumed at Franklin Field this afternoon by the Penn varsity candidates. Quite a number of men who will strive for places on the freshmen team also were on hand, so that the Penn athletic field was alive with perspiring and aspiring young athletes.

While there was no scrimmage today, it is probable that Head Coach Bob Folwell will hold a scrimmage some time this week. The men are in fine condition as a result of their week's stay at Frazier Farm, near Willow Grove.

Lack of accommodations in the training house caused "Bob" Folwell to practically cut in half the picked squad of some thirty-five athletes that were on the training trip at Frazier's farm at Willow Grove last week. However, in order not to lose track of some of the better talent that could not be accommodated with quarters, the Muller Hill monitor has ordered more tables to be set up in the training house dining room to enter to some eight more athletes.

On the list assigned to quarters were Captain Bert Bell, Larry Bricker, Bruner, Sam Ellis, Bud Hopper, Herman Harvey, Lou Little, Hobey Light, Ray and Heine Miller, Joe Silvestri, Carl Thomas, John Tittel, Ludlow Wray, Ben Derr, Joe Straus and Crawford, along with Trainer Lawson Robertson and Dr. Charles Wharton, the line coach and physical director.

Additions to the training table are Dick Supple, Sam Bradley, Vic Frank and Peters, a quartet of former Central High players; Alex Wray, "Yack" Alaboski, the Jap end; Al Cleveland, a stalwart matriculate from a western university, and Bill Grave, the former freshman basketball and diamond star.

Yacht Club to Meet Here

Atlantic City, Sept. 15.—The South Jersey Yacht Club association will hold its annual meeting at the Hotel Adelphi, in Philadelphia, late in November. The annual meeting was held over last year until this spring on account of the war, but the regular routine will be adhered to in the future.

WOMEN NET STARS BEGIN PLAY TODAY

Philadelphia and District Tournament Starts This Afternoon at Philadelphia Country Club. Bala

MRS. HARVEY, CHAMP

By SPICK HALL

THIS afternoon the annual women's tennis tournament of Philadelphia and district was begun on the courts of the Philadelphia Country Club at Bala. The present title holder, Mrs. Gilbert Harvey, will play through the meeting and not defend her crown in a challenge round. The play this year in this event should be the best in years. Last season and in 1917 many of the women tennis players of Philadelphia were busy with war work and did not participate in any tournaments at all. Now, however, a lot of the stars have returned to the game and it is expected that the matches beginning this afternoon will be the best that have been staged by the would-be coters for many years.

Miss Phyllis Walsh, who has recently been playing in the exhibition matches at the Germantown Cricket Club at Manheim, will play in this meet. Miss Walsh's work in the mixed doubles at Manheim indicates that Mrs. Harvey will have a tough struggle on her hands to get away with the title this year. Miss Walsh is playing much better than she was before she went to France, where she won the Croix de Guerre for bravery under fire while driving an ambulance.

Philadelphians Win

Craig Biddle and Wallace Johnson won twice in the exhibition tennis matches yesterday at the Germantown Cricket Club. This Philadelphia pair won both of their doubles matches in excellent style, beating W. M. Hall, Westside Tennis Club, Forest Hill, L. I., and K. N. Hawks, Yale intercollegiate doubles champion, in three sets, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9, and then trimming the old Princeton pair, Frederick R. Alexander and Raymond D. Little, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2. The final match of the day was an unfinished mixed doubles event, in which Bill Tilden and Miss Phyllis Walsh took the first set from Mrs. Franklin Mallory, formerly Miss Molla Bjurstedt, at 6-4, and lost the second, 6-8. Following this match Alexander and Tilden played two fast sets, the tall Philadelphian taking the first 6-3 and copping the second to the veteran New Yorker by the same score. Hall and Hawk attempted to stop Tilden and Chuck Garland, but were unsuccessful, the latter pair winning out in the final match of the afternoon, 6-2, 6-3.

The biggest crowd of the exhibition series was out yesterday and witnessed the battles which were pulled off on the two championship courts simultaneously. The turf was in fine condition and the play was fast throughout.

This play of Wallace Johnson and Craig Biddle in all of their sets yesterday was superb. Their teamwork was good and Johnson's playing was the best that he has done for several years. His chop stroke was working well, and his splicing and service were far better than he has displayed in a long time. Time and again Johnson shot service aces through with his quick wrist movement, leaving the striker to gaze at the ball as it passed.

