

he hopes to avoid any conflict with the British. In connection with the British attitude which is developing through the cabinet meetings, it seemed apparent that grave decisions were being taken. Several members of the cabinet, on leaving after the morning meeting, did not seem cheerful faces. Admiral Earl Beatty, chief of the Naval Staff; General the Earl of Cavan, chief of the Army Staff, and General D'Almeida, the air minister, representing the navy, land and air force, respectively, attended the meeting.

It is pointed out that those who declared that Kemal is bluffing are unaware of the deep distrust with which he regards all promises from whatever source, be it British, French, Italian, Russian, Soviet or Greek. It is a tradition in Turkish politics, based on long dealings with Europe, that nothing counts but treaties signed on actualities.

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.) The Turkish Nationalists have notified the allied high command that they will not tolerate the fortification of certain points in the so-called neutral zones along the Dardanelles. Constancy of the work of fortification will be looked upon by the Kemalists as warranting military action; their representative, Hamid Bey, informed the allied commander, Brigadier General Harrington.

The Turkish troop movements continue and yesterday for the fifth time they violated the neutral zone taking positions in the region of Bunkere, Lampaki, Yagujlar and Sankakli. Cavalry is advancing on Anzali-Trip apparently with the object of isolating the British advance posts at Kozluk and aid has been sent to the latter.

Despite these movements a communication from the Kemalists yesterday declared they would accept the neutrality of the Straits pending an armistice conference, and General Harrington has sent a message to Mustafa Kemal Pasha at Samsun urging an early meeting of the High Command and the allied high command.

The Greek battleship Asterios, the crew of which mutinied yesterday, is steaming for Piraeus through the Dardanelles and is in danger of being captured by the Kemalists who are in the hills on the Asiatic side. The allied naval authorities here are hoping that the mutiny will be crushed, as she is leaving Turkish waters at the request.

The Sultan's cabinet, the military government of Constantinople and the responsible law officers are taking measures to preserve order and safeguard life in the event of a Venizelov uprising.

The Marshal Pasha started the Sultan yesterday and remained with him an hour. They are believed to have discussed the encephalic question in light of the present situation.

An Angora official communication contains announcement of the nomination of a Kemalist governor for Chana Kalesi, from which it says the last 320 inhabitants were evacuated yesterday.

FRANCE STANDS PAT IN NEAR EAST CRISIS

Paris, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.)—France's policy in the Near East is laid down in the note sent to Kemal Pasha jointly with the other Allies has not been modified by the overtone in London which was announced after a cabinet meeting today.

The French Government is greatly concerned over the reported determination of the new Greek Government to defend Thessalonica, and it is believed, would be certain to react unfavorably on the Kemalists and the dispatch of Greek forces to Eastern Thrace would be a serious blow to the latter by a well-planned movement on the part of the Turks in Asia Minor and disturbances in Constantinople. The situation, it is thought, will have the effect of delaying the Greek reply to the allied note several weeks.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the French ambassador to the National Assembly, is reported to have Kemal's attitude toward the new law. He will use the entire influence of his Government to aid and assist the Nationalist leader in taking the National Assembly to Thessalonica, and the Greek Government is clearly established.

After his interview with the French Ambassador, Kemal is understood, will leave immediately for Angora, where the Nationalist Assembly will formally vote on the allied communications. This fear is expressed that if Greece insists on the evacuation of the Kemalists from Thessalonica the Assembly will refuse to accept the allied terms.

There was said today to be no intention of modifying the allied attitude toward Greece to meet the demands of Constantinople. The Allies will make the strongest efforts to have the Greeks retire from Eastern Thrace under the terms communicated to Kemal. Allied observers, however, think that a popular movement in Greece for the defense of Thessalonica could not be stopped by allied diplomatic pressure.

STERNE BRITISH STAND FORECAST

London, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.)—The abdication of King Constantine of Greece, making again possible an operation between Prime Minister Lloyd George and Dr. Premier Venizelos, may cause a lightning change in Great Britain's policy toward the Turks.

A possible new conjunction of these two former co-workers is the explanation of the studied attitude of pessimism which since yesterday has been radiating from No. 10 Downing street, where today much apprehension was expressed regarding possible warlike acts of the Turks in the vicinity of Chanak.

With Constantine out of the way it is claimed there will be once more a chance of recognizing the best forces of Greece. Venizelos, whose Greek Christian soldiers were the backbone of the army until Constantine replaced the officers with his own sympathizers, especially with generals, maintained and experienced a long career.

It is pointed out the present revolution in Greece are reported to be not only pro-Venizelist but pro-ally and further that they are men who have been heart and soul in the greater Greece. It is not believed that they will yield Thessalonica to the Turks without a struggle.

