A Quaker Tin Roof. WHEN your grandfather was a small boy, there was a Quaker tinsmith in Philadelphia named James Truman—the sort of man who doesn't deal in substitutes, or "something else just as good." When a new roof was wanted on the old Horace Binney residence on Fourth street, they got James to put an old-fashioned tin roof over the shingles—for those old mossbacks, as we reverently call them, liked to have roofs that last. Well, that tin roof is there yet—1835 to 1920; that's eighty-five years so far! Quaker styles in hats and roofs change very slowly, because the stuff they use takes so long to wear out! Tin makes the best roof—but you want the best tin. Ask any roofer to name the best brands of roofing-tin. You're safe if he says NU-DURA-TIN. STANDARDIZED NU-DURA-TIN ROOFING

Store Hours: 9 to 5:30 Don't be old-fashioned—the gas range will beat everything in baking and roasting. Like voting, women must just take it up.

Down, Down, Down Over the Ears—Up, Up, Up Off the Face—These Are the Lines That Dominate

Whether tiny "crusader's hat," or Egyptian turban, with its sharply squared car-brim sides; or even the famous "Harlequin hat" with its saucy, irresistible swagger accentuated by the daring Turkish veil that hangs straight down in front.

Plumage Lends Its Flattering Note

Ostrich "fringed" or knotted or cobwebbed. Two-toed plumage Coque—(did you see it at the Paris Races?) Aligrettes—a new artificial Aligrette that captures all the beauty of the real Aligrette but none of its cruelty.

And Ornaments Are Blazoned Everywhere

So are ribbons—pompons of ribbon; rosettes of ribbon; bows of ribbon; loops. And "petit point"—a needlework stitch borrowed from old tapestries—works miracles!

Examples From Maria Guy, Vase-lin Villetard, Louison, Margaret et Leonie—Evelyn Varon—Armande Maguy—Lanvin—Lewis—Georgette. —Gimbels, Millinery Salons, Third floor
