GIRL OF 16 AND MAN ARE SHOT AT DANCE BY SPURNED SUITOR

Love-Crazed Youth Saved From Crowd by Police After Downtown Tragedy

MADE 2 ATTACKS BEFORE, ACCORDING TO RELATIVE

A sixteen-year-old girl and a man acquaintance, sitting out a dance in a hall at 928 East Moyamensing avenue, were shot shortly after midnight by Frank Brown, twenty years old, 405 Washington avenue, who had been repulsed by the girl.

Helen Green, blonde and pretty, one of the victims, and at whom, her brother says, Brown had shot twice before, was shot in the left hip as she ran down the hall. She lives at 137 Fitzwater street. The injured man was Frank Franchetti, twenty-six years old, 3804 South Eighth second street. Two bullets struck Franchetti, one entering a leg, the other an arm. He and the injured girl were taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital.

SPURNED SUITOR AND GIRL HE SHOT

Brown was captured as he was leaving the dance hall. Patrolmen stood guard over him until a patrol wagon arrived. A crowd of dancers had threatened him with bodily harm.

At the hospital today Helen said she was not really acquainted with Brown. She danced with him once about a year ago.

Girl Tells of Shooting

"I was sitting with my sister Frances and a young man I had been dancing with," she said. "The man who did the shooting sat across the hall. He kept giving me black looks. After a while he started over toward us. "I thought he was going to ask for a dance. As he approached he pulled a pistol from his pocket. He fired twice and the young man with me was hit. I started to run down the hall. Then I felt a sudden stab of pain in the hip and I fell down."

The dance was the annual one of the Green's Club, which is near Miss Green's home. She bought two tickets and took Frances, aged eighteen years. While there they met Franchetti. Patrolmen Giber and Lobor, of the Seventh and Carpenter streets station, had heard the shots and were just entering the hall as Brown ran out, revolver in hand. Franchetti was grappled with him and soon subdued him.

But the angered dancers gathered round, aiming blows at the jealous lover and threatening to lynch him. Giber and Lobor stepped in, and after a while they had broken up the crowd at bay.

Some one had sent a riot call to the station and patrolmen of the Seventh and Carpenter and Second and Christian streets stations soon arrived, filled with patrolmen.

They helped the patrolmen get their prisoner through the crowd and to the Seventh and Carpenter streets station. Brown told them he shot Miss Green and Franchetti because he was jealous. Miss Green, he said, had written to go with him, and when he saw her with another man he became angry.

Frances Green said today that her sister had first met Brown at a dance in the hall with her mother. She said, but refused to make an engagement to meet him later.

Following that, she said, Brown persistently sought engagements with Helen Green, following her on the streets and annoying her in other ways. But the girl refused to make an engagement with him.

Tells of Former Attack

Leon Green, brother of the injured girl, says Brown shot at his sister once at Fourth and Christian streets, and again at Second and Fitzwater streets some time ago. His sister, he said, had received many letters from Brown.

At the station today the girl would not admit she had been shot until the police saw the blood seeping through her garments.

Brown's mother, at her home on Washington avenue, today said she formerly was a service man. He was sent to Camp Hancock, she said, but was discharged when it was learned he had heart trouble. Marie Brown, sister of the alleged assailant, says her brother was intoxicated when she saw him in the station house early this morning.

Brown was held without bail for a further hearing two weeks from today by Magistrate Baker, in the Seventh and Carpenter streets station house.

SHIPPING BOARD NAMED; BENSON IS RENOMINATED

Four Democrats and Three Republicans Nominated

Washington, Nov. 13.—(By A. P.)—Reappointment of Rear Admiral William S. Benson as chairman of the shipping board was announced today at the White House. At the same time announcement was made of the appointment of six other members of the board authorized by the merchant marine act. Benson is appointed from Georgia as a Democrat for a term of six years.

The other six members are: Frederick I. Thompson, Alabama, Democrat, five years; Joseph N. Teal, Oregon, Democrat, four years; John A. Donald, New York, Democrat, three years; Chester H. Rowell, California, Republican, two years; Guy D. Goff, Wisconsin, Republican, one year; Charles Sutter, Missouri, Republican, one year.

The chairman and Mr. Donald are reappointed from the present board, while the selection of Mr. Thompson and Mr. Teal was made some time ago, but was not announced because some of the members appointed then declined to serve. They included Theodore Marsburg, of Baltimore; Gavin McNab, of San Francisco, and Martin Gillen, of Wisconsin.

