

SEES FRANKFORD 'L' RUNNING BY JUNE

City to Push Work With Idea of Independent Operation, Says Twining

P. R. T. STILL HAS CHANCE

The first train on the Frankford elevated probably will roll out of the Bridge street terminal in May or June of next year, thus realizing the dream of high-speed transit that the Northeast has been tantalized with for years.

Transit Director Twining stated today that independent operation of the city-built line probably will begin next summer. Negotiations with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for the operation of the "L" are denuded and Mayor Moore is determined that the cars shall run anyhow.

The Mayor announced the policy of independent operation yesterday at the last of a series of conferences that has been continued for months. The P. R. T. Company, offered the opportunity to operate the line, wants the city to guarantee it against all revenue loss that may come from diverted traffic.

The close of the negotiations, Mr. Twining said today, will have no effect on the "L" construction program. The work is being pushed. Fifty cars will be ready by January, and by May or June the sub-stations for transforming power and the repair shops at Bridge street will be prepared for actual operation.

The director would not discuss the fare question in connection with the Frankford elevated. That question would be taken care of at the proper time, he said. The Mayor will confer today with Director Twining and the transit department engineers on plans for independent operation.

While negotiations have ended, the door has been left open for the P. R. T. Company in the event it should change its attitude. At the conference yesterday, Coleman J. Joyce, counsel for the company, stated that the P. R. T. is willing to continue negotiations. The latest position of P. R. T. in the matter was given the Mayor by T. E. Mitten, in a letter, in part as follows:

"In order that P. R. T.'s position in the matter of the Frankford 'L' operation may be clearly before you at the meeting called at your office this day, I submit the following:

"Frankford 'L' operated as a part of Market street 'L' system, with similar transfer privileges and with a single fare from Bridge street, Frankford, to Sixty-ninth street, West Philadelphia, will carry about 35,000,000 passengers per annum, and, after paying rental for proportionate use of Market street subway terminal, will earn about $500,000 over cost of operation. Frankford 'L', so operated, would build up the district, carry more people each year and so increase the annual net earnings applicable to return on city investment.

"P. R. T. in thus operating Frankford 'L' as a part of its Market street system with seven-cent cash, four tickets for twenty-five cents, fare would suffer a net loss by diversion of about $800,000 per annum, as agreed by city and company engineers. Three ways of meeting the situation present themselves:

"a. If P. R. T. operated Frankford 'L' as a part of its Market street system and pay 5 per cent per annum on city's investment, say $800,000, we must add thereto the $800,000 of diversion loss, making $1,700,000 in all, against which may be credited about $350,000 per annum rental of Market street subway, charged to operating expenses of Frankford 'L'. This would leave $1,350,000 per annum to be secured to P. R. T. so as to avoid loss. From this may be deducted the sum of $300,000 net income, which is earned by Frankford 'L', leaving to be obtained unrecovered proposals for reimbursement of the company.

ROOSEVELT DAY OBSERVED HERE

City Pays Honor to Memory of Twenty-sixth President of Country

EXERCISES IN SCHOOLS

Theodore Roosevelt, had he lived, would have been sixty-three years old today, and the anniversary of his birth is being observed throughout the city.

In the public schools special exercises and talks by the teachers upon the life and works of the twenty-sixth President of the United States and his career as soldier and statesman are being held. Municipal observance, called for by the Mayor, at the suggestion of a special committee appointed by him, consist not in a specific meeting or in specific exercises, but in a city-wide show of bunting and of the American flag. The colors are displayed on all public buildings, as an example to householders, merchants and others.

On Sunday, if the Mayor's request is heeded, many clergymen will make some observance in their churches, or in their Sunday school programs, of the anniversary of Roosevelt's birth.

Mayor Moore made an address to students of the Swarthmore Preparatory School today at exercises in honor of Theodore Roosevelt.

The keynote of the Mayor's address was the phrase: "Don't foul, hit the line hard," once used by Roosevelt in an address here before the Central High School.

There is a stronger reason now than ever for playing the game of life fairly. Mr. Moore said, because of the unsettled condition of the world. One of the big mistakes of the day, he stated, is the desire to obtain money without work.

Brigadier General Joseph R. C. Ward will address the members of General Littleton W. T. Waller Garrison, No. 164, Army and Navy Union, U. S. A., tonight, at their headquarters, Eighth street and Montgomery avenue, on the life and service of Roosevelt.

Delaware County Celebrates
In Bywood, Highland Park, Lansdowne, and Upper Darby the residents of the boroughs and townships today placed flags at half staff in honor of the memory of Roosevelt. On placards sent broadcast the following was written:

"We do honor to Theodore Roosevelt. There are many reasons, but the principal one is that he was straight and fearless. He did what was right no matter how it might interfere or retard his ambition. He put self in the background and thus he made himself great. As never before America needs men and women of the type and fiber of Roosevelt. Let his words inspire us today."

DELEGATIONS VISIT OYSTER BAY GRAVE

New York, Oct. 27.—(By A. P.)—Civic, memorial and social organizations throughout the country joined today in celebrating the sixty-third anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birth.

A series of ceremonies was held here and at Oyster Bay, the Long Island village where the former President spent the last years of his life. The program at Oyster Bay included pilgrimages to Roosevelt's grave by delegations of Spanish and World War veterans, Boy Scouts and school children of the village.

Large, who were chosen to lay a wreath on Roosevelt's grave.

The children also took part in exercises at the village school, where Roosevelt had played the part of Santa Claus at many a Christmas celebration. Representatives of several foreign Governments journeyed to Oyster Bay to visit the Roosevelt burial plot.

In New York the program began with a birthday pageant at Carnegie Hall, participated in by several hundred high school girls. In the afternoon trustees of the Roosevelt Memorial Association met to discuss plans for erecting a monument to Roosevelt at Washington and constructing a memorial park in Oyster Bay.

The climax of the day will be reached at a dinner for Boy Scouts, at which Postmaster General Hays, Earl Beatty, Admiral of the British fleet, and William Boyce Thompson, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, will speak.

DICKENS FELLOWSHIP MEETS

Recitations Please Audience at Musical Arts Club

The first fall meeting of the Philadelphia branch of the Dickens Fellowship was held last night at the Musical Arts Club, 1811 Hanstead street. Two recitations by Charles Porter Melcher, one from "Pickwick" and another from "David Copperfield" were exceptionally well done and evoked much laughter and amusement.

Thomas K. Ober, Jr., who presided, read a paper, entitled "Some Characteristics of Dickens." Other readings were by Mrs. George F. Dobbin and Mrs. John Van Miller.

IMPERISHABLE RAG PAPER

MODERN newspapers in the New York Public Library are preserved by means of a tissue paper envelope for each leaf. The wood pulp paper makes them highly perishable.

Newspapers of sixty years ago or more cause no trouble. They are as good now as when first printed. Even newspapers were printed on all-rag papers in those days. Not even a tissue paper envelope will enable the wood pulp newspaper to last as long as the all-rag newspapers.

STEINWAY PIANOS

Pricetags and Pianos

The excellence of any Steinway can not be paralleled—musically or mechanically—outside the Steinway factories; but ink and type have made inferior pianos sell more than Steinways—and the same instrumentalities have raised the price of even poorer pianos to double, or more, the figure for which they should fairly sell. Years ago, other piano producers, altogether despairing of approach to Steinway quality, had become reconciled to their proper sphere in the musical world; but later developments in economic conditions have opened the way for a new line of competition—that of the pricetag, even more unjust to the buyer than a bald claim of superiority. Read pricetags in the light of proven quality, and you will buy a Steinway.
