

AS A SCOT. The Prince of Wales with other members of the Royal family was at the Braemar gathering.

ENGINE TANGLED WITH BRIDGE. One trainman was killed and many passengers were injured when a Pennsylvania Railroad train, bound for Indianapolis, went into the Blue River, at Edinburg, Indiana. Jumping the track, the train wrecked the bridge.

DEVOTEES OF OUTDOOR SPORTS. Two well-known society folk who enjoy tennis and golf. Both play well. They are Miss Josephine Wayne, of Chestnut Hill (at the left), and Miss Mary Primrose Reeves.

AT ZR-2 MEMORIAL SERVICES. Mrs. Pritchard, wife of one of the American victims in the aircraft disaster, arrives with her two children, at Westminster Abbey, London.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING. The Rev. and Mrs. C. F. C. Suckow, of 2223 East Susquehanna ave. The Rev. Mr. Steinfuehrer (center), who married them, was a guest.

AFTER THE BALL. An interesting moment during the polo match between the Army first team, of Washington, and the Philadelphia Country Club four, at Bala. The soldiers won the match.

C. H. RUDOLPH, who provides entertainment at the Arms Conference.

SOME APPLES—ON A STICK, TOO. Pearl Smith, Catherine McCafferty, Ellen Cransey and May Schroder, were among those present, when the photographer visited the annual fair at Allentown.

A. M. INGLIS. He is here with the visiting Canadian cricket team.

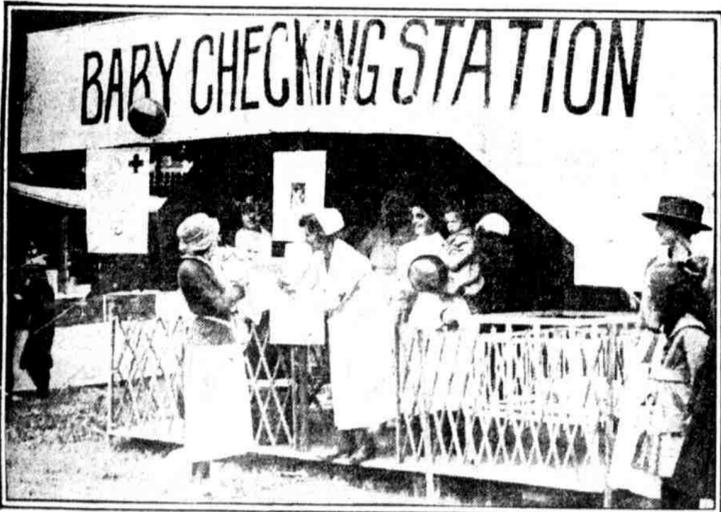

ON FIFTH AVE., N. Y. Mrs. G. Gould.

WITNESS IN ARBUCKLE CASE. Miss Clark, considered important witness, in death of Miss Rappe.

NOT A TOY SHOP. Just a few of the mascots presented to Sir Ernest Shackleton at the start of his 30,000-mile voyage of adventure and discovery to the South Sea territory.

CHECK YOUR BABIES. The Red Cross folk of Allentown used this novel business scheme to get funds for the work in that section. It was a new feature at the Allentown Fair.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

BUILDING BOOKS. Anna Collins, 1839 Gladstone street; Dorothy Jones, 616 East Belgrade street; and Augusta Mackie, 1705 North Marshall street, inserting missing pages in school books, which are rebound at the plant of the Universal Publishing syndicate, 1512 N. Thirteenth St.

ELIZABETH FLEKENSTEIN, Madeline Ruff and Isabelle Henderson, hiking to Dayton, O., from New York, to visit their former gymnasium instructor.

G. F. DOOLEY, West Collingswood, N. J., has handled mail four years. He serves the Witherspoon Bldg.

THEY'LL BATTLE FOR NORTHEAST. Slimmer (left) and R. Lukens, captain of the football team. They will represent the high school of the Kensington section on the gridiron this season.

Slimmer (left) and R. Lukens, captain of the football team. They will represent the high school of the Kensington section on the gridiron this season.