By CORINNE LOWE

In the sonata of style we might refer to the skirt's capriciousness. All sorts of new skirts are being tried out at present.

This contrast of front folds with side and back plainness is particularly well illustrated by a late model from Jenny where the godets are further emphasized by the fact that the front is made longer than the other sections.

Today we show groups of plaits in white chiffon, varied by bands of old blue crepe de chine, in a skirt terminated by a deep grille of black and white checked ribbon.

to make iceless refrigerator have four strips of wood so fixed that they can be driven in the ground, about six inches and three feet high.

Dear Mrs. Wilson—Will you please give me a recipe for tutti frutti? If you will tell me just what kind of a tutti frutti you desire, I will be glad to furnish you with recipe.
