

GEORGES CARPENTIER HAS TWENTY STYLES OF BOXING—ENOUGH TO SCORE A KNOCKOUT FORWARD PASSES BARRED IN ICE HOCKEY; RULES AGAINST OFFSIDE AND FOULS RIGIDLY ENFORCED

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

NOW that ice hockey has taken its place as one of our leading winter sports it is no more than proper to keep the suffering public informed about the game, the players and the rules. Basketball, soccer, water polo and other indoor pastimes are familiar here and the rules well known. But in ice hockey there is much that the new fan must learn. Often he wonders why it is that a certain player will rush speedily by the disc, make no effort to carry it along and leave it for an opposing player. Then again we find some players removed from the ice for a few minutes, return again during the same period, be removed again by the referee and still be allowed to get back into the game.

any of his own side behind him (i. e., between himself and the end of the rink near which his goal is placed). "A player shall endeavor to be always on his side of the puck and persistent failure to do so shall be punished as loafing, and penalized as a foul. "A player being offside is put inside when the puck has been hit by or has touched the dress or person of any player of the opposite side, or when one of his side has run in front of him, either with the puck or having played it when behind him. "If a player when offside plays the puck or annoys or obstructs an opponent, the puck shall be faced (dropping of puck between two opposing players) where it was last played before the offside occurred. A player on the defending side shall not be offside when he takes a pass from or plays the puck as it bounds off his goalkeeper, or the end of the rink or netting, or is passed by any of his teammates within a space of twenty feet, out from the goal and extending to the side of the rink."

IN THIS respect ice hockey differs from football because forward passing is not allowed. It took many years for the forward pass to break into the gridiron game. Some day it may break out on the ice, but as the rule now stands only lateral and backward passing between two players of the same team are allowed. Triple passes are not barred.

Philadelphia Takes Lead on Ice

NOW looks as though the hockey scene has shifted to this city. Boston, Pittsburgh and New York in the past disputed among themselves the right to be classed as the ice hockey center of America. Now they don't even dispute it. They all admit that Philadelphia has taken the lead in this popular winter sport. Pittsburgh recently lost its team, the amateur hockey solons maintaining that the managers did not follow the amateur code. New York has no rink, consequently no hockey teams. Boston just opened its new ice-skating home. There they have only two club teams and the Harvard team. And the Boston arena and Harvard players have followed what Philadelphia started—the numbering system for players.

GEORGE F. PAWLING, of the Ice Palace, made it compulsory last year that every team playing here must wear numbers. This same ruling has been enforced rigidly this season. But that other reason why Philadelphia is the new leader in the hockey sport—it is here that five teams, all good ones, are making their home. Penn. Quaker City, Princeton, Yale and St. Nicholas, all with a reputation and a following.

Famous Players in Line-Up of Boston Team TWO leagues will open this week. On Friday night Penn and Princeton will start the intercollegiate season at the Ice Palace. Then, on Saturday night, Quaker City plays the Boston Shoe Trades in the opening game of the United States Amateur Hockey Association championship season.

Boston is sending down what is believed to be one of the strongest amateur teams ever put together. Raymond Shelton, weighing around 220 pounds, reputed to be one of the fastest men who ever wore skates—dashing, flashing and dangerous—will lead the Bostonians. There is Red Symont, a member of the American Olympic team; Geran, another Olympic player; O'Sullivan, noted hockeyist; Small, all-American goal, and Connolly.

BOSTON has so much hockey talent from which to select a team that it is a real job to pick the right men. However, these selections will stand. And according to P. W. Wannaker, a member of the Quaker City team, who once played with the Boston Arena, this is the line-up of Eddie Hills on the ice. It's SOME hockey team.

There are three kinds of fouls—minor, major and match. The first consists of holding an opponent or his stick or tripping when a goal is not in danger, loosing offside, offside interference and stopping of a goal by being or kneeling on the ice. For violation of this rule the player is ruled off for three minutes, but a third offense for loosing offside constitutes a major foul and the penalty provided therefor applies. A major foul consists of throwing a stick to prevent a score, tripping or holding an opponent or his stick to prevent a score, cross checking, charging from behind, hooking, cross checking, holding or charging the goal keeper, or interference by a substitute player before the player he is replacing is entirely out of the play. For the first offense the player is ruled off for five minutes, for the second, ten minutes, and the third offense brings an expulsion for the remainder of the game. When a player deliberately throws his stick to prevent a score, the referee is allowed to award a goal to the offside side. A match foul consists of deliberately injuring or disabling an opponent, or fighting. The minimum penalty is a ten-minute suspension from play. A second match foul offense in any one game is barred from all games until his case has been investigated by the president of the league.

All of which goes to prove that ice hockey is far from being classed with parades and checkers. It is well named football on skates. It requires speed, courage, skill, endurance and intelligence. But it is up to the referee in this sport the same as in any other. He must use his head and differentiate between hard, aggressive play and intentional rough work. This game is so fast and requires so much speed that the official naturally must guess strongly occasionally.

Offside Commonest Offense in Hockey

THE most common offense in ice hockey is the offside. We freely admit that hockey is new to us, and for a time we believed that the referee blew the whistle for exercise or for a chance to rest. At least we were unable to observe that anything was wrong or that any harm had been done. Now that Mr. Welling, our referee, has introduced and has been tossed upon the ice and the game has redoubled much intelligent relief. According to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules, which are used here, the offside ruling is: "A player always shall be in front of the puck or when the puck has been hit, touched or is being run with by

CARISS TO COACH PENN NINE AGAIN

Reported That He Will Be Selected for Another Year by Baseball Committee

Dr. Walter Cariss, coach of the University of Pennsylvania baseball team last spring, will in all probability be recommended by the baseball committee for another term, according to an authoritative report heard this morning. It is said that at the baseball committee meeting which is to take place tomorrow or Thursday, the name of Dr. Cariss will be brought before it and that it is expected to pass unanimously. The recommendation of the football committee will be made before the athletic council which meets Friday, and it is expected that favorable action will also be taken there.

