

"PILGRIM FATHER" at new home. The statue, which has been on City Hall plaza for fifteen years, was accepted yesterday by the Fairmount Park Commission at its permanent resting place in Fairmount Park. The Rev. Roger S. Forbes, minister of the Unitarian Church of Germantown, is making an address.

NEW YORK'S VENETIAN BALL. The event, held at the Ritz-Carlton, was an elaborate affair. It was in aid of America's tribute to Italy. At the left is Mrs. Preston Gibson. Miss Judith Smith is at the right.

IDENTIFICATION MARKS. A New York institute for deaf and dumb children is marking the name of the institute on the child's back with indelible ink. It will be useful in the event of the child being lost.

ARRIVED ON THE OLYMPIC. Miss Leonora Hughes, the well-known London dancer and partner of the famous "Maurice," is in New York.

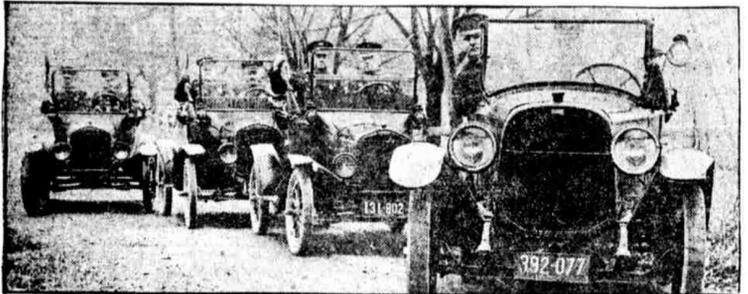

POLICE GUARDING UNION CLUB. The photograph was taken Thursday in front of the clubhouse at Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street, New York, a few minutes after the crowd coming from a memorial mass for Terence MacSwiney made an attack on the club because a British flag was displayed. American and Sinn Fein flags are being carried by the crowd.

JUST GETTING HER TO MOVE ON. The New York police are forcing one of the women members of the crowd that attacked the Union Club to get out of the region of the attack.

GOING TO RUSSIA. Some of the Russian missionaries who left the mission at 1820 Spring Garden street yesterday to spread the gospel in the fatherland. The group at the left is part of the Russian gospel band that goes with the party. In the etching at the right is shown William Felter, who is in charge of the Christian pilgrimage. Miss Demitrix is a missionary.

ABINGTON'S MOTOR POLICE CORPS. Chief of Police H. S. Lever, of Abington, with the cars and men that keep auto thieves and road bandits moving in Abington township.

TWO WAYS OF GOING THROUGH COLLEGE. The old way is represented by B. B. Pace on the horse, while the new way of bluffing it is shown by Shattuck and Thayer in their "bull" make-up, with Gordon Carrigan as the student. This was part of the alumni celebration at Penn yesterday.

DR. LEON LEGRAIN, curator, discusses the Nippur tablets in an interview on the editorial page.

"FARMERS" AT PENN. ALUMNI CELEBRATION. H. L. Allman took the part of the much-abused husband, while H. B. Cohen did the broom swinging as "Mrs. Farmer."

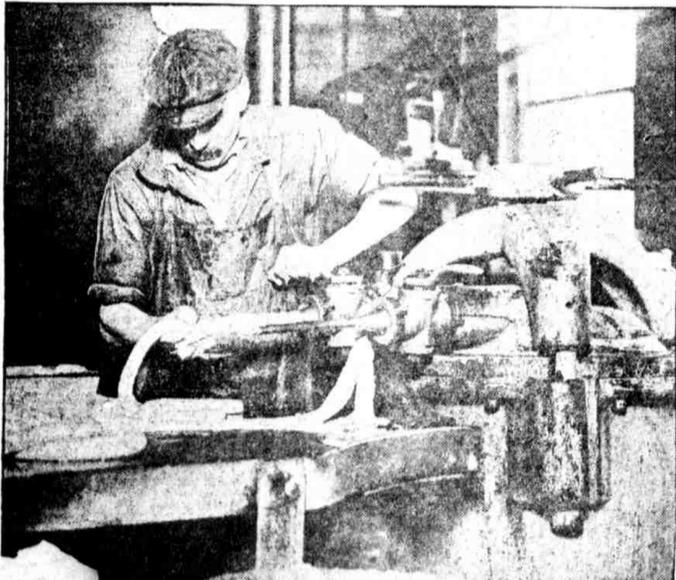

CARRYING OUT THE LIQUOR. This federal prohibition agent is one of a dozen that raided the saloon of J. Gallagher at 1218 Race street yesterday.

HOMELESS FAMILY OF IRELAND. This scene shows three women of Granard, County Longford, Ireland, following the night that their home was burned by a raiding party.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

SAGE CASINGS. L. Geibel, 4840 Olive street, is operating the machine that stuffs sausage an hour at the Wilson-Martin Co. plant, Thirty-sixth street and Grays Ferry avenue.

MISS DORIS STEVENS, executive member of the National Woman's party, leaving New York to persuade European women to attend the suffrage convention to be held in Washington next February.

SEMAPHORE SENTINELS

STATIONED AT BROAD STREET AND SOUTH PENN SQUARE for twelve years. He is Harry Krenz, forty-five years old, of 2467 Amber street, where his wife and three children live. Krenz went into the police department fifteen years ago. When there is time he goes to Somers Point, N. J., for a day of fishing.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

VICE ADMIRAL SIR WILLIAM PAKENHAM, commander of the North American and West Indian station, with headquarters in Bermuda, is shown with Secretary Daniels in Washington.

MISS NAN PARSONS 5115 Girard Avenue Philadelphia