

THE WEATHER

Washington, Nov. 8.—Continued cloudy, unsettled tonight and Sunday

TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR table with columns for hours and temperature readings.

Evening Bulletin

POSTSCRIPT

VOL. VI.—NO. 48

Entered as Second-Class Matter at the Postoffice at Philadelphia, Pa. Under the Act of March 3, 1879.

PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1919

Published Daily Except Sunday, Subscription Price $3 a Year by Mail. Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Company.

PRICE TWO CENTS

ROUND UP REBELS HERE; MAY BE DEPORTED

Government Presses Injunction Suit After Lewis Refuses to Recall Order for Coal Strike

MANY CANDIDATES LOOMING AS RIVALS FOR MOORE CABINET

Colonel Groome Seen as Mayor-elect's Choice for Director of Public Safety Post

ACKER IS SUGGESTED AS PUBLIC WORKS HEAD

Smyth for Solicitor and Senator Tustin and Mrs. Ripplin in Welfare Office

Cabinet Possibilities According to Gossip

- Public Safety: Colonel John C. Groome, John C. Winston, James T. Cortelyou, Harry J. Trainor, James A. Carey, David J. Smyth, Murdoch Kendrick, Magistrate Campbell. Public Works: A. Lincoln Acker, Morris L. Cooke, E. E. Albert, George S. Webster, J. S. W. Holtou.

Public Health and Charities: Dr. Herbert A. Hare, Dr. Howard S. Anders. Public Welfare: Ernest L. Tustin, Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin.

Purchasing Agent: Colonel Thomas E. Meahan, Robert Grier, Magistrate Carson. City Solicitor: David J. Smyth.

Director of City Transit: William S. Twining.

A distinct impression prevails in informed political circles today that Colonel John C. Groome will be the next director of public safety.

It is understood that Mr. Moore is seriously considering Colonel Groome as the successor to Director Wilson.

Close friends of Mr. Moore believe the colonel is the strongest possibility for the most important place in the official cabinet.

The colonel is favored notwithstanding that his appointment is being opposed by some who were prominent in the conduct of the Moore campaign.

The Mayor-elect has frequently announced the determination and of the people, and is ready and willing to enforce a non-political administration of the police and firemen.

Point to Groome's Services: Colonel Groome's services with the American expeditionary forces, and earlier, in organizing the efficient state police, are being pointed to by his supporters.

The colonel said today that he had been in communication in any way with Mr. Moore since he returned from abroad. Friends of Mr. Moore, who happen also to be friends of the colonel, have spoken to him on the subject of the directorship.

"But," said the colonel, "I have not heard at all from Mr. Moore. I have had no offer from him. It is unthinkable, therefore, that I should be a matter which, so far as I am concerned, is more gossip."

"I certainly could not say in advance whether or not I would accept or reject any offer, I have given fourteen years to the state police, and in the Cuban 'fuss' over there. That is about all that I have to say."

"I'd like a chance to rest now. It has been a matter of regret to me that my name has been used so freely in connection with Mr. Moore. I have no desire to be put in the position of inspiring the talk about myself. Of course friends have talked to me about it, but it would be unfair to Mr. Moore for me to presume to talk about what I know nothing of."

Shortly after Colonel Groome returned to Philadelphia, he met Murdoch Kendrick, Mr. Moore's campaign manager, on the street. The two shook hands and Mr. Kendrick said he was glad to see the colonel back. Colonel Groome expects to be mustered out of the service next week.

Other than Colonel Groome, those mentioned for the directorship of public safety are John C. Winston, chairman

Continued on Page Four, Column Two

FIND GIRL AFTER TWO YEARS

Margaret Dickey Calls Soranton Parents Over Phone From Washington

Soranton, Pa., Nov. 8.—(By A. P.)—Margaret Dickey, whose mysterious disappearance two years ago, when she was fourteen years old, caused search in every large city without success, has been found.

Her parents were overjoyed last night when the girl called them by telephone from Washington and appealed to them to come to her at once. Mr. and Mrs. Dickey left early today for the capital.

The message was the first word received from the girl since she disappeared.

MAYOR SMITH

The four turbulent years of his administration have not left the Mayor unmarked. The photograph at the top shows Mr. Smith in 1916 just after his election. Below is the Mayor as he appears today.

THREE HIGHWAYMEN BEAT AND ROB MAN; MAKE ESCAPE IN AUTO

Take Cash and Jewelry Amounting to $762—Tear Victim's Finger in Getting Ring

Cash and jewelry valued at $762 were stolen last night from Charles G. Gilman, thirty-two years old, 1131 South Fifty-second street, when he was attacked near his home by three highwaymen, who escaped in an automobile after the robbery.