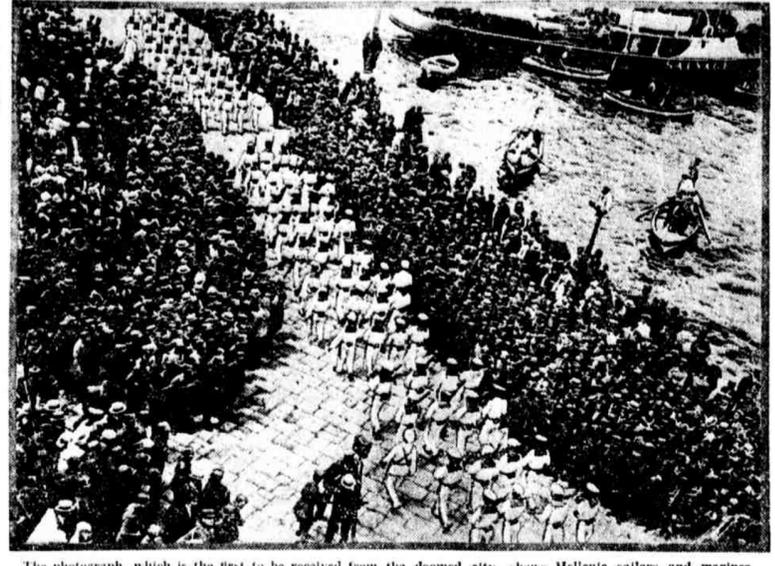

An entirely new phase of the whole Near East situation is being announced. It is reported that Mr. Lloyd George was reluctant to abandon the policy toward the Turks which had been pursued during the past year.

It was at a moment of pressure that he yielded to the French argument that the Turks be permitted to re-enter Europe, where they had long been as the Prime Minister pointed out in a recent statement, a troublesome factor.

GREEK NAVAL FORCES LEAVING SMYRNA

The photograph, which is the first to be received from the doomed city, shows Hellenic sailors and marines marching along the quay in retreat to their ships before the advance of the victorious Turkish army.

British and Turkish forces on the Dardanelles are preparing to fly at each other's throats if peace efforts fail. British forces are concentrated at Chanak and are supported by dreadnaughts in the Dardanelles. The Turks hold Kum Kalesi at the mouth of the Straits and have advanced forces both sides of Chanak, flanking the British.

VENIZELOS WOULD BE THOUGHT DEAD

Is Mainly Silent When Asked to Discuss Situation in Greece

EVAVES HIS QUESTIONERS

Paris, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.)—It will be considered as a dead end, the reply of Eleutherios Venizelos to a question as to the part he might play under the new government in Greece, says the Demille correspondent of the Paris Press. Forty-five other correspondents had telegraphed to the former Premier asking to be received, but he had not as yet had time to receive them.

M. Venizelos maintains the same impenetrable reserve even with his long-time friends. The first news of the Greek revolution was that Venizelos had fled to London, where he was at the time of the revolution. He was at the time of the revolution in London, where he was at the time of the revolution.

FOE'S ATTACKS HIT YERKES' CASH BOX

Business Men Call Meeting to Present Evidence Against "Fining Squire"

16 MOTORISTS BEFORE HIM

A mass of evidence tending to show that the methods of D. Martin Yerkes, "fining squire" of Millbourne, has seriously injured the business interests of Delaware County will be presented at a meeting of the Sixty-ninth and Market Street Business Association, according to Edward J. Bartlett, president of the Sixty-ninth and Market Street Association.

Mr. Bartlett said today the meeting would be held early next week. We are daily receiving additional proof that Yerkes' actions are detrimental to the interests of the community, said Mr. Bartlett. "I learned today of a case which shows that Yerkes is not only a lawbreaker but a lawbreaker who is a danger to the lives of children and to the lives of the community."

Attacks Both Yerkes and Sapp

A man was summoned before him for some violation of the automobile laws. The man proved that he had his car in storage at the time of the alleged offense. Yerkes asked him to make an affidavit to that effect and he did. But as this man was leaving, Yerkes asked to see his card. It developed that the card was not properly signed and for this the victim was fined $15.

Neither Yerkes nor his constable, Sapp, are the proper men to enforce laws regulating automobiles. Many persons are discouraged from coming out along the Westchester pike as a result of their actions.

There were five cases before Squire Yerkes today. A resident along West Chester pike said the slump was undoubtedly due to the placing of policemen at approaches to Millbourne who were authorized to have their license tags clean and lights glistening before they reach there.

Truck Driver Brought In

Among those who appeared today was Archie B. Stelopp, Forth and Market streets, driver of a laundry motor truck. He was brought in by Constable Sapp.

While zoning out the window of his car, Yerkes saw the truck go by. Turning to the constable he said: "There goes a guy we want, Sapp. Go get him."

Sapp ran out and informed the driver he was wanted.

Yerkes admitted today that he fined a man for having an unlicensed car. "That was a violation of the law," he said, "and did that as an object lesson. In New Jersey they fine motorists $25 for such an offense."

