Letters to the Editor

The People and Amendments

Letters to the Editor should be as brief and to the point as possible, avoiding anything that would open a denominational or sectarian discussion. No attention will be paid to anonymous letters. Names and addresses must be signed as an evidence of good faith, although names will not be printed unless the request is made that they be omitted. The publication of a letter is not to be taken as an endorsement of its views by this paper. Communications will not be returned unless accompanied by return address, nor will manuscript be saved.

Wants "Lean Hard"

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Can some one furnish the words of a poem entitled "Lean Hard," which contains the following: "I know thy burden, child, I shaped it. Poised it in mine own hand. And as I look on it, I said: 'I shall be ever near. And while she leans on me This burden shall be mine, not hers.'" Philadelphia, March 1, 1921.

Asks for Whittier Poem

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Will you kindly print for me in the People's Forum the poem entitled "Still Sit the Schoolhouse by the Road?" It is written by Longfellow. G. W. C. Jr. Philadelphia, February 24, 1921.

The Form of the Poem

Mrs. W. L. Carruth asks for a poem which contains these lines: "The size of the sun for pardon. The song of the birds for mirth. One is nearer God's heart in a garden. Than any place else on earth."

Isaiah Butterworth

Miss Josephine M. Dutterworth, Millville, N. J., asks for the words of the song "Just for the Sake of Society."

Isaiah Butterworth

"S. L. E." asks for the old poem entitled "The Dead Child's Ford," which starts: "Dear mother, here's the very place Where little John was found: 'Hark! to me, brother, harken, I have something to tell you.' His feet were on the ground."

Isaiah Butterworth

"D. L. G." asks for a little poem containing the following lines: "Build a little fence of trust 'round about today."

Grace Crater

Grace Crater, Hummelstown, Pa., asks for two songs—'Humble, Barney Boy,' and 'Let the Best of the World Go By.' Can a reader supply them?

The People's Forum

The People's Forum will appear daily in the Sunday Public Ledger. Letters should be sent to the editor of the People's Forum, 1120 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa., and should be accompanied by return address, as well as requested poems, and questions of general interest will be answered.

And the town you needn't name it!

And the town you needn't name it! You could find it in the dark. REFRAIN While the River Shannon's flowing, And it sings its Irish song. It stops for just a moment, As in dreams I always roam. At the town where I belong. Just to tell my dear old mother, Of the freedom that's my heart. For herself and my own home town in Ireland.

I've been drifting from the Shannon years and years; I have had my share of sorrows, joys and tears; But in my dreams I'm happy, For in dreams I always roam. On the banks of that old river, And while she leans on me This burden shall be mine, not hers."

Will It End in Gas?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Will it end in better gas, or will it merely end in gas? That is the question that is on our minds when we read of the proposed gas rate increase. The gas companies have been complaining in various ways against the public service commission. There is no doubt that gas and the gas rate is a hot issue. The gas companies are not only complaining about the situation and the rate, but they are also trying to get the rate increased. The gas companies are not only complaining about the situation and the rate, but they are also trying to get the rate increased.

New York State Bonus

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Please tell me through your People's Forum column if the state of New York has granted a bonus to its ex-service men, and if so, what are the conditions of the bonus? Albany, N. Y., for particulars. New York passed a bonus bill giving to each man in the service of the state, for the time he served, if the total does not exceed $250.

Your Query Too Indefinite

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am a reader of the morning and evening papers, and I have read with interest a report of a regiment of soldiers camped in the Cumberland valley opposite Harrisburg. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war.

American Flag the Oldest

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The design of the United States flag, with thirteen stripes, representing the thirteen original colonies, and stars, representing the Union, is the oldest national flag, at least of any of the leading European nations. It was first adopted in 1777. The flag of the present flag of Great Britain was adopted in 1801. This flag is composite, dating from the cross of St. Andrew, adopted when King James came to the throne, and the cross of St. Patrick, which was added in 1801. The flag of Spain was adopted in 1785; that of France, the tricolor, red, white and blue, in 1794; that of Portugal, in 1820; and that of the German empire in 1881, and that of Italy in 1848.

To Secure Foreign Domestic

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—How can one secure a domestic servant from the numerous ones who arrive in America from the old country? V. L. E. Philadelphia, February 26, 1921.

The Jail of a Magistrate

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The jail of a magistrate in Philadelphia is something unusual. In fact, it is so unusual that I see any man with a sort of political pull who is not able to get out of the jail. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war.

Not at Dance Halls

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I want to say to "Merry Bells" that when I did not find the type of fellow that I was looking for, I went to the dance hall, as in my opinion, the great cause of mischief in the dance hall. W. L. R. Philadelphia, March 8, 1921.

The Nagging Wife

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I have read with interest a letter from a husband who complains that he is being nagged by his wife. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war. I am sure that you will be glad to hear of the progress of the war.

Solves Two Problems

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—in answer to problems submitted by J. B. Ferrer, Jr., kindly print the following: "The first problem: A frog was at the bottom of a well on the 1st of February, 1921, and he wanted to get out. He came up three feet every day, but fell back two feet every night. The well was thirty feet deep. On what day will he get out?"
