VANITY FAIR

From the portrait of George Bernard Shaw, immersed in sardonic calm on the frontispiece, to the prose-poems about motors and derby hats in the advertising section—this issue of Vanity Fair is amusing, decorative and extraordinarily well-informed. And, not only this issue, but every issue of Vanity Fair will keep you au courant with every movement in Art and Letters, every outstanding figure in the drama, in opera, or on the screen. For, as most men know, besides its other unusual qualities, Vanity Fair is a remarkably useful magazine.

IN THIS ISSUE

HEYWOOD BROWN, Walter Lippman, H.
L. Mencken, Floyd Dell, St. John Ervine and Hugh Walpole contribute unusual articles, reviews and appreciations. Full page portraits of Cecile Sorel, Marilyn Miller and other celebrities of the stage and screen. A page of famous Greenwich Villagers, three pages of satirical drawings, and variegated pages of sketches, photographs and comment on Art, Literature, the Theatre and the World-at-Large.

The "HOT WAVE" is small in size and compact—the whole apparatus would almost go into a steamer trunk.

—Regenerating at Zero, Economizing at all Temperatures

The "HOT WAVE" method means you get all the heat for which you pay. The "HOT WAVE" literally does your "heat thinking" more methodically than you could ever hope to do it yourself. It is practically human in all kinds of weather, as it automatically brings the Regen-erating feature into play when it is coldest and most needed, though it never burns more fuel than is accounted for in terms of heat.

When the weather is mild, fuel consumption is reduced to a minimum because the "HOT WAVE" is always ready to automatically bend to the will of temperature changes.

In every way the "HOT WAVE" is the modern and most efficient source of heat supply for hot water, steam or vapor heating systems and may be quickly installed without disturbing your present system or radiation.

To visit our display offices and see a demonstration would be advisable and without obligation.

The "HOT WAVE" is small in size and compact—the whole apparatus would almost go into a steamer trunk.

The "HOT WAVE" means an extra room in the house, for the cellar is devoid of coal bins, wood piles, dangerous oil tanks or other mess and fuss.