Mr. Gilman was choked by one of the robbers while the other two searched his clothing. One of them, in stealing a ring, tore part of the flesh from Mr. Gilman's finger.

In reporting the hold-up to the police of the Sixty-fifth street and Woodland avenue station today, Mr. Gilman said he was returning from the theatre at 11:30 o'clock. He believes one of the three men followed him when he got off a trolley car at Fifty-second street.

Mr. Gilman lost $112 in cash, a ring valued at $200, a $100 watch and a stickpin worth $50.

After the hold-up the thieves ran to an automobile in Springfield avenue and drove west.

"But," said the colonel, "I have not heard at all from Mr. Moore. I have had no offer from him. It is unthinkable, therefore, that I should be a matter which, so far as I am concerned, is more gossip."

"I certainly could not say in advance whether or not I would accept or reject any offer, I have given fourteen years to the state police, and in the Cuban 'fuss' over there. That is about all that I have to say."

"I'd like a chance to rest now. It has been a matter of regret to me that my name has been used so freely in connection with Mr. Moore. I have no desire to be put in the position of inspiring the talk about myself. Of course friends have talked to me about it, but it would be unfair to Mr. Moore for me to presume to talk about what I know nothing of."

Shortly after Colonel Groome returned to Philadelphia, he met Murdoch Kendrick, Mr. Moore's campaign manager, on the street. The two shook hands and Mr. Kendrick said he was glad to see the colonel back. Colonel Groome expects to be mustered out of the service next week.

Other than Colonel Groome, those mentioned for the directorship of public safety are John C. Winston, chairman

Continued on Page Four, Column Two

CLAIM RITCHIE LEADS BY 171

Maryland Democrats Put Estimate 42 Higher Than G. O. P. Figure

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—(By A. P.)—Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic candidate for governor, led Harry W. Nice, Republican, by less than 200 votes, according to official and unofficial returns of Tuesday's elections.

Democratic tabulations gave Ritchie 171 plurality. The Republicans allowed him 129, the discrepancy being due to a difference in estimates of the uncounted vote of Baltimore. Sixteen of the twenty-eight wards remain to be canvassed, and supervisors expect to finish the job tonight.

Kentucky Goes Dry by 7797

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(By A. P.)—With a complete unofficial return of 99 of the 120 counties of the state, prohibitionists were jubilant today over their apparent victory. They declared the dry majority would eventually go beyond 10,000. Wet organizations concede defeat of their amendment.

Tribulations of a Mayor as Related by Mr. Smith

Wishes Moore Best of Success, but Adds: "No One Can Take Over This Place Without Getting Into Trouble"

CONGRESSMAN MOORE'S path as Mayor will be pretty well thorned, in the opinion of Mayor Smith, who makes it emphatic, however, that his wishes for his successor are all of the best.

The Mayor, who on retiring from public life will resume supervision of the bonding concern which bears his name, settled back in his big office chair one day this week and spoke frankly and truthfully of the trials and tribulations which beset the way of Philadelphia's chief executive.

"His face was serious, though now and then a smile, frequently a smile with grimaces in it, broke across his face as he swept back through the last four years in the course of his talk.

"No one can take over this place," he exclaimed once, "without getting into trouble." The Mayor's eyes clouded.

"No man," he went on, "can foresee what will come up against him being elected Mayor of Philadelphia. Mr. Smith leaned forward in his chair, picked up a pen and looked at it.

"It is beyond the bounds of human possibility to please every one," he observed, this time with a smile which had an element of understanding humor. "It can't be done, you know."

Mr. Smith, looking back in his chair again, thoughtfully eyed a pigeon which had settled on the broad window ledge with a flurry of wings, and then leaned forward confidentially.

"Why any one should wish to be

Continued on Page Four, Column Five

BRIDE OF TWO DAYS FIGHTS ANNULMENT

Actress Defies Family of Penn Student—Wants Husband. Not-Money, She Says

"I will fight to the limit!" This is the announcement with which Mrs. Charles G. Kress, bride of two days, defies the family of her husband, a student in the medical school at the University of Pennsylvania.

The family, she says, is responsible for marriage annulment proceedings, a petition for which was filed yesterday in Common Pleas Court No. 5.

Kress, whose father is a wealthy Johnstown real estate operator, married Miss Esther Higbee, late of a burlesque company, Thursday, in the office of her lawyer, William J. Korke. The ceremony was performed by Magistrate Baker.

Thursday afternoon the two began their honeymoon by attending a murder trial in the Court of Quarter Sessions. Yesterday Kress left her bride, and the next she heard of him was when papers in the annulment proceedings were served on her in her room in the Continental Hotel.

Kress is twenty-two. His wife is a year older.

"Before this I would have done anything in the world for Charles," said the bride today. "I would have gone on the stage and worked hard while he was going through the University. I am just crazy about him."

