

STATE AID OPPOSED BY U. OF P. ALUMNI

Reports Show Graduates Want Complete Independence, but Faculty Differs

TRUSTEES DEFER ACTION

One hundred representative graduates of the University of Pennsylvania, reporting to the alumni, advocate that the University be a purely private institution, supported by voluntary contributions, and do entirely without state aid.

A committee of the University of Pennsylvania faculty does not agree with the alumni, contending that a close relationship between the University and the state, with large appropriations, is desirable. The definite alignment has been made in the report of the board of trustees, and action will be deferred.

The alumni report makes eight notable suggestions in furtherance of the plan for a purely private institution, supported by voluntary contributions, and do entirely without state aid.

Would Require Tests

These suggestions are: 1. "During any year the admission solely on the basis of school certificate or record, and requiring entrance examinations in every case, supplemented by a selective process."

Accepting as students only those who are enrolled as candidates for degrees, or who are pursuing general and elective courses of study laid out by the faculty.

The elimination of extension and extramural courses of instruction, except such as may be conducted by the faculty.

The revision of all courses of the undergraduate study with a view to the separation from the University of the School of Education and the college course for teachers, placing such work under the supervision of the state with state responsibility for maintenance.

The establishment of a separate department for women on the Bennett campus, and the segregation of men and women in undergraduate courses of instruction.

The transfer to the state of the department and hospital.

A continuation of state aid to the University which may be under the control of the University as charitable institutions.

Can Spare Them, Says Faculty

On the other hand, the report of the faculty committee says: "It is possible that certain classes of students would not come to the college in sufficient numbers if it were a private institution. That would be a matter of regret, but their number would not be large and it could hardly be expected that the University should get any other department of the University than the college."

At the conclusion of the meeting of the trustees, the chairman of the trustees' committee on University affairs, Mr. J. H. McKeen, said that the board of trustees has resolved to refer the reports to the board of trustees, with an explanatory statement.

Resolved, That in view of the importance of the subject and the help of these two reports in regard to the question of the University, the board of trustees is authorized to refer the reports to the board of trustees, with an explanatory statement, and to report thereon at its next meeting.

JOHN BOYLE Employed in the delivery department of the Public Ledger Co., who died Monday

NEWSPAPER EMPLOYEE DIES

John Boyle Was 38 Years in Public Ledger Delivery Department

John Boyle, for thirty-eight years employed in the delivery department of the PUBLIC LEDGER, died late Monday night at his home, 1936 North Crooked street. He was fifty-four years old.

Mr. Boyle was considered one of the fastest and most accurate "counters" and folders in the city. He was known as "Teddy" and was most popular with his fellows.

Last July he told friends that he did not believe he would live to see the end of the year 1920. He is survived by a wife and six children.

WIFE-SLAYER CONFESSES

Clifton Heights Man Says He Abused Stepchildren

Paul Dick last night confessed he shot and killed his wife, Rose Dick, at their home at Clifton Heights, late Monday night.

He declared he shot the woman because she abused his five children by a first marriage, and ended his confession by declaring:

"Now, you can send me to the electric chair, I don't care what happens to me, for I am glad she is dead and my children will not be browbeaten and mistreated."

The body of Mrs. Dick was found in the yard of the Clifton Heights home with a bullet wound through the heart. Dick at first said she had committed suicide, but an investigation was made by Chief of Police McGowan.

Dick was arrested, as was a son, John Dick, and a boarder in the Dick home, John Heryn. Questioned in his cell, Dick finally broke down and confessed.

It has been decided to institute a week of activities for the graduating class, March 7-12, to be known as Senior Week, in line with the Junior Week held just before the Thanksgiving recess. The Ivy Ball will be one of the features of this week.

As so far planned, Senior Week will include chapel exercises, the dedication of a memorial tablet to the University and a banquet on Monday, a series of "open-house" receptions in the fraternities on Tuesday, a smoker or some class function Wednesday, a theatre party on Thursday, the Ivy Ball Friday and a senior class representation at the Pennsylvania-Princeton basketball game Saturday.

NEW THRIFT PLAN GIVEN TO WOMEN

Mrs. Henry D. Jump Announces Change of Policy in Treasury Campaign

WOULD AMEND "DRY" ACT

Mrs. Henry D. Jump has announced a change in policy of the savings division of the Treasury Department in Washington in connection with the work among women's clubs.

To intensify and concentrate the work of thrift and economy among these organizations commencing this month it will be conducted directly from the national headquarters at Washington.

Greater responsibilities will be put upon the women's organizations, and the district representatives will be required to devote themselves to teaching principles of thrift and investment through the actual sales of government savings securities.

A plea has been sent out by Mrs. Imogen B. Oakley, chairman of the civil service reform division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, urging all club women to take prompt action in favor of a bill introduced in Congress remedying defects in the Volstead act.