New Club Opens

The new Roxborough Country Club opened its nine-hole links Saturday, the feature being a best ball match between J. Wood Platt, of North Hills, and

Norman Maxwell to Play for the Geist Trophy

The seventh annual tournament for the Clarence H. Geist Cup will be played over the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club course on September 22, 23 and 27. Norman H. Maxwell, of Overbrook, has two legs on the trophy. The cup goes to the player winning it three times.

The entries are restricted to players with handicaps of ten or less, and should be sent with handicaps to T. H. Hulton, Allegheny avenue, not later than September 20. The privilege of the course is extended to entrants for the week preceding the tournaments, excluding Saturday and Sunday.

Prizes will be given for the low score in the qualifying round, to the winner and runner-up in each six-teen and the winners of defeated eights in each sixteen. There will be three sixteens.

The committee in charge of the tournament are T. H. Hulton, W. J. M. Dyer, F. H. Chapman and J. H. Humphreys.

Fred Ryal, "pro" at Roxborough, on one side, and Paul Tewkesbury, of Aronimink, and Jim Hackney, the professional at North Hills. In the morning the match ended all square, but Platt and his partner won in the afternoon by five up. Platt had an 80 and a 74, Tewkesbury an 82 and a 79, Ryal a 79 and 77, and Hackney a 76 and an 83.

Judge John M. Patterson and L. E. Adams played a four-ball match with Samuel Bennett and Recorder of Deeds James Hazlett. Judge Patterson presented the prizes last night at a club dinner.

The course, which was begun last year, is in fine condition and was laid out by Donald Ross. It lies between Gorgas Park and Fairmount Park and is bounded by Ridge avenue, Gates street, Gorgas lane and Fairmount Park.

Scraps About Scrappers

TWO champions will perform in New Jersey rings this week. Tomorrow night Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight king, takes on Frankie Burns in an eight-round session at Jersey City. On Wednesday evening Benny Leonard, lightweight boss, and Johnny Dundee meet in Newark.

Kilbane will return to this city Thursday and finish his training for his meeting with Eddie Morgan at the National Saturday night.

A brace of fighting flyweights will clash in the main eight-round session at the Atlantic City Sports Club on Thursday night, when Matchmaker Herman Taylor sends battling Murray against Patsy Wallace. The other bouts being together Johnny Maloney vs. Willie Spencer, Jimmy Mendis vs. Kid Wagner and Tommy Murray vs. Jimmy Mason.

Nick Hazes, the impetuous one, has been among the interesting for the last two weeks. The always-out-town and always-on-the-inside individual has failed to slip us any in-stuff for some time.

Frankie McManis, the former Boston lightweight, who returned from France recently, will make his first appearance here in nearly two years when he faces Eddie Mullins at the Cambria Friday night. The other bouts follow: Kid Kniss vs. Andy Burns, Jack Devine vs. Eddie Dwyer, Charley McKee vs. Mike Gibbons, of Port Richmond, and Young Riley vs. John Duggan.

Ten-round battles soon will be in full swing in Chester. Now that Cody Brennan, the duke of Chester, has succeeded in getting the right to stage ten-round sessions his first show probably will be held before the end of the month.

The opening indoor show of the season in Baltimore will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 15, at the hard-boiled championship of the world in the splendid Liberty Girl, five-year-old grey mare, owned by John A. Crosser, of Upland, Pa., and shown by Quinn Davis, of Lexington. The stake was worth $10,000, the winner showing supremacy over winners of similar stakes on three preceding nights of the fair. W. L. Lewis, Lexington, was second and his Adelaide Grey third. Richelieu King was fourth. Liberty Girl is a gray mare by Rex Pearline.

Bobby Gunnis will lead Joe Wejahn and Johnny Mally in Newark on Wednesday. Wejahn battles Joe Benjamin and Mally faces Freddy Howe in the preliminaries to the Benny Leonard-Johnny Dundee engagement. Herman Taylor will accompany Gunnis.

Young McGovern, the Port Richmond flyweight, will see service tonight when he takes on Young Montrey, of Philadelphia, in the Olympic semifinal. Little Bear meets Bobby Doyle. Battling Leonard faces Joe Dorsey and Young Buck Fleming engages Bob Burman in the other bouts.

Low Tender and his manager, Phil Glassman, are due to depart for the west tomorrow. They expect to give the better part of two months. They plan to meet the best of the Middle and Far West have to offer.
