Faithful Wife Reunited With Husband, Who Wandered Streets for Days

CANT EXPLAIN ACTIONS

The unwavering faith of a devoted wife throughout the two weeks of her husband's unexplained absence was rewarded this morning when the Rev. Walter H. Woolfe, the missing Crosswicks, N. J., minister was reunited with his wife in the Rescue Mission, 842 North Eighth street.

Will Accuse Crank

"The Crank" is to be charged with suspicion of murder among other felonies, it is indicated. Officials plan to arraign him before Justice of the Peace O. F. Lehndorf, of Norristown.

How Tent Was Found

Philip Reinhardt, Egg Harbor city marshal, discovered the tent while following a party of men who were hiding in the woods at a place called Germania, a farming section, about three miles east of Egg Harbor and near the Pennsylvania and Reading Railway tracks.

Wait at Corner

In the meanwhile his wife and companions waited on the corner he designed to reach. He did not appear they returned to Camden, intending to take up their stand in Market street today.

Address Since Unknown

Where he has been living since Saturday is not clear to him, but he thinks it was in a rooming house. His watch and eye glasses are missing, but he does not remember being robbed, he said.

Poland Sending Peace Commissioners to Meet Bolshevik Tomorrow Night

HOPE TO SAVE THE CAPITAL

British Labor Again Voices Opposition to Aid for Poland

By the Associated Press

Warsaw, Aug. 13.—Russian Soviet forces which are attacking the Polish lines northeast and east of this city have reached a point twenty-five miles from Warsaw.

A state of siege has been declared here by the military governor. Civilians are not permitted on the streets after 10 o'clock at night, and cafes must close at 9 o'clock.

The determination of the Bolsheviks to press onward to Warsaw showed itself at various points along the battle line today, there being hand-to-hand fighting in many instances. The Poles savagely defended their positions and contested every foot of ground given up to the invaders.

It was said Pultusk changed hands several times, and last accounts were that fighting was going on in the streets. The Poles were holding the west bank of the Narew river at this point, banking off the Bolsheviks from the north and hurling back other enemy forces which were trying to cross the river.

Poles Recover Several Towns. Polish success on the southern front, where the Russians have been pushing for Lemberg, were reported in last night's official communique. The Polish cavalry and infantry have ousted the Bolsheviks from Radziskol, Lepetyn, Stanyslawy and Tomoroff.

These towns are in the district northeast of Lemberg and to the west and northwest of Brody, on the old Galician border. Fighting is continuing still further south along the Stripa (in the Buczacz area.)

Warsaw hummed last night with military activity, but only soldiers and officers were allowed in the streets. Preparations for the defense of Warsaw were being made and lights burned bright late in the evening, and the foreign office, where the affairs of state were being discussed.

The terms and conditions to be carried by the Polish delegates who will meet the Soviet representatives tomorrow to discuss peace preliminaries were also being drafted.

It was decided late last night that two American and two British newspaper correspondents, as well as several Polish, French, Italian and Spanish journalists, will accompany the peace delegation to the eastward on Saturday. Just how long the delegation will remain at this point, and the conditions of the conference will be held, is unknown. Diplomats here said they expected the conference would last four or five days or longer.

The Associated Press will be represented with the delegation, and an effort will be made to send daily dispatches, either by the wireless telegraph or by the railway courier. Moscow, from the scene of the negotiations, will be kept advised of the progress of the conference.

Peace Envoys Meet Tomorrow. Polish commissioners with authority to negotiate a preliminary treaty of peace expect to leave this city early tomorrow morning to meet Russian Soviet delegates somewhere on the road between Warsaw and Brest-Litovsk, the foreign office announced yesterday. The meeting, it was said, will take place between 5 and 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

After meeting the Soviet delegates on the road, the Polish commissioners will probably be taken to Minsk, where the formal peace conference is expected to take place.

The two-man mission that went to the front to inform the Bolsheviks that Poland wished to send peace delegates, met with success, and there is a more confident feeling in the city than has been prevalent during the last fortnight. High officials said they considered the fall of the city now out of the question.