"If his people would have turned him out I would have worked to keep him out of college until he was graduated. But now I will do everything I can to win this fight."

The annulment petition charges that

Continued on Page Two, Column Seven

GREENLEAF QUIZZED MERELY AS WITNESS

Billiardist, Resuming His Tour, Knows Nothing of Binkowitz, Case, Coroner Explains

Ralph Greenleaf, the young billiard expert, who has many friends in this city, has resumed his exhibition tour after his rather disappointing experience in Bridgeport, Conn., Thursday night.

Incorporate dispatches from Bridgeport said that Greenleaf had been arrested in connection with the Benjamin Binkowitz murder mystery. This was not the case. Greenleaf was not arrested, nor was his manager, George Worde.

"The statement that these two were arrested is unfair to them," explained Coroner Mix in New Haven. "They were not arrested, and I am satisfied they know nothing of the facts of the Binkowitz case." Binkowitz was a Wall street messenger. His body was found in Milford, Conn., three months ago.

Mix explained that coroner's subpoenas, not warrants, were served on Greenleaf and Worde, because they were a slight acquaintance with a person mentioned in the Binkowitz case, and it was hoped they might be able to throw some light on the movements of that person.

Greenleaf has given many exhibitions of his skill in this city. His friends yesterday were quick to say that the report that he had been arrested was incredible. William Glechist, proprietor of a Market street poolroom, was one of these. He said that Greenleaf was an upright, clean-living, young man who would never do anything discreditable.

The father of the billiard player lives in Wilmington, Del.

FEDERAL DEMAND FLATLY REJECTED BY COAL MINERS

Palmer Announces Decision to Push Court Proceedings at Indianapolis

UNIONS READY TO FIGHT FOR USE OF THEIR FUNDS

No Hope of Settlement Seen as Equity Case Is Called for Hearing

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—Injunction proceedings against officials of the United Mine Workers of America will be pressed at Indianapolis today, Attorney General Palmer announced.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the miners' union, refused to accede to the government's demand that the strike order be recalled pending mediation of the controversy.

The scene of action was shifted to the federal court in Indianapolis, where government and miners' representatives met today to fight out the issues on the temporary injunction.

Both factions in the strike dispute have held out hopes of making their original declarations, the government officials repeatedly asserting that the injunction will not be dropped until the strike order has been recalled and labor leaders reiterating that the strike order will not be withdrawn until the injunction has been quashed.

The material side of the strike, as shown by the latest reports, has altered noticeably, both sides claiming gains. The government continued its campaign for coal economy, but announced it was not contemplating cutting in force such wartime measures as "lightless" nights and "heatless Mondays."

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—(By A. P.)—Anticipating rejection by the United States District Court here today of their motion for an order restraining order issued against officials of the United Mine Workers of America, October 31, attorneys for the miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

The miners' union today made arrangements for release of the coal miners' strike fund now tied up by the government's injunction proceedings.

THINK RIVER VICTIM MAY BE PENN STUDENT

The body of a young man was picked up in the Delaware River off Pier 16, South Wharves, early today by the crew of Patrol Boat No. 1. The father of Fred L. Jenkins, the University of Pennsylvania student who disappeared ten days ago, has been asked to view the body at the morgue, although the body does not answer in every respect the description of the youth.

The body recovered today is that of a man about twenty-five years old and five feet seven inches tall. He wore a dark vest and trousers, a white shirt with a soft collar and green tie and black shoes and socks. A signet ring with the initials "B. J. C." was on a finger of his left hand.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America asked at the opening of the United States district courts today that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The government objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

By the Associated Press

U. S. AGENTS TRAP ALLEGED RADICALS TO HALT UPRISING

Men and Women of Foreign Birth are Rounded Up in Two Halls

PRISONERS WERE CAUGHT IN SEVERAL BIG CITIES

Federal Authorities Say National Wide Revolution Was Planned for This Week

Alien radicals rounded up in this city, as well as in other cities of the country, in a simultaneous raid are to be deported.

This was announced positively this morning in the office of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer at Washington. A fuller statement, clearing up all the motives back of the wide-spread net is to be issued later today.

Forty alleged "reds" were caught in two federal raids in this city. At least ten of that number are aliens.

Those marked for deportation are to be sent to Gloucester for a hearing by immigration officials. Todd Daniel, superintendent of the investigation, for the department of justice, has no information about the raid, explaining his lips were sealed by Washington.

The raids were the result of the federal authorities' discovery of an alleged plot to hold violent demonstrations throughout the country today in commemoration of the second anniversary of the establishment of the Russian soviet government.

William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation, the man who investigated the bomb outrages in Philadelphia last spring, personally conducted the New York raid, where 150 persons were taken. All but fifty-two were released after an examination.

