BETTING REVIVAL ON RACES AN AID TO HORSE RAISERS

Klotz Declares Proposed Bill Would Stimulate Breeding of Thoroughbreds.

Passage of the bill pending in the legislature providing for the revival of the pari-mutuel machine system of betting at six day horse races at county and state fairs in Montana will bring a revival of breeding of thoroughbred horses that will put Montana among the foremost states in the raising of blooded horses, according to George S. Klotz of Butte, for 19 years racing secretary of the Montana State fair.

Horse Racing Stopped. Since the cessation of betting on races in 1914, breeding of purebred horses in Montana has virtually ceased, according to Mr. Klotz. Advocates of the bill hold that the stimulation of horse racing through the pari-mutuel system will result in the revival of blooded horse raising.

The revenue which will be derived by the fair from the percentage on the bets taken by the pari-mutuel machine is another feature which merits the passage of the bill, Mr. Klotz asserted, declaring also that betting greatly increases the attendance.

"At the end of the 1914 racing season, the last that betting on races was permitted, that state fair association had a surplus of $60,000 in its treasury," declared Mr. Klotz, "while at the end of the 1920 season the association was $20,000 behind, showing a loss of $80,000 for the six years since the cessation of racing bets.

Revenue Increased. "From the beginning of the racing in Montana in 1903 the revenue to the state fair association steadily increased as did the production of thoroughbred animals throughout the state. In 1904 the association handled $58,000 in bets on the 36 horses entered. In 1914, when 354 horses were entered, the association handled $455,000 in bets. The association's commission then was five per cent. The percentage has not been fixed for the proposed racing program."

Since the cessation of betting on races in 1914, breeding of purebred

RICKARD IS ALONE IN PROMOTING BIG FIGHT OF HEAVIES

Takes Over Interests of William A. Brady and Charles B. Cochrane.

New York, Jan. 31.—Tex Rickard will promote the Dempsey-Carpentier bout for the heavyweight championship of the world, alone. He made this announcement late Monday after a conference with William A. Brady and Charles B. Cochrane, of London, England, who are seriously ill.

Under the new agreement he will become responsible for the entire amount of the promoters' guarantee or forfeit, which totals $100,000.

There will be no change in the contract between the boxers and Rickard, except such as may be necessary by later developments. The date of the bout still remains Saturday, July 2, and the site of the contest any northwestern city, to be named by Rickard not later than March 1.

CANADIAN WOMEN OPPOSE MONTREAL AS FIGHT LOCATION

Montreal, Jan. 31.—Women's organizations here are vigorously protesting the attempt to have the Dempsey-Carpentier heavyweight boxing championship fight brought to Montreal.
