

Two Women Passed Away in Pilot's Arms; Man and Wife Leaped Overboard

SURVIVOR MAY NOT LIVE

Miami, Fla., March 25.—All five passengers of the flying boat Miss Miami drowned, according to the story told, between intervals of delirium, by its pilot, who was picked up last night by the steamship William Green.

The pilot, Robert Moore, was found roped to the overturned craft fifty miles at sea and 100 miles north of this port, more than fifty hours after a broken propeller forced him and his wife to leap overboard. The flying boat was seen Wednesday morning from this port to the Island of Bimini in the British Bahama's, ordinarily a trip by air of only 45 minutes.

Women Die in His Arms

According to the disconnected story which the exhausted pilot told during intervals when he was rational, two women died in his arms from exhaustion, two of the passengers became panic-stricken and jumped overboard to their deaths and the remaining male passenger finally slipped quietly into the watery grave Friday morning as a result of sheer exhaustion.

Last Passenger Drowns

After seven and a half hours, the two women died in the arms of the pilot and he gently lowered his body into the water, which had now claimed four passengers.

MRS. WARBURTON FAVORS PINCHOT

His Nomination for Governor Is Easiest Road to Harmony, She Says

Gifford Pinchot's campaign for the Republican nomination for Governor took a decided spurt today because of the endorsement of his candidacy given by Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Mrs. Warburton's endorsement came at the psychological moment, when leaders and would-be leaders were milling about trying to establish a sort of harmony that would select the man each boomer advocated.

WHERE BANDITS MADE LAST STAND IN BATTLE

More than fifteen patrolmen and postoffice agents engaged in a pitched battle with three burglars early this morning along the streets of the city. The battle scene pictured is at Forty-fifth street and Woodland avenue. The burglars used a pile of lumber as a barricade. More than 200 shots were exchanged, during which a postoffice employe and a bandit were shot down. Two of the bandits escaped, but left a trail of blood.

IRISH CONFERENCE SET FOR TUESDAY

Griffith and Duggan to Represent Sent Dall Eireann at London Parley

CRAIG MAY ALSO ATTEND

By the Associated Press

London, March 25.—The Colonial Office received notification today that Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, and James Duggan, secretary of the Home Affairs, will represent the Irish at a conference on the critical situation.

Should the Ulster Government accept the invitation, it is expected a conference will meet Tuesday.

The London newspaper comment at length on the situation, especially expressing horror at the death of the family of Owen MacMahon, a term the tragedy the worst massacre in Ireland since Dublin gunners murdered fourteen British officers there.

The Daily Sketch attributes to General Sir Nevill MacRedden, military commander of Ireland, the criticism that the Ulster Government is not competent to exercise absolute control.

The Times makes an earnest appeal to the leaders of the Ulster Government to "make the supreme effort to save their country in any case as any she has passed through all her troubled centuries." It adds that the Ulster Government should be prepared to meet the lengthening list of baronous outrages which have disgraced the North and South alike in the last three years.

Belfast, March 25.—(By A. P.) Premier Sir James Craig today sent a telegram from Windsor to Secretary of State for the Colonies, inviting him to visit London. The Premier replied that a wage would receive earnest consideration and a further reply would be made.

The Ulster Cabinet has been summoned to meet Monday for other business, and it is understood Secretary Churchill's invitation will be considered at that time.