Get 200 Around Chicago

In the Chicago district, including Milwaukee, Gary, Ind., about 200 more were taken, including several smaller groups ranging from fifty down to two were arrested in Detroit, San Francisco, New York, Jackson, Mich., and five Connecticut cities, New Haven, Hartford, Ansonia, Waterbury and New Britain.

The "red" suspects taken in raids on a half near Franklin and Poplar streets and one near Second and Christian streets, were grilling at the Federal Building this morning.

Among the alleged radicals gathered in the net here and who may be deported are:

Miles Nisetschuk, twenty-eight years old, Poplar and Franklin streets; Fred Yarovitz, twenty-four years old, Second and Montrose streets; Peter Jakovetz, thirty-five years old, Parrish street, near Ninth; John Kozay, twenty-five years old, League street near Third; Wasily Wasinski, twenty-seven years old, Hope street, near Second; Nicholas J. Kozay, thirty-six years old, Eighth street near Parrish; Nikito Ivanenko, twenty-eight years old, Avondale street near Tigon; and a half dozen others.

Several of those arrested here are women. Both the men and women are said to be bolshevik leaders in Pennsylvania. All are of a distinctly foreign appearance, mostly Russian. Most are of the type known as "red" hatted men and short-haired women. Many of the men had cut-outs, and a number of the women have bobbed hair.

Refuse to Answer Questions

Virtually all have refused to answer questions put to them by Todd Daniel, chief of the investigation branch of the department of justice here, and his agents. Ignorance of the English language, they make known in broken English or by signs, is the reason. Many of them, however, are known to be fluent talkers in the English language.

The raids in this and other cities were timed to the minute. They occurred at 10 o'clock Philadelphia time, exactly. This prevented the possibility of a quick alarm from one of the earlier raided meetings spreading to one of the other gatherings.

Todd Daniel refused to discuss the raids or the ultimate fate of the radicals this morning. "My lips are sealed by orders from the head of the department," he said. "Any information you get will have to come from Washington."

It was learned, however, that the "suspects" imprisoned on the third floor of the Federal Building and are allowed to hold no communication with each other. Nothing is allowed to pass between them.

One by one, all during the night, they were taken before Mr. Daniel and his agents. Those who pleaded ignorance of the English language, by a Russian interpreter provided for the occasion. Many valuable admissions are said to have been forced from the detainees.

These latter were not returned to their homes.

Continued on Page Four, Column Three

Mayor-elect Moore Writes for Evening Public Ledger Every Wednesday and Saturday

His Letters on the Editorial Page are Full of Interest and Cleverly Handled.

Read the One Printed Today

Continued on Page Four, Column Three

MANY CASES LISTED BY SERVICE COMMISSION

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—More cases are listed for hearing by the Public Service Commission next week than in any week for months. An important executive session will be held here Monday.

BOY LEAPS SAFELY IN CYCLE SHOP FIRE

Mice Nibbling on Matches Causes Blaze in Melrose Street Plant

Fire said to have been caused by mice nibbling a box of matches, today destroyed the cycle repair shop owned by Andrew Kupchunas, 1702 Melrose street.

Five-year-old Andrew, son of the proprietor, was asleep upstairs. He was awakened by the smoke and the shouts of the excited crowd. He rushed to the window of his room on the second floor, and leaped to the ground. He was unharmed.

The proprietor who tried to fight the flames before the arrival of the engines was burned about the hands, and William Dreyer, of Engine Company No. 13, was painfully burned when a five-gallon can of gasoline exploded in his face. He was treated by District Surgeon Dr. George R. Hanna, and sent to his home.

The fire, which did damage amounting to about $1500, furnished a variety of thrills to the hundreds of people who quickly collected.

Scattered away in the shop were a number of five-gallon cans of gasoline. The fire spread to these and exploded, blowing down the roof of the building. Frankford avenue below Orinick street, carried several of these cans to the street.

Escaped from the fire, his family on the second floor of the two-story brick building. After lighting the flames as long as the firemen allowed him he leaped that he was found.

It was thought for a while that the child might be buried in the smoldering ruins. The father was frantic.

Walker, however, turned up shortly. He had been on the street playing with some neighboring children.

SOLDIER-SUICIDE'S FUNERAL

Services for William C. Doppler to Be Held This Afternoon

Funeral services will be held this afternoon for William C. Doppler, the former soldier, who had killed himself at his home, near Seventy-seventh street and Bust Avenue.

Doppler was engaged to marry Miss Helen Crowder, 8229 Dicks avenue, and the loss of his position are said to have been contributing factors toward the youthful veteran's act.

The services will be in an undertaking establishment on Woodland avenue near Seventy-second street. They will be attended by Barrman Assembly, Artisans' Order of Mutual Protection, and