Nancy Wynne Tells of Two Parties This Evening for the School Set—She Talks About the Savoy-Yeatman Wedding and the Engagement of Roseweil Josephs

The school set will have a very good time tonight, for there are two parties scheduled, one given by the Paul Mills for his daughter, Frances, at their country home, and the other at the Morton Cricket Club by given at the Triangle Club. That, by the way, is not the Princeton Club, but a younger fraternity, which, I understand, are using up their funds for the dance.

THE Mills live at Woodcrest Lodge, 1st. David, one of the show places of the Main Line. Mrs. Mills was Miss Ellen Drexel Paul, a daughter of the late James W. Paul and his wife, who was formerly Miss Drexel, sister of Alexander Van Rensselaer and the first Mrs. Edward Hiddle. I saw Mrs. Mills in town recently looking extremely smart. Her frock, crushed, ruffled, lined, made on straight lines, and with the new longer skirt, just about six inches from the ground. Her hat was of the same material, crushed, and I think, though I only saw her for a glance, it had a rather wide brim, which drooped at the sides, and the whole effect was lovely. Mrs. Mills is a sister of Mrs. Charlie Mann, you know.

DID you hear that the engagement of Devereux Josephs' brother, Rosewell Josephs, to Frances Sheffield, of New York, daughter of Mrs. William Paine Sheffield, was announced a couple of nights ago in New York and I suppose at Peggy's wedding in Newport on Monday? Devereux and Rosewell Josephs are Baltimoreans and spend their summers in Newport. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Colt Josephs.

ALTHOUGH summer is quite emphatically upon us, there is a good deal going on both in this city and New York. Yesterday there was Jane Yeatman and Ernest Savage's wedding. And, really, Jane looked so pretty and sweet, and cool, and fresh, and I forgot it was so hot, but only for the moment, I assure you, as, personally, I thought yesterday was about the hottest day I felt for a number of days. As for the bridesmaids' frocks and hats, I never saw anything so cool and dainty. The frocks were of pale green chiffon and the hats of white horsehair. The bridesmaids' frocks and hats, and the bridesmaids had pale pink sprays of flowers on their heads. It was a sensible idea to have the ceremony at 10 o'clock, as even with daylight saving time it begins to be cooler by then.

AN INTERESTING New York wedding took place today at the home of Elizabeth Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Marsh, to be married to Paul Hope, who is the son of Mrs. Frank K. Miller, of Haverford, by her first marriage. The wedding will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh at 727 Park avenue, New York. Mr. Miller, Paul's stepfather, is to be his best man.

JOE was very interested in watching the new neighbors moving in, especially those here in the family about his own age. But on the third day after the moving, when the two young gentlemen had had time to become acquainted, Joe came into the house with a sentimental expression of countenance and, approaching his mother, said: "Well, I can't play with that boy. Why not, dear?" "You might just as well ask me," said the mother. "What did he say, I should like to know?" said mother. "Well," said Joe, "he said, 'I don't want to play with you.'" NANCY WYNNE.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES
An autumn wedding of great interest will be that of Miss Albert Hancock Reath, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin H. Reath, of 111 Walnut street, and Mr. Harry Rosenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nelson, of Coolock St. and Day street, which will take place at noon on Wednesday, October 18, at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Tenth and Chestnut streets, and will be followed by a reception at the Ritz-Carlton. Mrs. Reath and her bride will make their trip to New York. Miss Reath will leave for New York on Friday, and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnall, of Crum Creek Farm, until she joins her mother at Northeast Harbor, Me., the middle of July.

An interesting debutante of the coming season will be Miss Marie Louise Baird, who will be introduced at a tea which her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matheu Baird, Jr., will give at their home, Grayson and Chestnut streets, on Monday, in the early fall. Miss Baird will leave on Monday for Glen Cove, L. I., where she will be the guest over Independence Day of Mr. and Mrs. Schenck.

Among the girls who left yesterday to spend the summer at Beaver Camp, East Union, Me., were Miss Mary E. Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Goodman, Jr.; Miss Sara Sellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tolbert N. Richardson; Miss Louise Strawbridge, daughter of Mr. John Strawbridge; Miss Mary N. St. John, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Lea; Miss Suzanne Webster, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Webster; Miss Patty Deneka, daughter of Mrs. Herman A. Deneka; Miss Caroline Hemak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Hemak; and Miss E. Martin George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. George, are those who will act as counselors at the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Stuart Ellsworth, of New York and Southampton, L. I., will give a dance this evening at the Shiloh Club in honor of their daughter, Miss Florence Ellsworth, whose marriage to Mr. John Howard will take place at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Southampton. There will be 150 guests. Among the bridesmaids who have gone to Southampton to attend the wedding of Miss Ellsworth are Miss McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. George McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Heckel, Mr. and Mrs. Wetherill, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Browning.

Mr. Joseph T. Ryerson, of Chicago, has come to this city to attend the wedding of Miss E. F. Curtis, of Pineshurst, and Mr. Day McMorris, of Chicago, which will take place in this city today.
