REFERENTIAL VOTE

First Time in Its History This Method Used in Elections

MAKE APPEAL FOR $25,000

For the first time in its history the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania will elect candidates to its national convention by preferential ballot.

This was decided on today at the 125th convention of the diocese, which opened at Holy Trinity Church, Fifteenth and Walnut streets.

At the opening of the convention an appeal for $25,000 was made for establishment of a non-denominational community house at Morrisville, Pa.

Another important question before the convention is that of proportionate representation. This the convention of 1921 referred to another special commission.

It is proposed that each church may send one lay deputy to the convention, and that additional deputies be chosen according to the respective strength of the churches as regard communicants.

Arrangements have been completed for a missionary mass-meeting tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Holy Trinity Church, to which the public has been invited, and at which the speakers will include the Rev. Dr. Carroll M. Davis, New York, representing the Department of Missions of the whole Church, and the Rev. S. V. Holcomb, rector of St. Mark's Church, Honeybrook.

Police Withhold Facts and Arrests in Sunday Night Hold-Up

Charged with holding up and robbing three men at the points of revolvers during the morning by Magistrate Costello in the Paul and Ryan streets post office.

The hold-up occurred Sunday night, but the facts were not made known by the police until today. The suspects held are William Fine, of 4148 Salem street; William Cinqua, of 4168 Salem street; and Frank and Pasquale Pelligo, of 1527 Adams street.

Although they were robbed Sunday, none of the men robbed have been able to estimate their loss, although all admitted that considerable money and jewelry had been taken.

According to the police, the hold-up occurred at Adams and Ryan streets. The arrests of the alleged hold-up men were made in their homes on Sunday and they were taken at once to the station house, where they were kept incommunicado until the hearing.

Investigate Germantown Crash

Police of the Germantown station are investigating the collision of two automobiles at Keyser and Mannheim streets at noon today, when the driver of one machine, which was badly wrecked, jumped out and ran after the collision. The other car, which was slightly damaged, sped away as soon as it became untangled from the smash-up. Police believe both cars were stolen. They took charge of the damaged car.

Miss Anna Jeffrey Takes Charge of Home for the S. P. C. C.

MISS ANNA JEFFREY

Miss Anna Jeffrey, for twenty-one years superintendent of St. Christopher's Children's Hospital, has assumed charge of the temporary home of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 419 South Fifteenth street.

Her institution, in the midst of the enthusiastic reception from her new associates, consisted of a tour through the rooms of the building, where children who had been brought in from the court and the streets are finding pleasant shelter.

As Miss Jeffrey crossed the threshold of the roof, which is fixed as a playground for the children, the caretaker turned to greet her. Simultaneously, and in an instant a roguish youngster in wee overalls had shambled up the high wire fencing which incloses the roof and had swung over it to a small pipe, on which he balanced his right foot.

The feat could have aroused terror or inspired marvel.

Miss Jeffrey's kindly, motherly face did not reveal what she felt.

But without any disturbance she had the youngster back in her arms. And after a few words from her he spontaneously stated his ultimatum that "he wanted to be allowed to stay with her rather than on the other side of the fence."

"We'll have to see that you get plenty of chance for climbing," she said to the embryo circus performer, who is being cared for at the house until his mother be approved as a fit guardian for him.

That is Miss Jeffrey's conception of Social Service happiness. She believes that happiness is the only "agency" through which right thinking and right acting can be introduced into the lives of young unfortunates who have not known of them.

"Oh, won't we have good times here at our holiday and birthday parties!" she said, with almost schoolgirl enthusiasm.

Her most recent "cruelty" case was of a six-year-old girl, who had been so beaten and bruised and starved by her stepmother that during her first days at the hospital she would get up at night and steal any food of any description, including orange peelings, which she could find near her. Through proper care and nourishment she has been restored to a normal condition, and placed in a country home.

Meaning a commission on admission of women has been making an exhaustive study of the question. Their report has already been submitted to the officers of the convention.

The Rev. George C. Bartlett, dean of the Philadelphia Diocese School, the Rev. Dr. George L. Richardson, vicar of the Pro-Cathedral; Rev. Wood R. Stewart, rector of St. Martin-in-the-Fields; E. H. Bonnell, Franklin Spencer, Edmondson, William H. Reeves, Mrs. J. V. Herrick and Mrs. Charles R. Dancoast were the commission.

Another important question before the convention is that of proportionate representation. This the convention of 1921 referred to another special commission. It is proposed that each church may send one lay deputy to the convention, and that additional deputies be chosen according to the respective strength of the churches as regard communicants.

HOSPITAL CHILDREN EAGER FOR CIRCUS

Sells-Floto Acts Arranged for by Evening Public Ledger Go on Tomorrow

KIDDIES "CAN'T WAIT"

The best things in life, said some wiseacres, are those that are just around the corner; the things that are close but that we cannot guess.

If what is to happen tomorrow "is just around the corner," then there is much in store for the little patients at the Children's Homeopathic Hospital, Franklin and Thompson streets.

Tomorrow six of the best acts of the Sells-Floto Circus will visit the hospital through arrangements made with the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

The acts are the Fanny Josephs, clowns as you may suppose; Nell McMahon, a tumbler and contortionist; the Monsters, who play on musical bells; the Riders, who are strong like men in the magazines; Billy Sunday, the performing elephant; Go-go, the trick mule, and the world's greatest clown rider, Poodles Hanneford.

The riding Hanneford, Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, monkey jockeys, acrobatic and juggling stunts, combined to make the official bow of the Sells-Floto circus a success here yesterday.

There was action a-plenty all the way. From the time of the parade to the finish of the horse races, youngsters and old folks who became young again, were on their feet.

The Hanneford, six in number, were easily the favorites with the audience. The trapeze act of the Nelson family, various animal stunts and elephant pranks, were especially clever.

Afternoon and evening performances were largely attended.

The Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, which had not been in this city for several years, was given after the regular performance, showing Indians, the nature of an old stage coach and the lassoing of wild horses.

YOU CAN'T ECONOMIZE BY WEARING ONE SUIT CONTINUOUSLY

You may not know it, but suits, like people, get tired. If you keep them in service day in and day out, they lay down on the job. The thing to do, for maximum service and economy, is to alternate wearing two or more suits—give them a chance to rest and revive.

What's more, you'll find yourself feeling better dressed if you do—something about the change that makes you feel better yourself.

We constantly present a wide assortment of new ideas, and this makes it easy to choose two or more suits—we'd like to show them to you. Priced $30 and upward—the values at $40, $45 and $50 are those which we especially stress.