Ever since the close of the football season persistent rumors have invaded the environs of the campus to the effect that Dr. Cariss would not return this spring. The games of prominent baseball players were mentioned, one being Homer Wagner, the famous old Princeton shortstop. Dr. Cariss himself stated that he knew nothing at all about the situation and that any information would have to come from the baseball committee.

The information gleaned this morning clears up the rumors. Cariss is intensely popular with the players, a great deal of whom have recently made a grave mistake which he made if he was not given another year. Last year his team was weakened by the lack of experienced players. Walter Hartzinger, being available for the big games. At that time games were won and as many lost.

Pen Points

Penn's ball schedule for the winter season is as follows: vs. Princeton, Jan. 15; vs. Harvard, Jan. 16; vs. Yale, Jan. 17; vs. Columbia, Jan. 18; vs. Princeton, Jan. 19; vs. Harvard, Jan. 20; vs. Yale, Jan. 21; vs. Columbia, Jan. 22.

Joe Strass, who has been in the Red and Blue, has been named as the manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

George Kistler, who has been in the Red and Blue, has been named as the manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Philadelphia Ice Hockey Association will be held at the University City Hotel on Friday night, Jan. 15. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock and will be presided over by the president of the association, Mr. J. H. Smith.

Coach Joe Wright, of the Penn. team, has been named as the manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

Penn football men think that Philadelphia has made a big mistake in selecting Joe Cariss as manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. They believe that the Penn. team will be defeated by the Red and Blue players of the year.

WELLING IN DRAW

Philadelphia Joe Rallies in Battle With Gus Franchetti

The wind-up of the Amateur last night proved to be one of the most spectacular bouts ever witnessed at that fistic emporium, Philadelphia Joe Welling, after fighting at a disadvantage for three seasons, came out in the fifth frame and dropped Gus Franchetti for the count of six and carried the rest of the round honors with ease. The fifth, however, found Welling straying and in that and the sixth stanza the honors were even.

Welling staged another offensive in the second round that was so good that Franchetti considerably and forced him to clinch several times. Then, in the final frame, Welling again assumed the initiative and apparently landed his right and left hand punches that staggered and bewildered.

Welling's best blow was a straight left that landed Franchetti's nose. Welling's nose started bleeding in the sixth session. In a semi-windup, Tommy Loughlin is expected to meet Franchetti and Carl Herz shaded Jerry Hayes, Johnny Paxson, stopped Harry Kid Baker in the fifth session and Young Joe Braden outpointed Joe Kelly in six chapters.

Scraps About Scrappers

Young Tom Sharkey, who hit a six arm in a recent bout with Joe Jackson in a fight in which he was knocked out, was better than a return match with Jack Sam.

Dr. J. J. Shultz says his featherweight opponent, Joe Kelly, is a real job to pick the right men. However, these selections will stand. And according to P. W. Wannaker, a member of the Quaker City team, who once played with the Boston Arena, this is the line-up of Eddie Hills on the ice. It's SOME hockey team.

Jack White announces that he has taken Dr. H. H. to the management and will be willing to beat him against any wrestler, weight in and out, in the Philadelphia arena. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

Johnnie Burns has matched Eddie Rowles for a fight on Friday night. In the semi-windup, Carl Herz shaded Jerry Hayes, Johnny Paxson, stopped Harry Kid Baker in the fifth session and Young Joe Braden outpointed Joe Kelly in six chapters.

Martin Jander, the Manayunk featherweight, has been named as the manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

Johnnie Griffiths and Lou H. cash will fight the wind-up at the Olympia next Monday night. George Russell has been named as the manager of the Penn. team for the coming year. He has been in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

Benny Leonard will be in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years. R. O. Al Miller, who is being handled by Joe Strass, will be in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

Another wrestling match is on the card at the Olympia on Friday night. Billy Devine is expected to meet all comers in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

HARVARD TO PLAY PENN HOCKEY TEAM

Crimson Chief Writes Manager Rynick That He Favors Game With Quakers

Less than a month ago Harvard earned the disfavor of many Penn football fans when the Crimson officials announced the meeting of ice hockey leaders in New York that there was no room for Penn on the Harvard ice hockey schedule. Harvard assigned as the reason that only two games will be played away from Boston and both against Yale and Princeton at the Philadelphia Ice Palace.

Yesterday Manager Rynick, of the Penn team, announced that he had received a letter from Philip Hofer, manager of the Harvard team, in which it was stated that a game with Penn would be favorable. But Manager Hofer stated that they would send only their second team against Penn. This letter was written before Penn's game against St. Nicholas.

Walker, last year's Harvard captain, played part of the game for St. Nicholas against Penn. After the contest he expressed surprise at the showing made by the latter. "This Penn team has much promise," said Walker. "They have at least three good men in Murray, Fringe and Kearns. All they need is a good defense man and a better goalkeeper. Orton has a good team."

Without this information is relayed to Manager Hofer he will change his mind about sending a second team against Penn. "If Penn beats Princeton on Friday night," said Manager Rynick, "I believe they will have the support of the students. Many believe we are losing in hockey. But they soon will learn that we are big leaguers."

Iceicles

Norval Bonnie, world's ice skating speed king, will be in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

The Wanderers' Club Philadelphia's greatest ice skating rink will be in the Red and Blue for several years and has been a member of the team for a number of years.

The Curtis Country Club will have a night of the Ice Palace Monday evening January 11. In addition to the Big Baroque Show Armas Laitinen THE FINN.