The Polish mark, which has been quoted during the last few days at 270 for $1, took a decided turn for the better yesterday, rising to 275. Every possible effort is being made by the Polish Government to support the army facing the Bolsheviks at the gates of the capital.

Sleeping cars have been removed from all trains, except those running to Vitebsk, and the telephone system is being developed exclusively to government requirements. Women are playing a prominent part in all activities, many society leaders supervising sidewalk lunch stands at busy corners, where soldiers are given food and drink.

Waitresses from hotels and cafes have taken the places of men in all of Warsaw's commercial houses, the war offices and other branches of the government. More women are at present employed than at any time since the foundation of the republic.

Air raids over the Soviet lines along the Warsaw front are a daily part of the war.

COX TO SOUND OUT
LEAGUE SENTIMENT

Candidate in Speaking Tour Will Test Amount of Fervor Issue Arouses

IS READY TO SHIFT STAND

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent of the Evening Public Ledger.
Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 13.—The speech-making of Governor Cox, which will begin in earnest tomorrow before the Democratic state convention at Wheeling, W. Va., will probably be a tryout of the League of Nations issue.

His friends say that he believes he can arouse the crusading spirit of the American people by his presentation of the league as a guarantee against war. Others who know his mind say that he will shift his ground slightly in the coming speeches, declaring for the best league he can get through the Senate, thus indicating a willingness to accept, if necessary, the Lodge reservations.

But the coming tour will be a tryout of the issue. The only political reference in his speech here yesterday was to the league. He declared himself convinced that the great mass of American soldiers was united in purpose and prayer to prevent future wars. Moderate applause greeted this utterance of the candidate. The audience approved, but not with the fervor of the League of Nations issue. The same lack of warmth was noticeable when the governor made his speech of acceptance at Dayton. The big audience applauded, but more as if League of Nations were a Democratic catchword than a great faith.

Doesn't Move Heaters. And it is worth remarking now that the governor is starting upon a trip which may be the test of his campaign. He does not move an audience deeply. At no time yesterday, though Cox was addressing Ohioans at a sympathetic moment, was there any warmth of feeling between the speaker and his hearers.

The governor speaks with confidence and ease of a man used to addressing large audiences. But he is undramatic and his voice is not one of those that reach the vitals of his audience. His voice is too much in the upper ranges and sounds cold and a little hard and unpleasant when it drops to the lower ranges, as it did when he gracefully expressed his surprise that the marksmen who won the prize with a score of 149 out of a possible 150 could have been born elsewhere than in Ohio. It has a great deal of charm. But the governor ordinarily begins each sentence with high, almost falsetto metallic upper notes and almost invariably ending it with the sweeter, richer sound of his conversational tones. His voice does not move an audience. It is the fact that he can and does in personal intercourse use a sweeter voice which makes him known to every one as Jimmy.

Read Better Than They Sound. The Cox speeches are going to read better than they sound; and, being a newspaper man, the governor is aware that his real audience consists of readers. He is, perhaps, a little too aware of it. When his speech of acceptance had to be cut and hurried through because the parade was allowed to drag on, he was a little indifferent to his immediate audience. He does not establish a close rapport with them. Efficient men don't make good orators, and the governor has the temperamental coldness of a man who has worked hard, who has subjected himself to the iron discipline which leads to business success. There are forty-two members of the Legislature to be elected, five congressmen and four state senators.

Little Necessity. "In view of the very definite provisions of the charter, I don't think the committee will attempt the assessment of officeholders. They are certainly aware of the charter's provisions and would not try to carry out the old time practice.

"In the coming campaign, there will be little necessity for making such assessments, anyway. The interest centers chiefly in the national ticket.

"From the local standpoint, the fight will be only for members of the Legislature and congress. There are forty-two members of the Legislature to be elected, five congressmen and four state senators.

When you think of writing, think of WRITING.
