Nancy Wynne Talks of the Hunt Meet and Football Game Today—She Tells of the Dunn Tea on Tuesday and Other Happenings

I DO so hope it will remain clear all day today—there's a much doing in the way of outdoor hunts and football. And then family dinners are still kept up in this part of the country, you know, especially in this city.

THE J. Wilmer Biddle's dance was given at the Ritz-Carlton, and it was in honor of Mrs. Biddle's three daughters, Miss Elizabeth Gordon, Miss Virginia Gordon and Miss Virginia Biddle.

Lieutenant Commander J. Quitman Love and his wife, who was a Miss Gordon and a sister of Mrs. Biddle, were formerly Mrs. Gordon, came up from Baltimore to receive with Mrs. Biddle, and Dorothy Hazell, of Baltimore, who was formerly Mrs. Gordon, also received.

Mrs. Biddle looked stunning in a black velvet gown made with crystal trimmings. Miss Elizabeth Gordon wore a emerald green velvet gown made with a draped skirt, which was fastened at the side with an emerald ornament.

YOU know I had so much to say about the opening night of the opera yesterday, actually, I had to tell you about Katherine's tea, and it was really one of the prettiest of the season, I thought. Katherine, or "Kitty" as her friends call her, has a talent for the hostess which is so rare and there is a purity about the expression which is exquisite.

ELIZABETH had gone to grandma's for the night. She always loved going there, for, as she herself explained, "Grandma lets me stay up later." Well, the staying up later was over, and Elizabeth was about to be tucked into bed, when she felt the need of a drink of water.

H. G. WELLS A SHORT HISTORY OF THE WORLD This new book—a romance of world history—is not to be confused with THE OUTLINE OF HISTORY nor is it to be thought of as a condensation of this former work. It is an entirely new and different volume. In its simple and delightful style it represents the history of mankind as Mr. Wells wanted to write it—from the standpoint of man. Beautiful and remarkable are the illustrations beginning with a picture of luminous, spiral clouds, continuing through the photographs of early wall paintings, examples of Greek and Roman art, to the last one, a peaceful scene of an English garden with the inscription "Given wisdom, all mankind might live in such gardens." $4.00 For sale at all bookstores or from THE MACMILLAN COMPANY 64-66 Fifth Avenue New York