Under the law not more than four members of the board can be of any one political party. Four Democrats and three Republicans have been appointed, but in some quarters today doubt was expressed whether the Republican Senate would approve this political alignment in view of the fact that a Republican administration will come into power on next March 4. It was regarded as possible that action on the nominations would be held up until after March 4.

CARL AMBASSADOR TO STAND TO SHOW GRIFFITHS IS SANE

Roland S. Morris and Neurologists Tell of Talks With Aged Manufacturer

NURSE REFUSED ATTORNEY ADMITTANCE TO RESIDENCE

Roland S. Morris, ambassador to Japan, testified today he believed George Griffiths, a wealthy retired manufacturer, of Wayne, was sane and competent to manage his affairs.

The proceedings in Common Pleas to the Griffiths in Common Pleas Court No. 4, before Judge McCullen, resulted from a petition of Mrs. J. H. Kurtz, a niece of Griffiths, to have the eighty-year-old blind man declared insane and incompetent.

Public interest over the case has been aroused because of allegations that Griffiths had been spirited away to an asylum sixteen years ago and that for eight years he has been in custody of a male nurse.

Louis I. Reichner, an attorney and Griffiths' nephew, holds a power of attorney from his uncle and is handling his estate.

Tells of Realty Company

Ambassador Morris testified he and his colleagues in a law firm formed the Interity Realty Co. to handle the real estate of wealthy persons. Reichner was made treasurer, he said, and subsequently sold properties belonging to the Griffiths.

Mr. Morris had been called to the stand by Owen J. Roberts, an attorney opposing the petition.

"You intend to resume the practice of law," asked Mr. Roberts, the ambassador. Mr. Morris said he expected to.

Dr. Francis X. Dercum and Dr. Francis Sinker testified earlier in the proceedings that Mr. Griffiths was sane and competent. Both physicians recalled conversations they had had with the aged man.

Had Known Wilson

Mr. Griffiths, according to Dr. Sinker, was keenly interested in the illness of President Wilson. The retired manufacturer, he said, had known Mr. Wilson as president of Princeton University.

Further testimony as to the sanity of the aged man was given by the Rev. Dr. George Griffiths Bartlett, dean of the North Presbyterian Church. Mr. Griffiths is his godfather.

Emmett B. Finn, the male nurse who has been caring for Griffiths was summoned to the stand. He said he had known Griffiths for twenty years, but for eight years he has been $30 a week, he said, and lives in Mr. Griffiths' home in Wayne with Mrs. Finn and their children.

On the occasion of the hearing Griffiths' home in Wayne was Mr. Griffiths' home by former Judge Gordon. Asked if he hadn't shut the door in Mr. Gordon's face, he replied the former judge had come to the door, but that he managed to close it.

Finn denied he had told Gordon at that time that the house was the nurse's. He said he had told a lawyer Mr. Griffiths owned the house.

Subsequently, it developed from testimony, Mr. Gordon succeeded in seeing and interviewing Mr. Griffiths. At that time, it was stated in court, the lawyer asked the aged recluse if he was sane, and Griffiths replied "I am sane." Neurologists also testified that Griffiths is sane.

Examined by Dercum

Dr. Francis X. Dercum, professor of nervous diseases, and one of President Wilson's physicians, was the first to examine Griffiths. He testified he saw Griffiths March 28 and November 10. He was sane and competent, Dr. Dercum asserted.

During conversations of more than an hour, the retired manufacturer outlined his business history since he came from England, sixty years ago. He is now eighty-two years of age.

Dr. Francis Sinker, who has been Mr. Griffiths' family physician since 1910, was the next witness. In relating conversations he had with Griffiths, Dr. Sinker said they discussed President Wilson's illness, and talked over a number of books the aged man had read.

Called Blind and Senile

Cross-examined by former Judge Gordon, Dr. Sinker admitted he had said Mr. Griffiths suffered from senility and blindness. He said the first witness had been the aged man to be seen by any one, the witness replied the orders were given at the request of the patient.

It was stated Griffiths' fortune is said to be about $150,000.

LAMBERTON PLANS NEW HOUSING LAWS

8 Per Cent Interest Rate, "Eviction Court" and 30-Day Notice in Leases Proposed

O PUSH BILLS AT CAPITAL

An increase to 8 per cent from the present 6 per cent legal interest rate in Pennsylvania; an "eviction court," and a thirty-day minimum for the termination of leases are proposals embodied in housing relief legislation being drafted by Sheriff Lambertson.

The tentative bills as drawn by the sheriff are to be introduced in the next Legislature, which meets in January. The proposed laws, it is believed, will clear away big obstacles to adequate housing in the city and provide for greater justice between landlords and tenants.

