Hens Begin Work; One Pullet Lays 84 Eggs in 96 Days

The chickens are beginning to lay and eggs are getting cheaper. Mrs. Robert Evans of Norbert, whose hens are entered in an egg-laying contest that is being put on by the Farm Bureau of Cascade county, reports that during April one of her pullets laid 27 eggs. This pullet has a record of 84 eggs to her credit in 96 days.

The contest was begun last November 20, and will continue until November 21, 1921.

Mrs. Evans also has about 200 little chicks, the early ones averaging 1 1/2 pounds each. Two capons of her flock have also begun to mother the baby chicks.

STATE HISTORY WILL BE TOLD TO BOY SCOUTS

"Scout and Dad" Hike to Bonfire Feast Planned for Next Week End.

A talk on early Montana and the days of the Vigilantes by L. L. Callaway will be the feature of a Scout and Dad hike which will be taken on Saturday, May 14. The place of the talk at which a large campfire will be built will be designated later. Each troop will start from a different place and hike to the central point where the campfire will be built and there the fathers will feast on a meal cooked by their sons. Prepared lunches will be barred.

Callaway is Pioneer.

"Scouts are looking forward with interest to the lecture on the early history of Montana by Judge Callaway," said Scout Executive Graybill. "The early days of the state are known to the judge from experience, and his early life at Virginia City teemed with stirring incidents which will take the scouts back in imagination to the days they have heard a little of and they are planning on listening to an account of the life of early Montanans.

"The fathers will have an opportunity of proving their prowess in various lines to their scout sons. The scouts have often listened with interest to things that their fathers did in their youthful days and it will be up to the fathers to show that they were doing things that were based on facts and not merely creations of the imagination. Though many of the fathers will be bothered on the hike by an amount of superfluous punnage they will have to bear up under their burden to let the sons outdo them.

Sires to Talk.

"Scouts are likewise looking forward to the occasion with the hope of garnering some knowledge from their sires and it will be up to the fathers to brush up on their facts, which may have been familiar with in their roving days. The scouts know how to cut firewood and arrange it in the best possible manner, but they are open to conviction, and if the fathers have any suggestions to make the scouts will be 'all ears' in learning from the 'scouts for the occasion' where they are losing time or wasting tinder.

Boy Runs 5 Blocks; Steals Bike; Returns; All in Five Minutes

One of the grade schools in Great Falls has a 10 year old student whom the athletic management would do well to investigate as a bit of promising track material, according to the police. Five minutes before the conclusion of the noon recess Friday, he was in the yard of his school. Before the bell rang he ran 5 1/2 blocks to the Junior high school, stole a bicycle, rode it back and was in his seat without being marked tardy.

"There isn't the least doubt of the kid's performance," said Jailor Otto Bjornstad. "It is known that he was in his own school yard five minutes before the bell rang and that he checked in with the rest of the pupils at the end of the noon recess. It is also known that the bicycle was left at the Junior high school less than five minutes before the bell rang, so there is nothing to do but give the youngster credit for making the round trip of 11 blocks within that period.

The boy has a police record even more noteworthy than his sporting ability. When he was nine years old he ran away from home and was found a week later, apparently quite satisfied with the career of a vagabond. He had slept in the moving picture theatres, in vacant hotel rooms and the parks and had mooched his food where the opportunity offered. His face had not been washed since he left home, but he considered this no argument against his venture and ran away again at the first opportunity.

LIME IN WATER NOT ENOUGH, IS MORRIS' THEORY

New City Engineer to Investigate at City Filtration Plant This Morning.

Trouble with the city water that has caused pipes to be eaten out in different parts of the city can be corrected with a few minutes work, in the opinion of City Engineer M. L. Morris. Investigation will be made this (Saturday) morning at the water plant and if the engineer has correctly diagnosed the trouble in advance water of the old standard will be going into the mains immediately.

Water Now Is Healthful.

"If the trouble is what I think it is, not more than 30 minutes will be required to make the necessary correction," said Engineer Morris Friday. "I only arrived in Great Falls this afternoon and have made no investigation, but it seems quite probable that the source of the trouble will be found in an improper application of lime in the filtration process.

"I do not think the trouble is at all serious, and certainly there is no reason to think that the water now coming through the pipes is injurious to health. In the Great Falls plant sulphate of iron and lime are used in treating the water and the trouble suggested that not enough lime is being used to neutralize the iron. If the reaction does not take place at the plant, it does later in the iron pipes, and it is my opinion that this is the answer to the whole difficulty.

Proper Mixture to Be Sought.

"Trouble now being experienced in Great Falls frequently occurs where alum is used instead of iron and lime, but the same results obtain with the iron-lime mixture when the iron is not properly neutralized. An important thing to always remember where lime and iron are employed is that the relation of the two ingredients changes with the temperature of the water. If it is found that the lime lies in an improper mixture, I think that only close observation will be necessary to make a permanent correction."

Mr. Morris reached Great Falls Friday afternoon from Lewistown, where he was employed by the state highway commission prior to his appointment as city engineer.

F. C. A., Great Falls, Brings Letter to County Treasurer

Without knowing it, County Treasurer Fred C. Andretta has outwitted Ty Cobb for being a personage in his home halliwick. Everyone knows the story of how an admirer of the Georgia Peach once won a bet by sending him a letter with no other address on the envelope than the postoffice at 7 a necktie and a corncob, but the custodian of Cascade county's cash has received a letter claimed to be even more difficult to deliver.

A short time ago, Mr. Andretta wrote a query to the question box department of a publication, signing only his initials. The query roused the curiosity of a Seattle man, who evidently wrote his letter to the treasurer before he realized that he did not know his name. So he just wrote the address: "F. C. A., Great Falls, Mont.," and Mr. Andretta received the communication, without a mark on the envelope to indicate that the postoffice had entertained any doubt as to its destination.