Sustained on Appeal, He Says

Yerkes admitted today that he fined a man for having an unlicensed car. "That was a violation of the law," he said, "and did that as an object lesson. In New Jersey they fine motorists $25 for such an offense."

Explosion Kills Entire Garrison

Lightning Wrecks Falconara Fort, Hundreds Are Wounded

Spezia, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.)—The entire naval garrison at Falconara Fort, near here on the Gulf of Genoa, is believed to have been killed in an explosion, caused by lightning which destroyed everything within a radius of 200 yards. There are many hundreds of wounded.

Seventy bodies have already been recovered in the debris. Fifteen hundred tons of explosives were stored in the deep tunnels of the fort.

The entire top of the hill on which it is located was completely blown away. The work of recovering additional dead is proceeding. No estimate has as yet been made of the number.

The wounded are being rushed to the hospitals here, all of which are already filled. Military forces have been assigned to the work of rescue. All parts of the province of Genoa have been mobilized by their chiefs to assist the soldiers.

The explosion occurred in a violent storm which damaged the crops and property of the inhabitants for large areas along the gulf. Half-crazed with terror from fire and storm, the despairing population is being relieved through governmental care.

FINLETTER ASKED TO CUT DRUG BAIL

Six Peddlers Held in $155,000 Appeal to Judge Who Released Annie Miller

GORDON FIGHTS REDUCTION

Judge Finletter will again be asked to order bail reductions in cases of six alleged leaders of the drug ring now under arrest here.

A similar appeal, taken recently by attorneys for Annie Miller, known as "queen of the drug ring," resulted in Judge Finletter reducing the woman's bail from $15,000 to $1000. She has since "jumped" her bail bond and a bench warrant has been issued for her arrest.

The District Attorney's office will make strong opposition to any further bail reductions.

Judge Finletter fixed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Room No. 206, City Hall for the hearing. The six in whose behalf habeas corpus writs were taken out are Hyman Gold, Joseph Negro, John P. Picoletti, Joseph Picoletti, Felix Cardullo, Joseph Pilla and Joseph Weiss. These are all charged with being big dealers in the dope traffic.

Would Invalidate Warrants

Counsel for the defendants are taking advantage of the Supreme Court order, which allows the defendants to take any proceedings in the lower court they deemed wise. They are taking this action in an effort to invalidate the bench warrants for their arrest, and also to have their bail reduced.

The four whom the Grand Jury indicted are Cardullo, Picoletti, Algro and Pilla, all charged with the unlawful possession and sale of drugs. Justices of the Supreme Court suggested that the proper course for them to follow was to have one or more Judges of the Court review the action of the District Attorney, who was sitting as a committing Magistrate at the time he fixed the bail in these cases.

Cardullo was fined $20,000 bail and Algro and Pilla were each fined $25,000 bail. Judge Monaghan last night went over the drug situation with Assistant District Attorney Gordon and Chief Narcotics Agent Forbes, and at the conclusion of the conference Mr. Gordon told the story that lay beneath the Commonwealth's objection at the time Judge Finletter reduced the bail of Annie Miller.

On Friday, September 15, after the Court had allowed the reduction, Annie Miller, whose true name is Murray, immediately obtained a bondsman and District Attorney Gordon predicted that the woman would flee, but Judge Finletter overruled that objection, holding that District Attorney's opinion was not a substantial reason for a refusal on his part of reduction in bail.

The following Wednesday, the day of her bail, neither Miller nor her attorney appeared. Later in the day her attorney promised to bring her into court and asked that forfeiture of bail be postponed to afford him that opportunity. But when Judge McDevitt heard Mr. Gordon express the opinion that the woman, true to his prediction, had fled, the jurisdiction refused the attorney's request and issued a bench warrant for Annie Miller's arrest.

Sixteen Addicts Plead Guilty

Nineteen prisoners, charged with being addicts and having narcotics in their possession, were brought before Judge McDevitt to plead today. There were nine women in the group. All but three pleaded guilty to being addicts, but not guilty to the possession charge. The others entered a plea of not guilty to both charges.

Those who pleaded guilty as drug addicts were: Nancy Boxer, Negro; George Creary, Negro; Edna Du Barry, Sydney Egoff, Margaret Fisher, Ernest Hoywood, Negro; Robert Johnson, Negro; John Williams, Negro; Susan Wilson, Negro; Anna Butler and Frank Hancock, Negro.

Wong Huen, a Chinese, Elizabeth Gates, Negro, and Charles Cumings pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Two men indicted yesterday, Sagio Dobra and Joseph Antalo, charged with the possession of drugs and conspiracy to traffic in them, asked for a continuance when their case came up before Judge McDevitt. The plea was on the score that important witnesses were in New York. A continuance was granted for a week.