Capital for home building is being withheld to a large extent because other investments offer a more attractive interest yield. An increase to 8 per cent on mortgage interests, it is believed, will remedy this situation.

The proposed "eviction court" is another important item in the sheriff's plans. At present eviction writs are issued automatically, with no provision for court hearings before the writs are served. As a result families frequently are dispossessed and are unable to find other homes.

To Head Delegation

The sheriff plans to head a delegation of tenants and real estate men which will go to Harrisburg to urge the passage of the suggested legislation. Recently the sheriff has been active in settling disputes between landlords and tenants, and is a member of the housing adjustment committee of which William J. Nash, president of the United Business Men's Association, is chairman.

Charles York, twenty-seven years old, middle-aged driver of the stock old, was arrested and held for a further hearing tomorrow. The truck was wrecked and the front of the trolley demolished in the collision.

RED AND BLUE TACKLES DARTMOUTH IN ANNUAL FOOTBALL FRAY AT FRANKLIN FIELD

Filled with the old Penn fighting spirit Johnny Heisman's Red and Blue eleven tackled the big Green football team from Dartmouth before a capacity crowd on Franklin Field this afternoon. It was an ideal day for the great college sport. It was just cold enough to make furs and heavy overcoats comfortable for the spectators.

The scene of the pig-skin enthusiasm for conflict and the cheering power of a brilliant November day were in the air. Everywhere the undergraduates were talking of the team, and they were in the team too. Any one could have deduced that from the general run of their conversation. The Red and Blue students seemed to have put the defeats behind them and to be looking only for success in the future game. This spirit is the one that wins and with it Pennsylvania can triumph, but without it there isn't a chance for anything but failure.

Big Ticket Demand

While the students were preparing to make their way into the stands to root for the Pennsylvania team the Athletic Association office was being besieged by ninth-hour ticket purchasers. Although it had been announced previously that tickets would be sold at noon from the box offices of the Locust and Spruce street entrances of Franklin Field, there were hundreds who didn't want to take a chance on missing the game. Hence they made every effort to get a seat.

As usual, Boy Scouts assisted the students in doing the ushering and presiding over the team. The Pennsylvania band was ready early to lead the cheering sections of the Red and Blue in their battle songs. Opposite the Pennsylvania rosters a big section of the north stand was taken by Dartmouth undergraduates and alumni, who gave

WARSHIPS MUST REDUCE SPEED TO SAVE FUEL

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Because of the fuel oil shortage, naval vessels equipped with oil-burning engines were ordered today to reduce their speed. Fuel oil burning vessels will steam at economical speed, except when carrying out urgent military duties or exercises. The use of tugs, launches and harbor craft shall be limited to strictly naval duty and fuel oil thereby conserved."

DANIELS WARMS HAZING

Navy Department Will 'Go the Limit' to Repress It

Washington, Nov. 13.—(By A. P.)—Declaring that the Navy Department would "go the limit" to uphold the authorities of the naval academy at Annapolis in their efforts to stamp out hazing at the institution, Secretary Daniels today ordered that no hazing would be tolerated and that any number of midshipmen would be dismissed necessarily to end the practice.

"I would rather have 100 men at Annapolis who can obey orders than 2200 who cannot," said Mr. Daniels. "When I came into the navy department there were only 800 students at the academy, although there are 2200 now the navy would survive if the number were reduced to 800 again. The presence of insubordinate midshipmen is not desired. Men who are being trained to obey orders must first of all learn to obey."

One midshipman already has been expelled, the secretary announced, adding that he had entire confidence in Rear Admiral Scales' ability to handle the situation.

A disappointed thief who possessed an abundance of conscience returned Mrs. Pauline Schadt, of 3958 North Darrien street, today a package of personal papers he had stolen from her home yesterday.

Mrs. Schadt is much mystified by the theft. She told the police that the man who robbed her home was evidently under the impression that she had considerable money hidden in the house. Mrs. Schadt's husband disappeared on August 23. She suspects that he is being held captive by crooks and that one of his captors took Schadt's keys and gained entrance to the house yesterday.

The thief took Mrs. Schadt's marriage license, the deed of her home, two bank books, five insurance policies, some old gas bills and a dollar bill. All of these were in a trunk which was forced open. All were returned in the package received today but the marriage license and the $1 bill.

It cost forty cents in postage to return the package, said Mrs. Schadt. "I think the thief was looking for some big treasure which he thought I had hidden in the house."