Senators and representatives will probably be deluged with resolutions from clubs and personal letters from interested women. They did not express any sympathy for John, instead they loaded up revolvers and guns and tried to allay the fears of the women folks. For John had managed to inject a real scare into them.

Then John overplayed his hand. He secured the services of a professional actor, who impersonated a woman, and went to the club, where he was recognized as the woman who had been seen in the city today.

Miss Jane Richards dismissed "Public Questions" at the South Broad Street Theatre this morning, under the auspices of the Whittford Lodge committee.

James Price spoke at the Philomathean Club on "The Cockpit of the Levant." This afternoon Mr. Price spoke on current events before the Woman's Club of Wynona, and was followed by a talk on "Americanism Through Music" by Mrs. Edward W. Bok. The hostesses were Mrs. George A. Denny and Mrs. Matthew Walker.

Dr. John Dennis Mahoney addressed the Woman's Club of Hala-Cynwyd at its meeting at Cynwyd this afternoon.

The Review Club, of Oak Lane, met this afternoon in the Oak Lane Library. Visiting club presidents gave the program—Mrs. Walter G. Sibby, Germantown; Mrs. Ralph R. Hoops, Fox Chase; Mrs. P. P. Gheen, Harbortown; Mrs. Charles N. Sturtevant, Frankford; Mrs. Richard Watson, Doylestown.

The monthly meeting of the Plastic Club took place this afternoon at the clubhouse, 247 South Camac street.

Mrs. Edward W. Biddle, president of the Civic Club, was the guest of honor at the reception preceding the stated meeting of the New Century Club this afternoon. Mrs. Walter Willard, Mrs. Eddy R. Whitney, Mrs. Henry C. Register, Mrs. J. W. Levering, Mrs. John M. Whitall and Mrs. Murdoch Kendrick assisted the president, Mrs. H. S. Prentiss Nichols, in receiving.

The Philadelphia Colony of the National Society of New England Women met at 2106 Walnut street this afternoon. "Early Churches of New England" was the subject of the paper presented.

COULDN'T FOOL JENKINTOWN WITH FAKE HOLD-UP TALE

"Victim" Made Story Too Realistic and Aroused Fear and Indignation Instead of Sympathy and Money

Because he was without funds, John T. Jackson, sixty years old, of Switchville, in Abington township, concocted a thrilling story of a hold-up, in his play for the sympathy of wealthy suburbanites.

Jackson telephoned Chief of Police William B. Thomas, at the Jenkintown station, that two motor bandits had held him up with a revolver, at Walnut and West avenues, Jenkintown, and while Christmas carols were being sung from a nearby church they relieved him of $35 and a $50 watch and chain. He described the bandits and the machine and the gun and the watch—everyone knew the numbers of the stolen notes.

The "victim" was a real press agent—for himself. He talked to every one in Jenkintown who would listen, embellishing the tale each time.

But the Jenkintownites would not come across. They did not express any sympathy for John, instead they loaded up revolvers and guns and tried to allay the fears of the women folks. For John had managed to inject a real scare into them.

Then John overplayed his hand. He secured the services of a professional actor, who impersonated a woman, and went to the club, where he was recognized as the woman who had been seen in the city today.

PATROLMAN GRABS BOMB FROM AUTO

Extinguishes Burning Fuse and Prevents Explosion Near Bellevue-Stratford

MOTOR OF WILLIAM FITLER

A lighted bomb, of amateur construction, was placed in the automobile of William Fitler, Jr., 1000 Walnut street, while the machine was standing in Bellevue Court, near the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, at 1 o'clock this morning.

Patrolman O'Brien, of the Fifteenth and Locust streets station, grabbed the bomb, without realizing it was an instrument of death. When he saw the nature of the piece of metal in his hand he quickly pinched the burning end of the fuse and prevented an explosion.

Police believe the bomb was placed by sympathizers with the striking taxi-cab drivers, and was put in the Fitler car in error.

Mr. Fitler had parked his car in Bellevue Court early last night. Early this morning, Alfred Martin, 1930 Wallace street, saw smoke coming from the rear seat of the machine and called to the patrolman.

The patrolman grabbed a fuse, burning to within less than a foot of an 18-inch section of iron pipe, more than one inch in diameter.

O'Brien was startled, but pinched the fuse until the last vestige of heat was gone. Then he removed the "cap" and poured out a black substance, believed by the police to be high explosive powder.

The bomb was taken, dismantled, to the Fifteenth and Locust streets police station, and men were immediately detailed to make the investigation.

Mr. Fitler, who is a student at Princeton University, was inclined to regard lightly the theory that any one intended the outrage for him.

FUNERAL OF CLERGYMAN

Service for the Rev. Henry Osborne Jones Held at Gibbsboro, N. J.

The funeral of the Rev. Henry Osborne Jones, pastor of the Church of St. John of the Wilderness, Gibbsboro, N. J., was held from that church this morning. The service was in charge of the Rev. Martin B. Stockett, rector of the Church of Our Savior, Camden.

There had been an agreement between the two clergymen that the funeral service of the first to die should be conducted by the other. The clergy of the New Jersey Diocese were present at the services, including Bishop Park Matthews and Arch Deacon R. Bowden Sheppard, of Trenton.

The Rev. Mr. Jones was well known in the diocese and was president of the Church School Institute for years. He was thirty-five years old and he is survived by a widow. Two weeks ago he suffered an attack of paralysis while conducting a service, and grew steadily worse until his death on New Year's Day.

WOMAN, HURT, GETS $1000

Movie Company Mulcted for Injury to Theatre Spectator

A jury in Judge Anderson's court rendered a verdict of $1000 damages for Mary Booth, who was injured while at a moving picture theatre at Sixth and Jackson streets, conducted by the Grand Amusement Co.

The plaintiff was seated in the second row from the rear, when the crash of the crowd, waiting to get seats, became so great as to break down the brass guard rail.

Mrs. Booth was thrown partly from her chair and injured.

TAXI RIDE ENDS IN JAIL

"Mr. Hanna," Who Was Going to Pay Bill, Doesn't

Joseph Humphries, twenty-three years old; his wife Florence, thirty-four, and a friend, who gave her name as Sadie Belg, thirty-six years old, 2855 North Lawrence street, were held by Magistrate Price in the Twenty-second street and Hunting Park avenue station this morning until they could find some one who would pay a taxicab bill for $8.70 they contracted last night.

Their assurances to the magistrate that "Mr. Hanna" would be here shortly and pay it were met with true judicial skepticism.

According to Walter MacCauley, 1700 Rowan street, a Quaker City Taxicab Co. chauffeur, who had them arrested, Humphries had the cab at Fourth and Cambria streets, and was driven to his home, 19 East Seitzer street, with the two women. From there they ordered MacCauley to drive to Sixty-sixth street and Lansdowne avenue, where after a drinking party in the cab, MacCauley quieted a quarrel between Humphries and his wife. Becoming suspicious of their ability to pay, he delivered his "fares" to the police. According to latest reports from the station house, "Mr. Hanna" is still out of the picture.

SUSPECT DRUG POISONING

Sailor Dies in Hospital After Becoming Ill on Street

Norman Passon, thirty-five years old, 827 Race street, believed to be a sailor on a foreign ship which arrived here yesterday, died last night as the result of narcotic poisoning.

Passon complained of feeling ill and was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital in the patrol of the Eleventh and Winter streets station. His condition rapidly grew worse and he died several hours after being admitted.

Physicians diagnosed the case as alcoholism, but said they believed the man had been under the effect of some narcotic such as heroin or opium. When the man's clothes were searched two small bottles, containing a white powder, fell from his pockets.

The clean-up order was one of Mayor Moore's first moves in his war on the Brown-Vare-Cunningham combination. The Mayor, in a straight-from-the-shoulder talk with Marple, told him to do police duty only, and to pay no attention to politicians of high or low degree.

"I am going to keep the poolroom closed," declared Lieutenant Marple today. "Several hold-ups which occurred on the Parkway can be traced to that place."

"The raid last night is only a beginning. All proprietors of poolrooms whose suspicious characters gather have been warned they cannot do business in the district," he continued.

POOLROOM RAIDED IN BROWN'S WARD

Police Head Sent to Clean Up Fifteenth Wards "Pull" Will Not Protect

A challenge was hurled today by Lieutenant Grant Marple at the bandits, gamblers and vice traffickers in the Fifteenth ward, where President Judge Brown, of the Municipal Court, is the political leader.

The challenge followed a quietly conducted raid on a poolroom at Sixteenth and Wood streets last night. The place is described by Lieutenant Marple as "a rendezvous for crooks and thugs."

Thirty "patrons" were driven from the place and a police quarantine was established.

The lieutenant recently was assigned to command the Twenty-first and Buttonwood streets station, with orders to clean up the Fifteenth ward, covering the area from Vine street to Poplar, and from Broad street to the Schuylkill river.

Children Gnawing at Bones Like Dogs, Eating Grass and Leaves Until They Die Bloated. Babies Suck at Balls of Sawdust

Think of your little ones on such food! Yet millions of children are so living to keep starvation away. All they ask is one meal a day. Starving, cold and sick, these little ones cry out for help—a slice of bread, a cup of milk, a bowl of barley. Can we hear this cry and not help? As Mr. Hoover says, these children are praying, "Give us this day our daily bread under the American flag."
